

Founded in 2008, Montreal, Quebec, based publisher Les éditions les Malins offers quality books for children, young adults and adults. The company is now considered the leader in youth literature in French Canada.

We strongly believe that books can be as addictive as tv series and we aim to publish books that entertain and enrich the lives of young and less young readers.

Visit our website: www.lesmalins.ca

Follow us:

@les_editions_les_malins

What we are looking for

★Picture Books

Quirky and modern picture books with a humorous twist, with fresh and non-stereotyped characters.

★ Middle Grade and Young Adult

What we are looking for: Only the next Harry Potter series! We love Harry Potter. More seriously, we are looking for well-written fantasy and realistic series. Book-to-film adaptation is a big plus!

★ Books we have recently acquired:

Can I come too?

Animal crackers

The unexpected

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABOUT US1
WHAT WE ARE LOOKING FOR2
HIGHLIGHTS 20234
PICTURE BOOKS32
MIDDLE GRADE SERIES52
EARLY READING SERIES80
YOUNG ADULT94
COMIC BOOKS108
GUIDES AND DOCUMENTARY BOOKS 114
ADULT126
LES MALINS ON SOCIAL MEDIA 138

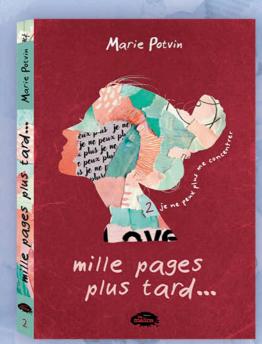

HIGHLIGHTS 2023

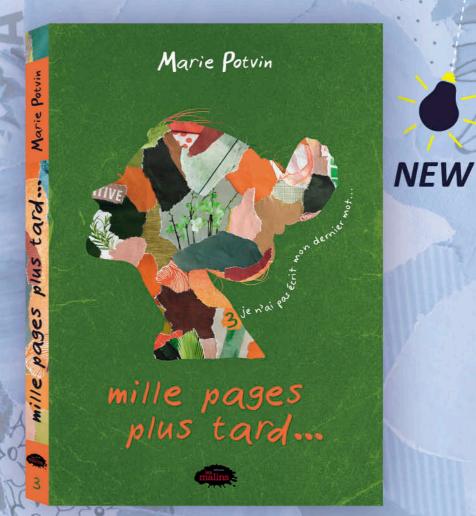

All rights available

Word count: 41,000

More than 6,000 copies of the first two novels sold in less than an a year!

A thousand pages later . . . I still don't understand

I have two main goals in life. The first one is to read all the novels in my never-ending pile of books to read, and the second one is to never lose sight of the first. It becomes complicated when my new annoying neighbour seems to do everything he can to catch my attention. It seems like he always finds a way to be near me... and because misfortune never comes alone, in my arts class, I am stuck at the same table as the worst trio: Matéo, Jules and Roan. They have always been unbearable, but this time, they have crossed a line. When a series of mysterious wrongdoings are committed against Matéo, I don't know what to think anymore. Could I have an ally hiding in the shadows?

About the author:

Marie Potvin is well known in Quebec for her bestselling series Les filles modèles and Zoélie l'allumette. She likes to write stories with a lot of love, drama and strong female characters.

Nico loves spending time with his grandma Colette. Together, they look at the stars, cook magnificent cakes and play with the cats. But Nico's favorite activity is visiting the cemetery. The cemetery?! It's because Léa, Nico's mother, has been resting there for several months now.

Grandma Colette is helping Nico understand that even if she can no longer see his mom, she is everywhere around her. Who knows? Maybe Nico will look at the clouds with a different mindset one day?

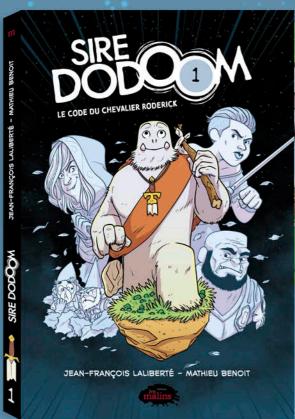

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 46 Size: 23 x 30 cm

About the author / illustrator:

Graduated in 3D animation and after working in this field for almost 10 years, Jean-Philippe Morasse decided to leave his career to devote himself to writing his own stories. Big fan of Disney movies, Sailor Moon and My Little Poney, if he's not drawing and writing, he's probably running on Mount Royal, catching Pokémon on his Nintendo Switch or giving love to his two cats, Gustav and Balthazar.

All rights available

Word count: 15,000

Having in mind the 100 rules of the Code of Chivalry that his adoptive father taught him, Sire Dodoom goes on an adventure to explore the Lands of Erutan. This friendly yeti with a heart of gold dreams of fame and glory.

But what Dodoom doesn't know is that a prophecy designates him as none other than the terrible Wouhtang, a creature destined to destroy the world. The dark forces of the sinister Grimskul want to destroy him, while the valiant knights of Ninal'una, the empress of Suméror want to neutralize him in order to prevent the fulfillment of the prophecy...

Will the very brave, but a bit naive Dodoom, be able to distinguish his enemies from his allies? And will he be able to escape his destiny?

About the author:

Author and screenwriter of comics since 2012, Jean-François Laliberté wanders for his greatest pleasure in the different universes he likes to create. Whether in science fiction, fantasy, manga or even as a policeman, it is a real passion for him to share his imagination with his readers. He was honored to be rewarded for this work by winning the Rivière-Ouelle Police Short Story Award in 2012. He also won the Réal-Fillion Award at Bédéis Causa 2019 for his first professional comic book.

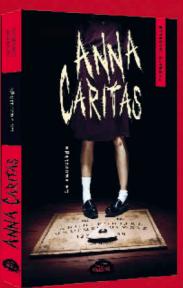

About the illustrator:

Mathieu Benoît has been a professional illustrator since 2010. This Montrealer is known for his comics, as well as the illustrated novels and picture books on which he collaborated. We are talking about more than 70 books! He is gifted for comics since almost always... The proof: he won the award for best comics on the theme of dental hygiene while he was in primary school. Since then, he has almost never dropped his pencils (which are now digital).

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

Word count: 60,000

OVER 75,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND EUROPE!

With the first book of the series Anna Caritas, Patrick Isabelle is throwing himself into the world of horror fiction. At first glance, Saint-Hector seems like the perfect town, small and quiet, notable only for the famous Anna Caritas private school. Of course, there's an evil force during a Ouija séance and it also the still unsolved murder of the Roberts couple, which happened a few years earlier, but it seems that all the inhabitants have awaken the ghosts...

forgotten it. And nobody seems to be paying any attention to the series of odd events that has been unfolding over the last couple of days. But will they be able to keep shutting their eyes when a group of students awakens starts to lash out against the town's residents? Everyone knows it's not a good idea to try and

About the author:

Patrick Isabelle was born in the early eighties, so he grew up immersed in neon clothing and funky hairstyles. He saw The Karate Kid Part II in a drive-in theater. His life took a turn when he discovered Stephen King at the elderly age of 11 and made it his goal to become the first master of the horror genre in Québec. He published his first novel in 2010 and today returns to the spooky fascinations of his teenage years, sliding into the world of horror fiction with the Anna Caritas series.

