Alex has worked with senior Walt Disney illustrator Bill Langley and syndicated cartoon creator Elliot Caplin (brother of Al Capp) during the 80s and 90s. He published hundreds of cartoon strips that ran in several New England area newspapers and published three non-violent comic books featuring his DingleDorf creations. His style has some hand-drawn nostalgia but with a modern twist creating a softer approach able to enhance a broader appeal to products and services. As society becomes more complex and stressful, cartoons can play a greater role in appealing to the general public especially children. Cartoons with humor is one of the best and cheapest ways to advertise creating greater differentiation against the competition.

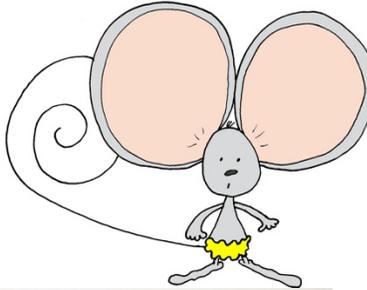

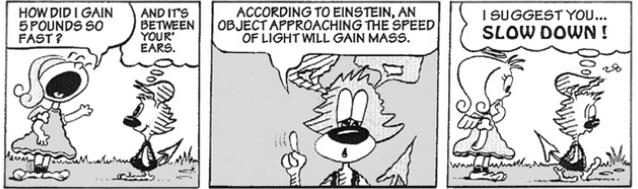

Contact Alex to discuss ideas that will work for your business. Single hand-drawn & polished character drawings for advertisement or gag typically range from 80 -200 dollars. Contact for quotes on larger projects to include, humor based comic strips, short animation timelines, or story development.
