Tachycardia

A normal heart rate in adults is usually between 60 and 100 beats per minute. Tachycardia is a fast or racing heartbeat where the heart beats over 100 times a minute at rest.

Types of Tachycardia

What matters when dealing with Tachycardia?

Stable & Narrow

TX-Vagal + 12 lead EKG + consider underlining cause then Adenosine 6mg Rapid IVP, if that doesn't work repeat at 12mg x2. Get expert consult.

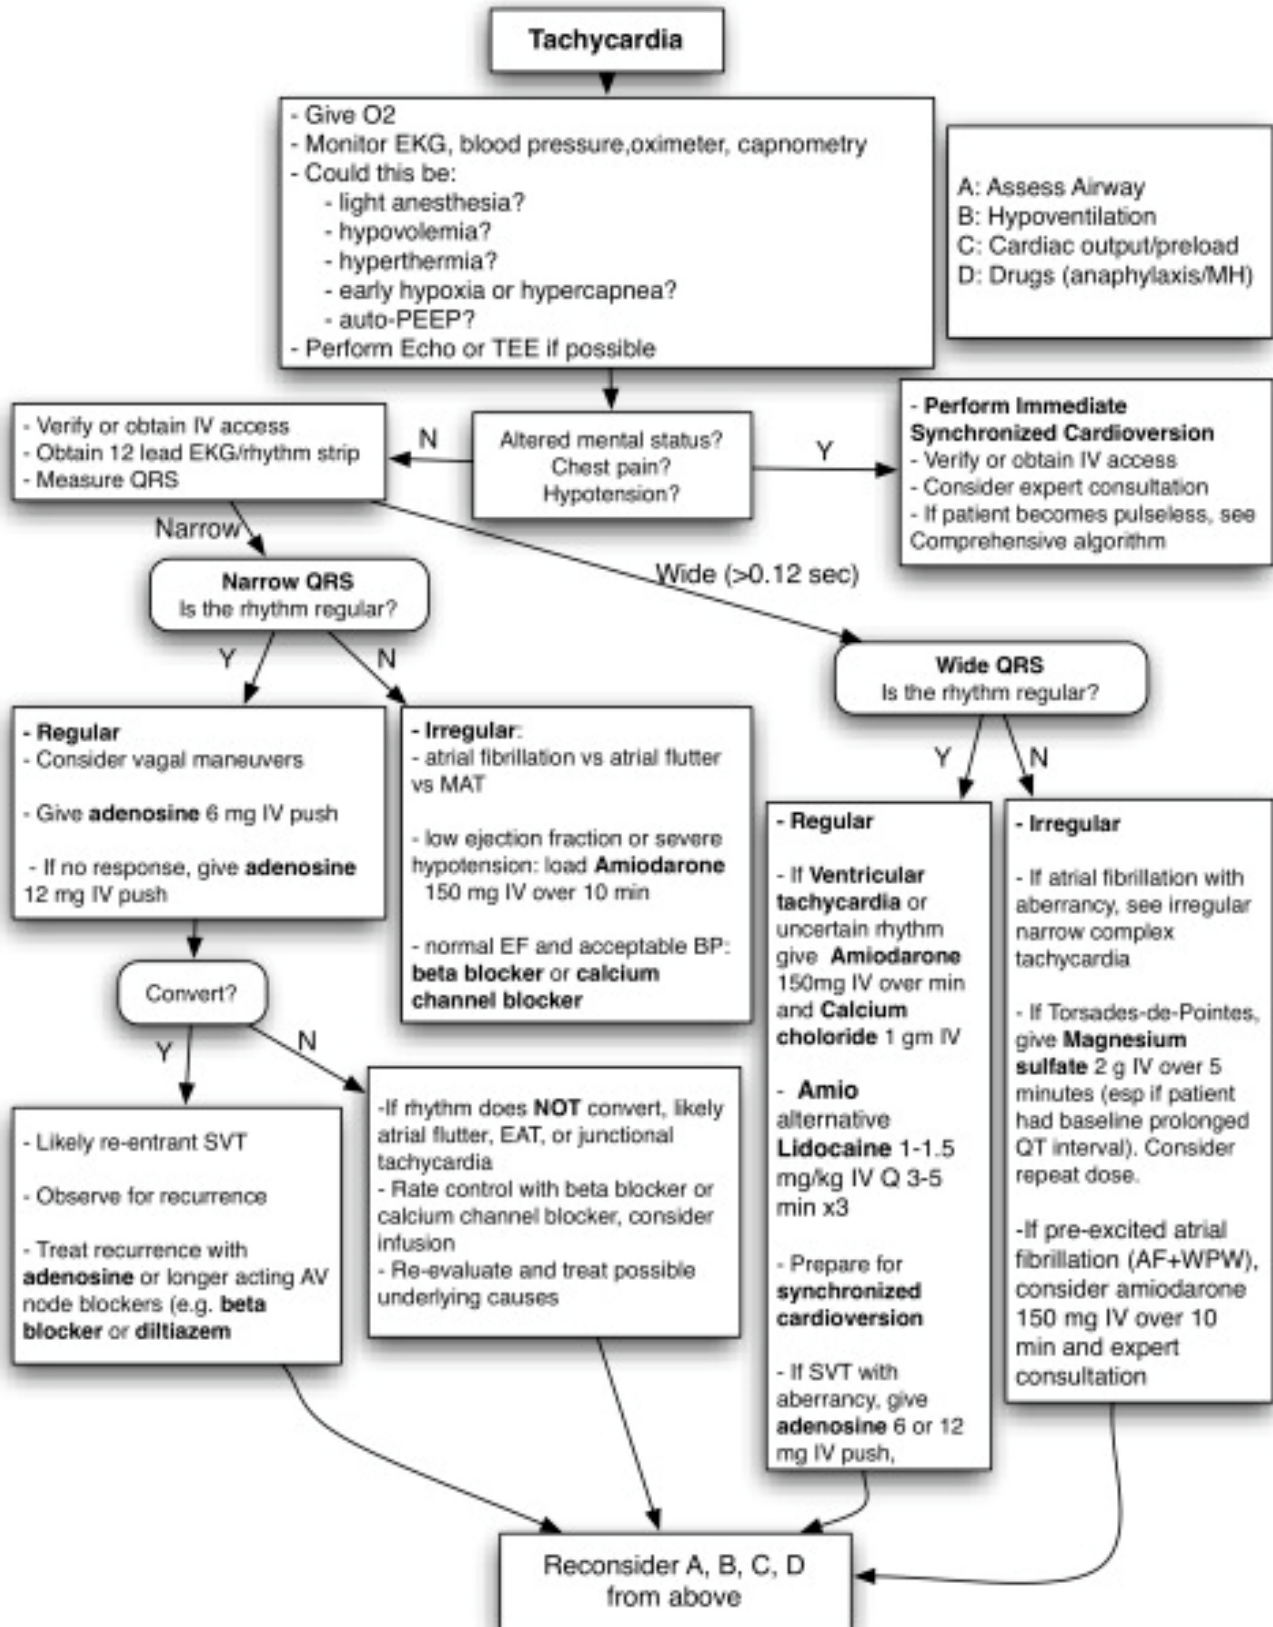

Unstable- Narrow or wide

TX-Sedation if possible + Synchronized cardioversion