FANNY CLOUTIER

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

Rights sold in

- Simplified Chinese
- English

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

All other rights available

Word count: 48,000

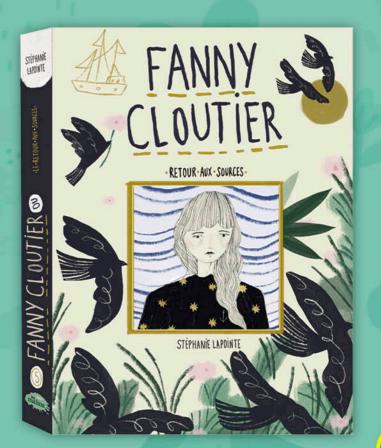

OVER 60,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND EUROPE!

Fanny is a feisty 14-year-old with a real gift for turning her thoughts and feelings into drawings. She lives in Montreal with her father, a sewing machine repair man by day and nutty inventor by night. When he's invited to pursue his research in Japan, young Fanny is sent to a small town far away from Montreal and all her friends. She will meet a part of her family she has never heard of before and will have to adapt to a new school and a new life. Soon, she will discover that this is the town where her mother lived before she died, when Fanny was very young. This leads Fanny to investigate the mystery behind her mother's death and to discover a terrible truth.

About the author:

Stéphanie Lapointe is a singer, renowned writer and actor first known in Quebec for her participation in the popular reality TV show "Star Academie", which she won. She is the winner of a Governor General's Award for her illustrated novel Grandfather and the Moon.

About the illustrator:

Born in Venezuela, Marianne Ferrer arrived in Canada as a child. She started drawing at the age of three and never stopped since. She works surrounded by plants and animals (her little dogs Negrita and Pancake) "because I need life around me. Her personal style has been noticed by several publishing houses. She illustrated Racines (Monsieur Ed, 2016) and Le jardin invisible (Monsieur Ed, 2017) as well as Une histoire de cancer qui finit bien (La Pastèque, 2017). She worked for almost three years with Stéphanie Lapointe to create the Amy Cloutier series.

All rights available

Word count: 45,000

OVER 35,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC!

At the bantam AAA selection camp, the players will do whatever it takes to be a part of the team, and that means drama on and off the ice!

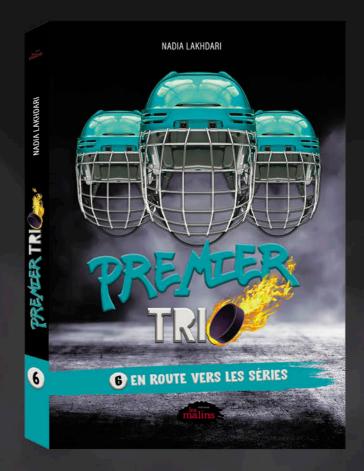

Xavier, last year's captain, thought he was prepared for the camp, but even he didn't see this coming: star player Chloé Béliveau has been invited by the coach to try her luck on the male team. And some players aren't exactly thrilled to see a girl in the locker-room.

Chloé is totally committed, in hockey and in life.

She has to fight to earn her place on the team, to convince her mother to let her play with the guys, and to protect her relationship with her two best friends.

For Max, hockey is everything. But his complicated family situation means difficult decisions have to be made. With no one to confide in, these tough choices become a heavy burden.

Whether it's hockey, schoolwork, or parties with friends—the trio are in for a bumpy ride!

The adapted TV series is now airing across Canada

About the author:

Nadia Lakhdari is a huge hockey fan. As a child, she hung out in arenas to watch her brothers play. (In her day girls couldn't play hockey. They were limited to ringette which, let's face it, didn't attract as many people). Now a proud mom, she continues to hang out in arenas to cheer on her goalie son and hockey player daughter. When she has some free time away from the rink, she writes novels, including the popular #Colocs series for teens and the Choupinette series for early readers.

les préparatifs du banquet. Pour l'occasion, Malie sortit la malle de Gran Morno alin de coffer les cheveux de Kelly-Ann. Le résultat était éblouissant l

Malie et Kelly-Ana décidèrent de reder mble tous les trésors de la malle de Gran Ma passérent des heures a en analyser le con

Princess Kelly-Ann and her mom, Malie, move to the kingdom of Noloc. Everything there is so different from home. In Noloc, everyone straightens their hair! Despite the malevolent stares, teasing and whispering that her visit elicits, Kelly-Ann will learn to let the natural beauty of her curls run free.

After all, one feels much better when one is proud of one's appearance and one's identity!

All rights available

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 38 Size: 24 x 28 cm

About the author:

Hair, is something Marie-Aliette Forges masters! She has had several occupations, including that of hairdresser, and now takes up the pen in order to foster diversity in children's literature. With her picture book, she wants to help children living with hair discrimination to assert themselves and develop their self-confidence.

All rights available

More than 9,000 copies sold in less than two years!

Word count: 10,000

"Même pas peur" is a middle grade series that will surely make you shiver! Each book's universe is more frightening than the other. The series is made to be read in whatever order you choose! On the program: a haunted mirror, a dangerous creature in the woods and a mad torturer from whom you must escape.

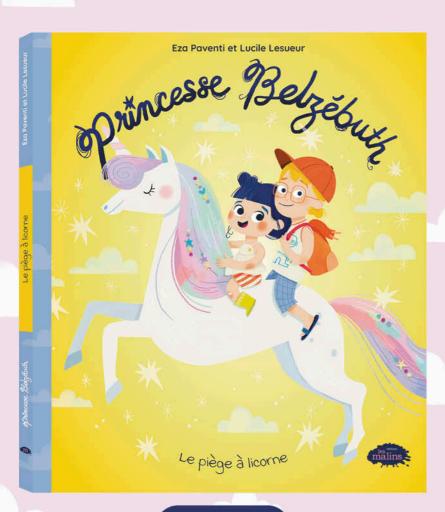

About the author:

Don't tell anyone, but Jocelyn Boisvert is afraid of everything. Might as well put his fear to good use! That's why he created the "Même pas peur" series, a series of horror novels that presents its readers with delicious nightmares. When he isn't writing, Jocelyn takes long strolls on beaches of the Magdalen Islands, observes the stars, walks on his hands, tries new spicy sauces, plays board games and watches movies... horror movies, of course!

O 🦰

Pages: 40 Size: 24 x 28 cm

All rights available

Word count: 1,700

Princess Beelzebub is a funny and resourceful little girl with an overflowing imagination. Accompanied by her faithful sidekick Philémon-the-Inventive-Spy (and his unique scientific spirit) she devises crazy plans and invents extraordinary solutions to every problem.

The third volume of the series will be available in May 2024

Pages: 36 Size: 24 x 28 cm

About the author:

Screenwriter and director Eza Paventi has been telling stories on TV for years. She sometimes spies on her children for inspiration - shh! – and imagines adventures they would like to be a part of. Princess B. was created one night when the author was working on her Ph.D. thesis on female leadership. And so she came up with a sensitive, daring and imperfect character to inspire girls to follow their instincts...as well as her wonderful ally, a small scientist who is always asking the right questions.

