

DingleDorfs

TM

copyright 2001-2020,

The DingleDorfs are animated baseball caps that came to life from spools of bio-Cyber-Fiber tread left in a ball cap manufacturers shipment receiving door by an alien spaceship. They were manufactured into ball caps but because of the rubbery nature from the Cyber-Fiber, they were rejected and thrown into the dumpster. That night the DingleDorfs became alive, crawled out and have been pestering the world ever since.

Their names are Strike, Yokie, Tweet, Nutsy, Finder, Quicksand, and Jewel. Their tough hands are like dexterous baseball gloves allowing to easily catch anything the size of a baseball and climb trees like monkeys. They are hilarious, playful, curious & lovable, annoying, nonsense creatures. Instead of using hard core violence with sword & guns to fight their enemies, they challenge their foes in sports games and adventure. They are always getting into trouble when trying to solve mysteries. They are slapstick funny, think of the Three Stooges or Marx Brothers as animated baseball caps unintentionally pestering society.

Besides sports, they have a mission to make the world a more environmentally friendly place (cleanup plastics garbage...etc., planting trees, clean water, lower carbon emissions)

There is nothing like them anywhere...!!!

DingleDorf Characters & Personalities

The DingleDorfs are a pose of stooge like animated ball cap characters. They originated when an alien space ship dropped off spools of bio-intelligent fiber at a ball-cap factory in a small New England town. Each character has a special character and some form of disability due to manufacturing and the bio Cyber-Fiber imperfections which is why the aliens got rid of the spools.

Strike

He is very conscience of his mental & physical abilities. He strikes out too often playing baseball (his nickname) which can depress him, but under pressure down to the last minute, he will often hit a game winning home run. Also on the positive side, he can strike out many of his opponents. He often doubts his abilities, lacks confidence but has an inner strength & talent that delivers at the right time and during such times he becomes the leader and team captain of the DingleDorfs. Strike lives his life on the sloppy side trying to be tidy but its just not in his character just lives by happy-go-lucky moments.

Yokie

He is Strike's best friend and tags along too often agrees with him. But when they disagree they argue for hours like brothers sharing the same room. He gives Strike too much bad advice complicating Strike's already challenging life. Yokie is the groups navigator having a good sense of direction and geography. He's very confident but too often forgetful, getting the DingleDorfs lost on their adventures. In sports, he's an average ball hitter, you never know where the ball will go, and normally plays both 1st & 2nd base.

Tweet

He is the quiet one mainly because he has disabilities in speech & coordination (has trouble expressing himself & short memory). But he is creative, a good guitar player, abstract art painter, and poet. He applies his creative talents to help the DingleDorfs get through difficult situations and be creative. Loves to listen to music via his ever-growing music amplification equipment. Having longer legs than the others, he's the outfielder able to get the ball faster but he's a lousy hitter.

Jewelry (Jewel)

She is the tidy one, a fashionista on Instagram with a few Tom boy characteristics and a frugal shopper. She scrupulously works the buying deals for the team. She takes care of herself, eats right, meditates, does yoga and like to keep her appearance up. She often says the word " jeepers" or " eebee geebees" to express her feelings or the situation. She like to bunt the ball and manages the dugout.

Nutsy

There is always one weird one in a group and Nutsy is it. He's the real stooge, with a slight limp in his walk (his disability), and leads the rest of pack into foolish dumb things & situations. It's always Nutsy's idea & fault. His strengths are in inherent ability to detect danger and trouble before it happens. He like to play jokes & pranks on the others. Like's to masquerade as " Doctor DingleDorf " or " Professor DingleDorf ". He's normally handles 3rd base and fouls balls.

Nutsy

Finder

He is the scientist, investigator, the forecaster & predictor, philosopher, the rational thinker seeking root-cause in issues and problems facing the Dingledorfs. He's discovers the facts when they try to fight the global climate issues and pollution. His hobbies include astronomy, physics, philosophy and investing in stocks. His disability is that he's dyslexic.

Quicksand

He's the cowboy, the lone ranger, futilely tries to keep the stooge DingleDorfs in order. Frequently wanders away from the group and has a disability to remember how to get back. I don't use this character too often but find his personality useful.

DingleDog & the TwinkleDorfs

I occasionally use these characters as side-kicks and commentators when the DingleDorfs are in precarious situations.

Ali-Cat

She's a Tomboy 5 year old character. A character that pops in now and then who is like a big sister to the DingleDorfs.

She mothers the DingleDorfs, cleans them in the washing machine, feeds them yarn, repairs them when they wear, and throws them out of house if they overstay their welcome or are too annoying for her.

A new family adventure story from Skylight Studios !

This story features the DingleDorfs in a mystery adventure where they explore a vast abandoned New England industrial mill. The mill is in the process of being reborn into the Massachusetts Museum of Contemporary Art (MassMoca) and large parts of the mill are still undeveloped. The DingleDorfs and friends equipped with full camping gear, venture into unknown parts of the complex and discover secret...areas that are possessed by the spirits of the deceased mill workers. These good spirits reveal a treasure that could benefit the future of the mill, but the DingleDorfs must face the evil spirit that guards the key to the treasure!
