History begins

In 2016, Coinbase exchange was established under the name GDAX – a Bitcoin exchange under Coinbase. In May 2018, Coinbase exchange officially parted ways with GDAX to welcome a promising new potential in the international currency trading market, Coinbase Pro. However, after many surveys and developments in the technology platform, Coinbase was officially converted to a new, more modern platform, called Coinbase Pro.

Advantage

- Good security features, safe: Coinbase Pro exchange is rated as one of the safest digital currency trading platforms in the world. Coinbase is integrated with the advanced technology with 2FA security, quality email identity verification, and more.
- Safe offline storage: 98% of customer cryptocurrencies are absolutely guaranteed by Coinbase exchange using cold wallets.
- Legitimate Exchanges: Coinbase operates under the strict control of US regulatory authorities. Therefore, Coinbase exchange is one of the few legitimate exchanges today.
- High Liquidity: Coinbase Pro owns a huge trading volume, so Coinbase Pro has extremely high liquidity.
- Support Coin trading with Fiat (fiat currency): Coinbase Pro exchange focuses on providing Coin pairs with Fiat such as USD, EUR, GBP. Currently, Coinbase does not have VND.
- Very nice, professional trading interface with analytical charts and order, price, ... easy to use system
- Stop-Limit Order: Besides basic trading orders, Coinbase exchange also integrates Stop-Limit orders to help traders cut losses and take profits automatically.
- Depositing or withdrawing fees for Coinbase is completely free, but there is a fee for depositing Fiat.

What is Coinbase Pro's jurisdiction?

Coinbase Pro is currently supported in 32 countries. In particular, countries such as Singapore, Canada, and Australia are only granted the right to buy but not to sell. Currently, Vietnam is not on Coinbase Pro's support list.
Up to now, Coinbase Pro or even the Coinbase wallet service has never been hacked. As for the error, it is inevitable for any exchange. But Coinbase usually only processes within 24 hours. There is information about the Coinbase exchange scam that some users in the community rumored. This is completely incorrect. There will never be a case of this exchange crashing or scamming. As mentioned, Coinbase operates legally. It is registered with FinCEN – the US Financial Crimes Enforcement Network As a business providing money services.