About the author:

Lucile Lesueur is an illustrator born in France and currently living in Montreal, Quebec with her husband, her daughter and her cat. In 2009, after studying design, fashion and graphic design, she began a new journey to become an illustrator. She enjoys playing with colors & patterns, as well as finding inspiration in everyday life, such as movement, and light.

NEW

Carnet de bord Book 2

It's finally happened! Since I saved Diane at school, everyone wants to be my friend. People offer me the best seat in class, and I even get the last slice of pizza in the cafeteria!

Yeah, I'm officially the leader of the pack.

OWOOOOO!!!

But let's be honest: a pack leader's life is not always as great as it seems. It is impossible to have a moment alone, my friends laugh at all my jokes, even the bad ones... How do I know if they really love me or if they force themselves to please me?

And then, there is Rosalie who is just as popular as me. The more people admire her, the eviller she becomes! She gets so mean that she makes me want to give up my new position. But who could replace me without power going to their head? Let the auditions begin!

All rights available

Word count: 33,000

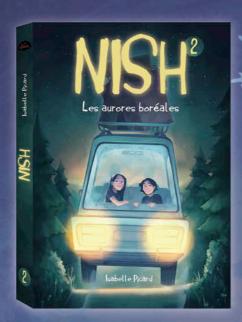

Carnet de bord is a new hilarious series, filled with fabulous illustrations, almost on every page! Written like a diary, the reader follows Émile Jolicoeur a young boy who's had enough of being the good guy. He wants to get Maeva's attention and impress her. With this mindset, he decides to become stronger and more confident... like a young wolf who wants to take over as leader of the pack!

About the author:

Born in 1990, Simon Lafrance never ran more than five levels in the beep test at school. When his mom wanted to punish him, she'd send him outside to play ball. Then came his 23rd birthday, when he wished to never play sports ever again and take his passion of writing to the next level of making it a job. He is now writing stories every day, in the comfort of his living room.

One book, one city 2023 A prize to promote diversity amongst youth litterature

Rights sold in • English

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

All other rights available

Word count: 50,000

OVER 15,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC!

For the twins Léon and Éloïse, life is anything but ordinary. In Matimekush, the Innu community in Northern Quebec where they live, someone mysteriously disappears from the village. For the twins, it's a wake-up call about the fragility of humanity and the dangers of the land they call home.

While Éloïse talks with her kukum, she finds out about the history of her people—their victories, but also their battles lost. Meanwhile, Léon spends all his free time playing hockey and tries to prove that he has the talent to make it to the major league. Then, the twins' lives are turned upside down. Their dad is sick and needs to get treatment in Quebec, far away from his family... 942 km to the south, to be exact. Can Léon and Éloïse pull together to get through this difficult time?

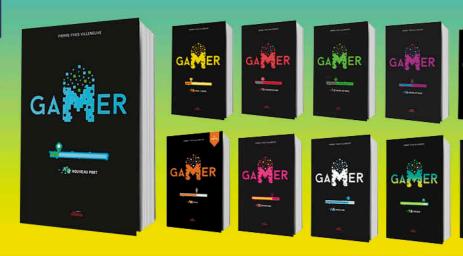

About the author:

Isabelle Picard is part of the Huron-Wendat First Nation, from Wendake in the province of Quebec. She is Radio-Canada's Senior Specialist in Indigenous Affairs, and a lecturer at UQAM university, in Montreal. Her schedule might be as packed as the prime minister's, but she still found time last year to launch the first instalment of her new book series, Nish: North and South. As an ethnologist, Isabelle aims to increase understanding of the realities and challenges faced by First Peoples in Quebec. Her books serves the same purpose, while presenting a powerful, universal story that steers clear of stereotypes.

Rights sold in

- French France, Belgium and Switzerland

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

All other rights available

Word count: 60,000

12 VOLUMES PUBLISHED. OVER 160,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND EUROPE!

Gamer is a series for teens that appeals to both girls and boys. Alternating between scenes in the virtual world and scenes of everyday life, this series is already a great success and the first volume was selected for the prestigious Booksellers' Prize of Quebec.

We follow the adventures of Laurie, a 14-year-old girl who is a talented gamer. Outspoken, a skater, good at maths, she is clearly different from classical heroines of teen novels.

We follow her and her friends as she attempts to fit in at her new school, leading a team of video game players to numerous victories in tournaments.

A realistic series that draws on new technologies for adventures that verge on science fiction.

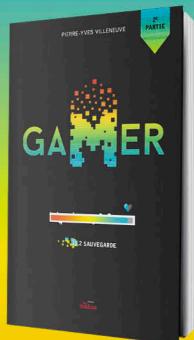

Pierre-Yves Villeneuve is the proud father of two girls and a talented gamer who helps his daughters achieve ever-higher levels in Candycrush. He worked for many years in the editing business before launching his first series: Gamer.

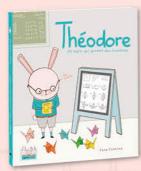

PICTURE BOOKS

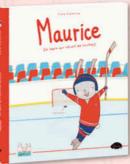

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

Rights sold in

Spanish - Latin America

French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

Romania

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 36 Size: 24 x 28 cm

Les lapins malins is an adorable collection of picture books that tackles the themes of perseverance, difference and self-acceptance in a fun way!

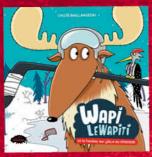

About the illustrator:

Cara Carmina is a Mexican-born illustrator and textile artist living in Montreal. She studied Graphic design, Drawing, Fashion and children illustration. Her work has found singular recognition in the Montreal art scene. She's an Illustrator, a designer and also an entrepreneur. She wears multiple hats to keep her career as an autonomous artist afloat and, above all, nurture her passion for art. She has already six children's books published and always a million projects in mind!

WAP! LEWAP!ti

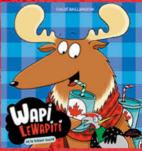

All rights available

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 36 Size: 25 x 25 cm

OVER 15,000 COPIES SOLD!

Wapi is an adorable and funny wapiti living all sorts of adventures with his furry friends. Set in the Northern Forest, the world of Wapi and his friends will surely become a bed time favourite for young readers!

Spot the Difference

Wapi and his friends go on a trip around the forests of the world! Will Serge Lelièvre save Wapi from the piranhas of the Amazon? Will madame Kipik like Japanese tea? Will Ti-Pic LePicBois become friends with an eagle in Czech Republic? Help them find the items they lost along the way!

About the author / illustrator:

Chloé Baillargeon started drawing at age three (mostly Ninja Turtles for her friends) and never stopped since then. Even if she had many different jobs not related to drawing her pencils were never far away. She started the adventures of Wapi Le wapiti as bed time stories for her young children.

