

A vintage painting of a man and woman dancing in a living room. The man is wearing a light blue shirt and dark trousers, and the woman is wearing a light-colored, patterned dress and high heels. They are standing in front of a large window with lace curtains. To the left, there is a television set on a wooden cabinet and a lamp. To the right, a woman is sitting in a chair, looking towards the dancing couple. The scene is warmly lit, suggesting a cozy, intimate atmosphere.

“Dance with God
and He will let
the right man
cut in.”