ALSO AVAILABLE AS A BOARD BOOKS SERIES FOR AGES 1-3

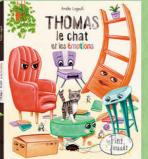

LEARN NUMBERS AND KINDS OF FISH

LEARN COLORS, VEGETABLES

LEARN RIMES

All rights available

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 36 Size: 24 x 28 cm

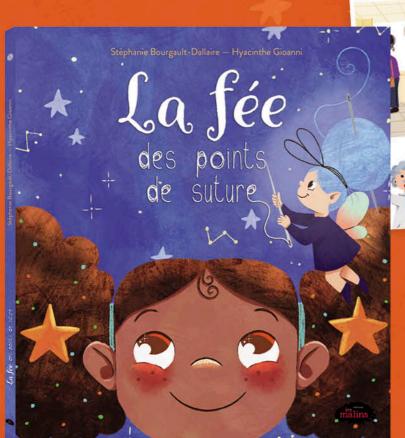

OVER 15,000 COPIES SOLD

About the author:

Amélie Legault is a Montreal-based artist whose off-the-wall illustrations feature animals doing all kinds of sports, including a lot of bikeriding! She is fascinated by the animal world and takes inspiration from daily human life to create her quirky scenes. Amélie uses her illustrations to make posters, greeting cards, and calendars, among other things. Her illustrated book series, Les fins finauds, is her first venture into the world of children's literature.

All rights available

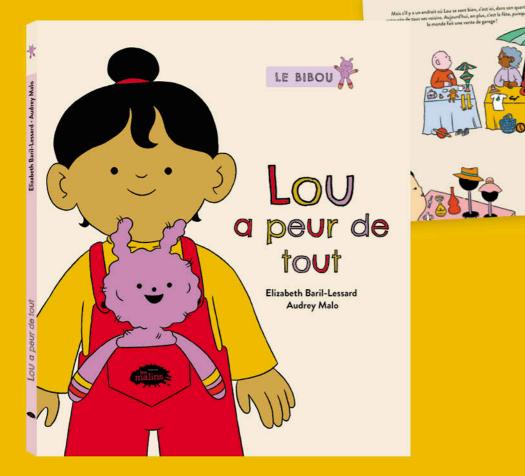

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 44 Size: 24 x 28 cm

About the author / illustrator:

It's a disaster: Emma is injured! She and her dad must therefore visit the doctor because Emma needs stitches! Don't panic, it looks like this doctor like no other is teaming up with none other than the stitch fairy!

Franco-Albertan by adoption, Stéphanie Bourgault-Dallaire is an author, a teacher and a full-time mom. After publishing a series of chick-lit novels for adults, Stéphanie wanted to address a new audience: toddlers. In love with her family and passionate about literature, Stéphanie embarks on children's literature with her first picture book: La fée des points de suture.

This is a wonderful tale about our fears and the best ways to overcome them!

Lou is scared of everything! Sharks in the swimming pool and snails in the cans of peas, not to mention Mom's toenails and Dad's nose hairs. But when a cute little creature named Bibou comes into his life, Lou's fears begin to fade away.

Since Bibou is so small, will he be able to deal with so many fears all by himself?

All rights available

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 44 Size: 24 x 28 cm

and the second second second second

Thanks to her fabulous, untied and soft writing, Élizabeth Baril- Lessard manages to tackle delicate topics such as anxiety and intimidation, with great sensitivity and lots of humor.

he has already conquered the hearts of thousands of faithful eaders with her novel series. She leaves, from now on, an indelible nark in the solendid and colorful world of youth literature.

)

All rights available

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 48 Size: 25 x 25 cm

OVER 15,000 COPIES SOLD!

The little boy who asked too many questions

The little boy who asked too many questions is a 45-page picture book about exploration, ice cream, treasures and science. It's also an introduction to critical thinking and to the scientific method for young readers. Written and illustrated by The Pharmafist, a real pharmacist, well known in French-Canada for his website, books and TV show pursuing his greater mission to encourage people to develop their critical thinking and to make better decisions regarding their health.

Will you solve the enigma of the pyramids?

A mysterious monument is discovered near Hugo and Maya's house. Quickly, the imagination is racing and theories multiply. Some even think that it's a big secret and that the authorities are hiding the truth . . . Our two curious friends will demonstrate courage and critical ability to resist the popular current and figure out what is real and what is not among these unusual events!

About the author: Olivier Bernard, a pharmacist by profession, is famous in Quebec for his blog Le Pharmachien, "the impertinent blog that simplifies science and annihilates pseudoscience." He has also 180,000 fans on Facebook: facebook.com/lePharmachien

CiceRnes et confettis

Rights sold in French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 68 Size: 24 x 28 cm

Like her five-year-old daughter, author Catherine Girard-Audet is sure that unicorns exist. She also

That's why you'll find not just one, but EIGHT unicorn stories in this latest picture book!

With themes of friendship, adventure and the power of imagination, along with cute and colourful

Catherine Girard-Audet is a very popular filles, a dictionary for young girls published since 2008 and updated every year.

Lananouille

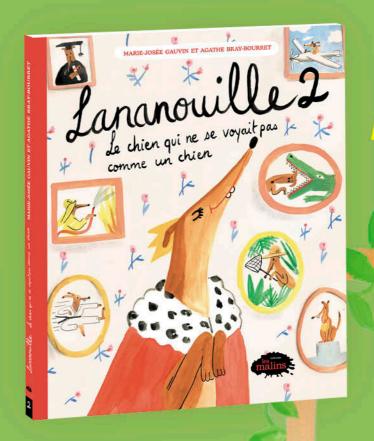

Word count: 1,700 Pages: 36 Size: 16,5 x 23 cm

Lananouille

In the neighbourhood of Poil-St-Charles, there is a dark, sad-looking house. When the people who live there discover that Lana, a fun-loving little dog, is looking for a home, they decide to take her in—but only for a short while. They don't know yet what a big effect the little dog will have on their family!

A great favourite at Les Malins, this picture book is sensitive, sweet, and funny.

About the author:

Marie-Josée Gauvin is a radio and TV host who loves telling fantastic stories. Whether it's through words, video or radio shows, her imagination and her bubbly personality reach to a vast audience. She always has many projects and ideas (such as becoming a teacher, having a Pinterest home, make a rock album with her friends) but her favorite project is becoming an author.

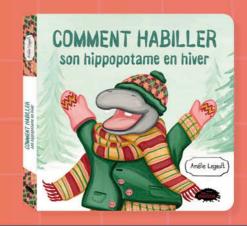

About the illustrator:

Agathe Bray-Bourret is an illustrator, animator, and director. After she completed her bachelor's degree in cinema at Concordia University, her passion for drawing and narration led her to the world of illustration. Among many other works, she illustrated the picture book Riley Can't Stop Crying (2019 TD Canadian Children's Literature Award, People's Favourite Award for Youth Literature in collaboration with Radio-Canada and the TD Award, shortlisted for the 2019 Espiègle Award, and shortlisted for the 2020 Quebec Booksellers' Award for Children's Literature: Ages 6–11 Category).

BOARD BOOKS

All rights available

Word count: 150 Pages: 26 Size: 14 x 14 cm

Pas si différents

Everyone we meet along the way has different tastes. The good thing about that is that everything is possible! That's as true for girls as it is for boys. In this book, you'll discover the favourite hobbies of various friends. How about yourself? What things do you like to do best?

Word count: 150 Pages: 26 Size: 14 x 14 cm

Raoul

This board book deals with pet loss in a kind and sensitive way as it delves into the special bond that connects children and their animal friends. This is a beautiful story of friendship between a little girl and her cat Raoul. We follow them from their first meeting, throughout their life together and until they say farewell. Children will learn that life goes on and that grief can be transformed into happy memories.

About the author / illustrator:

Graduated in 3D animation and after working in this field for almost 10 years, Jean-Philippe Morasse decided to leave his career to devote himself to writing his own stories. Big fan of Disney movies, Sailor Moon and My Little Poney, if he's not drawing and writing, he's probably running on Mount Royal, catching Pokémon on his Nintendo Switch or giving love to his two cats, Gustav and Balthazar.

About the author / illustrator:

Chloe Baillargeon started drawing at age three (mostly Ninja Turtles for her friends) and never stopped since then. Even if she had many different jobs not related to drawing her pencils were never far away.

All rights available

Word count: 160 Pages: 26 Size: 14 x 14 cm

Comment habiller son hippopotame en hiver

Oh no! In winter, Cleo the hippo finds out how cold it feels when he's not wearing anything. Dressing warmly is a must! Children will learn the names of winter clothes while having fun with Cleo!

This story answers a question we've all been asking ourselves: How should a hippopotamus dress in wintertime?

hild Calebrat bede tre histories that

Word count: 80 Pages: 26 Size: 14 x 14 cm

J'ai trouvé un cercle

Discover how a shape as simple as a circle can be transformed into a multitude of unexpected things!

When you first look at it, a circle might seem quite simple. But when you add some colour and draw in a few lines, a circle can be completely transformed!

When the circle is yellow, it begins to shine like the sun. But what happens when it's coloured blue?

About the author / illustrator:

Amélie Legault is a Montreal-based artist whose off-the-wall illustrations feature animals doing all kinds of sports, including a lot of bike-riding! She is fascinated by the animal world and takes inspiration from daily human life to create her quirky scenes. Amélie uses her illustrations to make posters, greeting cards, and calendars, among other things. Her illustrated book series, Les fins finauds, is her first venture into the world of children's literature.

About the author / illustrator:

Cara Carmina is a Mexican-born illustrator and textile artist living in Montreal. She studied Graphic design, Drawing, Fashion and children illustration. Her work has found singular recognition in the Montreal art scene. She's an Illustrator, a designer and also an entrepreneur. She wears multiple hats to keep her career as an autonomous artist afloat and, above all, nurture her passion for art. She has already six children's books published and always a million projects in mind!

MIDDLE GRADE SERIES

Lea Olivier

Sample English translation of the first 3 books are available.

Rights sold in 8 countries.

- French France, Belgium and Switzerland
- · Portuguese Brazil only
- Romanian
- Lithuanian

- the Netherlands
- German
- Icelandic

The comic book series, based on the novels, was launched in 2014 in Quebec and Europe. The first eleven volumes are available.

Plenty of spin-offs from the series also available.

About the author:

Catherine Girard-Audet is a very popular writer, known for her bestselling series, The Complicated Life of Lea Olivier, and ABC des filles, an annual guide for 12.8k followers on Instagram and over 57k followers on Facebook.

special issues

Léa Olivier has been confirmed! (To be aired on TFO in Canada and TéléTOON+ in France). Lea Olivier's world is turned upside down when her parents announce that she will have to leave her hometown and resettle with them and her older brother in Montreal. Through chat messages with her best friend Marylou, her boyfriend Thomas and her new "friends," Lea recounts the ups and downs of adapting city: a difficult long- distance relationship, a group of popular girls who are causing her

Season 3 of the TV series La Vie Compliquée de headaches, a brother too hot and too cool, unacceptably poor grades in English.... In short, The Complicated Life of Lea Olivier! Since the first volume was launched, sold worldwide.

> The series is translated into 7 languages.

Word count: 40,000

1,8 MILLION COPIES SOLD WORLDWIDE

TV show on air since February 2020

bucket list

perpetual agenda

journal

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

Word count: 68,000

OVER 210,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND EUROPE!

Bine is a hilarious series with a hero who has no super powers whatsoever: Benoit-Olivier, "Bine," the tallest, oldest and funniest kid at his school. He likes to give old Miss Béliveau, his grumpy teacher, a hard time. With his friend, Maxim (whom he loves secretly and who's the only girl able to burp the entire alphabet) and Tristan, the awkward French student who is always following them, they experience all sorts of adventures, from getting trapped inside their school for a night to carrying out a commando operation in the basement of Bine's neighbour to spending the summer at a horrible camp in the woods.

185,000 copies of the series have been sold in Quebec and Europe.

In 2014, the series was adapted into a comic book series by two Belgian comic books artists, Didier Alcante and Steven Dupré. Three volumes are available and have been well received in Europe and Quebec.

Comic books

Le king des pets sauce

Le king des pets

About the author:

Daniel Brouillette was once an elementary school teacher but, tired of correcting student tests, he decided to go for a career in humorous writing and studied at the École nationale de l'humour.

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

Word count: 48,000

OVER 215,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND EUROPE!

Laura and Marie-Douce have nothing in common. Laura is popular and Marie-Douce is invisible. Marie-Douce secretly admires Laura and wants to be just like her, but Laura is not at all interested in speaking to her.

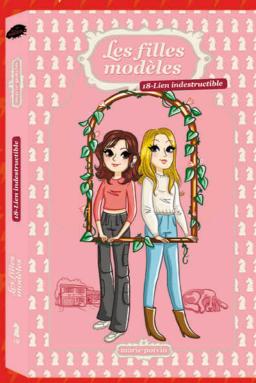

This situation becomes tricky when Laura's mother and Marie-Douce's father fall in love and decide to move in together, forcing the girls to share a room.

When Laura declares war on Marie-Douce, a mutual friend, Corentin, ends up at the heart of the battle, especially when he falls in love with one of them.

The two protagonists take turns telling the story. Marie-Douce, who wants to become Laura's real sister, ends up foiling every evil plan Laura makes against her. But at heart Laura is not so nasty. Really, she is going through a tough time since her father is in the military and she has trouble accepting his absence.

In the first volume, Laura makes many enemies!
Corentin likes Marie-Douce and manipulates things to make Laura the laughing stock of the whole school! Saddened, Laura will have to struggle through many difficult days in unwarranted solitude, and ultimately lose Marie-Douce when she decides to go live with her mother...who has just married Corentin's father!

Comic books

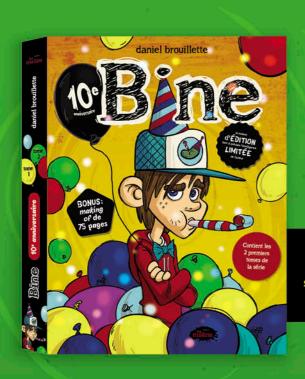

About the author:

Marie Potvin is well known in Quebec for her bestselling series Les filles modèles and Zoélie l'allumette. She likes to write stories with a lot of love, drama and strong female characters.

A collector's edition of the popular Bine series to celebrate its tenth anniversary!

A collector's edition of the popular series Les filles modèles!

All rights available

Bine

In addition to the first two complete volumes of the series, this special edition includes a colourful 60-page leaflet about this unique Québecois collection! Brand new information that depicts Bine's genesis will be available to fans. Daniel Brouillette will treat his readers with information about the characters, a few anecdotes on the hiccups he had on his journey to become an author, unpublished excerpts, the first sketches of the covers and much more!

This collection's publication will undoubtedly gather all the great moments of this incredible series!

About the author:

Daniel Brouillette was once an elementary school teacher but, tired of correcting student tests, he decided to go for a career in humorous writing and studied at the École nationale de l'humour.

All rights available

Filles modèles

In addition to the first two complete volumes of the series, this collector's book includes a colourful 32-page leaflet on the series history, put together by the author Marie Potvin! Brand new information will be available to fans, such as original sketches of Laura and Marie-Douce, their family tree as well as their house plans. Apart from the information about the characters, Marie Potvin will share a few anecdotes on book fairs, writing the series and talk about some great Les Filles modèles moments!

About the author:

Marie Potvin is well known in Quebec for her bestselling series Les filles modèles and Zoélie l'allumette. She likes to write stories with a lot of love, drama and strong female characters.

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

Word count: 25,000

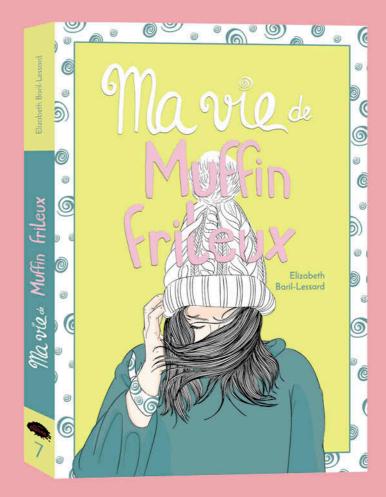

OVER 63,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND IN EUROPE!

The new hit series from Les Malins!

Since the first of Élizabeth Baril-Lessard's books, young readers have been won over by the character of Louane: a teenager dealing with an anxiety disorder that stops her living life to the full the way her classmates do.

The author's light and sensitive style allows her to address and demystify tricky themes that impact the lives of young people-such as anxiety, cyberbullying, and consent-in a gently

With over 45,000 copies sold of the first two volumes, the "Ma vie de..." series has already made its mark in the world of young adult fiction.

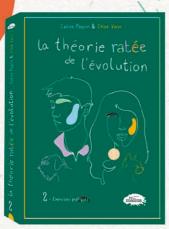

Thanks to her fabulous, untied and soft writing, Élizabeth Baril-Lessard manages to tackle delicate topics such as anxiety and intimidation, with great sensitivity and lots of humor.

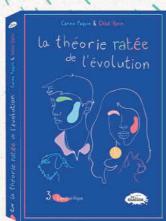

She has already conquered the hearts of thousands of faithful readers with her first two novels. She leaves, from now on, an indelible mark in the splendid and colorful world of youth literature.

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

Word count: 40,000

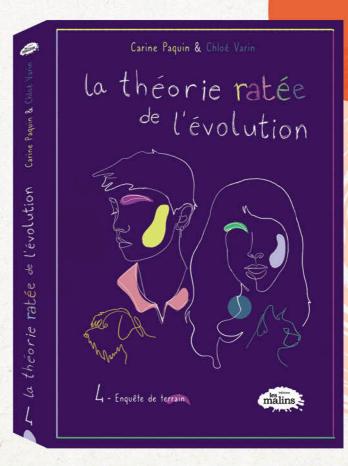

The Other Theory of Evolution

Charles-Darwin High is unlike any other: it's a boarding school specialized in zootherapy for teenagers with special needs! And it's where Carma Martin (living with anxiety and kleptomania) and Coralie Painchaud (diagnosed with ADHD and behavioural problems) are starting high school!

Carma's cat Chava and Coralie's dog Harry will be right by their side, through thick and thin!

This new series is written by Chloé Varin and Carine Paquin, two very popular authors among voung people!

La théorie ratée de l'évolution is an inclusive story, told with humour, that gives the spotlight to smart characters, for whom school can sometimes be complicated.

About the author:

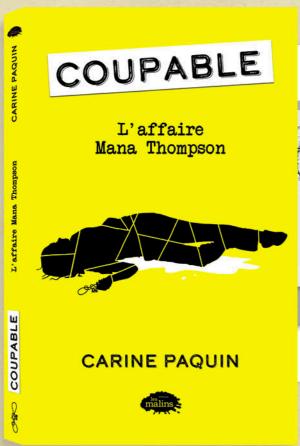

Chloé Varin was born in 1986 in Laval. She published her first novel for adults in 2008, while her debut in children's fiction came in 2012 with the Planches d'enfer series. Not only are her books full of humour and suspense, they also stand out for their resilient female characters. She is currently vice-president at Communication-Jeunesse.

1/1/1

About the author:

Carine Paquin is like a cat with nine lives — except she's living them all at the same time! She's a mother of two, an author, a theatre professor, a primary school teacher, and a lecturer, as well as being passionate about animals, cooking, nature, and travel. She has visited more than 20 countries and dreams of a world where difference is celebrated as a shared wealth. She has written more than 30 books for young readers.

Ou alors, c'était Katy notre coupable. Le meurtre par jalousse est un classique, Peut-être que cette femme s'était tous plement débarrassée de sa rivale plus jeune et plus jolie. Techniquement, ca n'aurait pas été très difficile pour elle de cacher le corps en coulisse et de cen décurrie à la fin de la soirée.

Kenny était-il réellement obsédé par Marie-Nadine, comme l'avait avancé Katy Bacon, au point de commette l'irréparable à Le meurtre obsessionnel est accide, de la la commette l'irréparable à Le meurtre obsessionnel est commette l'irréparable à Le meurtre obsessionnel est commette l'archive de la commette de la com commettee i ureparable e Le meutre conessionnel est possible, Était-il celui qui était parti avec elle es on-its and annual et unit manifolia de la conpossone. Etatest centi qui erait parti avec ette ce sott. Il ? Cele expliquerait pourquoi il avait mentionne que ca constante a constante la victime n'était pas repartie seule, Aurait-il tamené Maria Nadio l'assassiner et la jeter dans la riviere, a quesques como se rue de chez fui ? Aurait-il été assez stupide pour faire (a ? Trop facile, peut-être? Le demier témoignage

000

LE TÉMOIGNAGE DE MARCO PADILLO

PARTIE 10

Jai rencontre monsieur Fadulo dans Fun de ses clubs, Ce type d'établissement, je le vois le plus souvent atre monsieur Padillo dans l'un de ses clubs, Ce type d'établissement, je te vous se pius souvent les lumières allumées plutôt qu'en mode «boile de Allumées plutôt qu'en mode «boile de la lumières allumées plutôt qu'en mode «boile de la lumières allumées plutôt qu'en mode «boile de la lumières allumées plutôt qu'en mode »boile de la lumière de la les tumières anumées piutot qu'en moue «noute de nuit», Quandje lui al parlé de Marie-Nadine, il semblait and anument de la companya de la co mut a, Quana je nu aj pane de Marie-Aradine, il semotati à peine se souvenir de qui elle était. Une fois sa mémoire a-fa-tata. La taista de qui elle était. a peine se souvenir ac qui eue ceati, une sois sa memorie tafraichie, je lui ai annonce que la jeune fille avait été ratraienie, je iur as annonce que sa jeune suse avan eur retrouwée morte. Il a levé les yeux, soupiré et demandé pourquoi on atterrit toujours chez lui (en parlant de ses

65

NEW

All rights available

Word count: 32,000

Guilty or Not Guilty

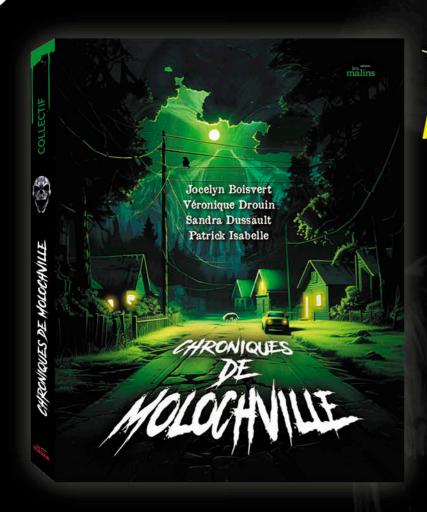

Serg Barkley has seen it all since taking up his position as an investigator in the Sûreté du Québec's Major Crime Unit—so much so that his past investigations are coming back to haunt him months or years after the fact.

This time, the case of Mana Thompson is causing Serg to lose sleep. According to her friends and family, the 15-year-old had no reason to end her life—and no one can figure out how she ended up falling into Rivière des Prairies in Montreal. Why was her body recovered after washing up on the shore near Rimbault Park, with no apparent signs of violence? What happened? And most importantly, who committed murder?

About the author:

Carine Paquin is like a cat with nine lives – except she's living them all at the same time! She's a mother of two, an author, a theatre professor, a primary school teacher, and a lecturer, as well as being passionate about animals, cooking, nature, and travel. She has visited more than 20 countries and dreams of a world where difference is celebrated as a shared wealth. She has written more than 30 books for young readers.

What is hiding in the woods of Molochville? What evil is lurking in the streets of this strange place? What is the origin of the curse that seems to be hanging over the community? If the party turns into a nightmare, who is to blame? The elders have been spreading a series of disturbing urban legends—but what if these rumours are true? The four stories you are about to read are absolutely terrifying. Even the names of the individuals concerned have been changed to respect their anonymity. Welcome to Molochville... are you brave enough to spend the night there?

About the author:

Don't tell anyone, but Jocelyn Boisvert is afraid of everything. Might as well put his fear to good use! That's why he created the "Même pas peur" series, a series of horror novels that presents its readers with delicious nightmares. When he isn't writing, Jocelyn takes long strolls on beaches of the Magdalen Islands, observes the stars, walks on his hands, tries new spicy sauces, plays board games and watches movies... horror movies, of course!

About the author

Comic books and horror movie fanatic, Véronique Drouin was a toy designer for a few years before she decided to immerse herself in writing novels. In 2017, her book The Importance of Mathilde Poisson won the Governor General's Award. She now devotes herself to her writing and drawing. She also likes to pick wild mushrooms and sometimes even read the future of her friends in tarot cards...

About the author

Patrick Isabelle was born in the early eighties, so he grew up immersed in neon clothing and funky hairstyles. He saw The Karate Kid Part II in a drive-in theater. His life took a turn when he discovered Stephen King at the elderly age of 11 and made it his goal to become the first master of the horror genre in Québec. He published his first novel in 2010 and today returns to the spooky fascinations of his teenage years, sliding into the world of horror fiction with the Anna Caritas series.

About the author:

Sandra creates stories since she was a little girl, but she never would have imagined that she would write horror novels. In 2018, her distressing novel Le programme lead her to explore this literary genre but it is only with Chronicles of Molochville that she makes her first real dive into the horror genre.

All rights available

Word count: 30,000

S I

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

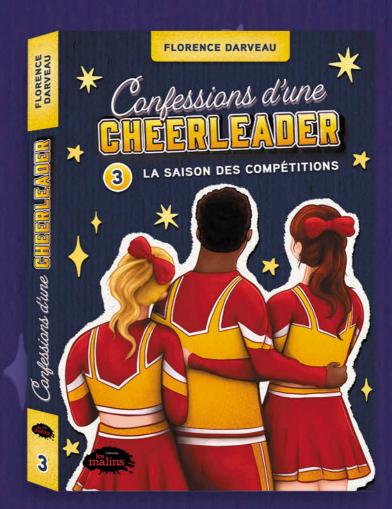

All rights available

WORD COUNT: 40,000

Confession of a cheerleader

A brand new series revolving around the popular world of competitive cheerleading!

In the first volume, Rosie, the main character of this popular series, enrolls into selection camp in the hope of joining legendary high school cheer team: the Novas. Cheerleading is a sport that requires more training than Rosie would have thought. No stereotypes are welcome in this gripping story about female athletes!

About the author:

Florence Darveau has always been a writer at heart. If she remembers correctly, her first novel was a 280 single-spaced Word pages fanfiction about Justin Bieber. Needless to say, you will never read this story. A seasoned former cheerleader, she wanted to dive back into this competitive sport which shaped her teenage years and share it with future generations.

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

All rights available

Word count: 40,000

Jeanne on TV: Season 1

Ever since she was little, 14-year-old Jeanne Leclerc has been lending her voice to movie characters as a dubbing artist. Despite her shyness, she loves her work because it allows her to act while staying out of the spotlight.

Noticing her talent, a colleague suggests that she auditions for the main role in a TV series for teenagers. Overcoming her uncertainty, she gives it a try - and lands the part. Trying her best to juggle her new acting role, her growing popularity at school, and a difficult rivalry with a colleague on set, as well as pressure from her parents and managing the image she wants to project, Jeanne discovers that the life of an actress isn't always as magical as it seems!

A new series written by the prolific and talented Valérie Fontaine taking place within the captivating world of television! Jeanne dans la télé, demystifies the ups and downs of the life of a working actor, a job coveted by many young people.

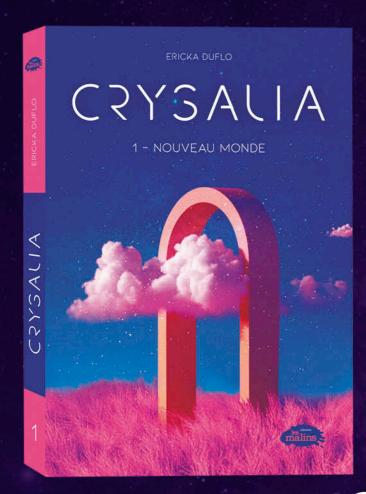

After the grueling shooting of the first season of the The Centre, Jeanne thought she would make the most of her summer. However, this is not what her agent planned for her! The young actress finds herself accumulating destabilizing casting offers that will force her to try on new roles. As for her personal life, her complicity with Elouan grows stronger every day. Throughout their meetings, she learns to cope with her friend's serious illness. However, the TV series advertising campaign puts Jeanne in the spotlight while Elouan's disease slowly fades into the background. It is a difficult contrast for the teenager to deal with...

About the author:

As a child, Valérie Fontaine dreamed of being a teacher and an author. She made her sisters play school and wrote a ton of not-very-interesting stories. Now she's grown up, she's been able to flourish in her two dream jobs – for real! At Les Malins, Valérie brings us the series Les surdouées and Ta vie de youtubeuse, as well as her latest addition, Jeanne on TV.

She was terrorized of writing a longer book with a lot of words. She decided to face her fears and join strengths with Les Malins. In addition to being a teacher and preparing educational activities, she is now proud to add "novel writer" to her list of passions.

All rights available

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

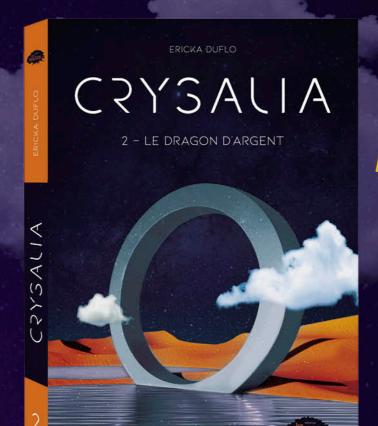

Word count: 35,000

Crysalia, book 1: New World

Wevon is missing. His two best friends, Samery and Solayra, although they are used to the devilish tricks their friend plays on them, realize that this time, it could be serious.

Could his disappearance be related to the secret room he kept talking about? What if he has really been sent to another world?

It doesn't take more for Samery and Solayra to embark on an adventure to find their Wevon, without even knowing their destination. They quickly understand that they have an important mission to accomplish in this New World; this planet called Earth...

Crysalia, book 2: Silver dragon

As Solayra, Samery and Kheri embark for another journey, their friend Wevon is still nowhere to be found. Their meeting with Johnny, a member of the Shasta community, will be critical—they'll meet new people, get some answers, but also deal with new drama. With his help, they try to fit into this new world. There, everything is different: the lifestyle, the food, the clothes, everything. They are given an extremely important mission. Many lives depend on them, the future of this world is in their hands . . . Will they rise to the challenge?

About the author:

Born in Guadeloupe, Ericka Duflo has always been intrigued by mythology, tales and legends. It is therefore quite natural that this lover of fantasy began writing. She is the author of Métamorphose, Évanescence and Rym.

All other rights available

Word count: 50,000

The Blue Tigers is a fantasy adventure series water while hordes of bandits travel the land and descendants of the Blue Tigers live among the

- · A war-torn universe populated by fantastic creatures
- · Fight scenes and martial arts
 - · Of interest to girls and boys alike
- The conclusion of the series

Yves Trottier studied political science and holds a

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

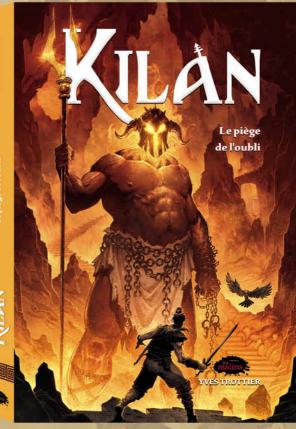

Word count: 45,000

Kilan is an action-packed fantasy series that will tantalize fantasy fans and adventure-lovers alike!

Kilan is a young god with a fiery temperament. Born out of a fight between the goddesses Athena and Lyssa, he is banished from Olympus by Zeus, who fears that Kilan's hot-headed nature will threaten the peace of his kingdom. Kilan is forced to wander the Earth with nothing to guide him but the gifts of his two mothers: a sword that only he can lift, and the wise words of Minerva the owl.

Torn between impulse and wisdom, he must battle the forces of chaos—both within himself, and out in the world; only then will he regain his place on the mountain of the gods.

THE FINAL BOOK!

About the author:

Yves Trottier studied political science and holds a Master degree in philosophy. He wrote his thesis on the concept of violence in Albert Camus' work. He has published numerous books and Kilan is his second fantasy book series

TA VIE DE YOUTUBEUSE

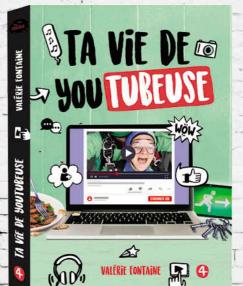

UR CHANNEL YOUR CHOICES GAME BOOK

Rights sold in

VALÉRIE FONTAINE

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

Word count: 45,000

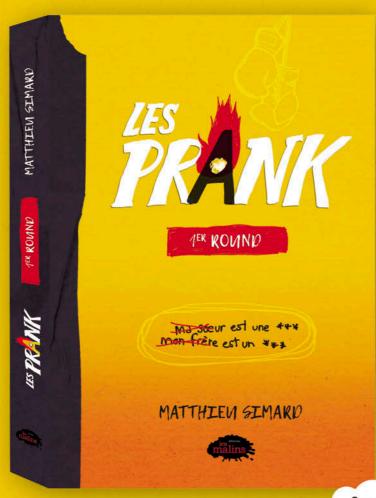

Which teenager hasn't dreamed of being a YouTube star with millions of fans and followers?

This series gives the opportunity to do so! In this series of which the reader is the hero, they will start their own YouTube channel and will have to make choices that will have more or less impact on the popularity of their channel also on their private life. They will also have to think about what they are willing to do to become famous: would they lie to their parents or make fun of their best friend? They can choose any way they want, but every choice will have consequences!

About the author:

Valérie Fontaine has already published more than twenty illustrated books and short novels for kids. She was terrorized of writing a longer book with a lot of words. She decided to face her fears and join strengths with Les Malins. In addition to being a teacher and preparing educational activities, she is now proud to add "novel writer" to her list of passions.

All rights available

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

Word count: 50,000

The Pranks: Round One

Welcome to the Prank family!

When I was born, my sister broke one of my fingers. Crack! Just like that, no shame. Ever since, we've been at war. It's a war of hair cut while she slept, wool sweaters in the dryer, Tabasco sauce in ice cream...

If I'd known my brother would be so annoying, I would've broken more than one of his fingers. Never mind, I've made up for it since. Fourteen years of war: mistakes added to his homework, holes torn in his pockets, mustard in his toothpaste...

Everything was going fine. I was enjoying making my sister suffer. But then she had some serious bad luck, and it ended up on YouTube.

Now, we've become an online sensation, for all the wrong reasons.

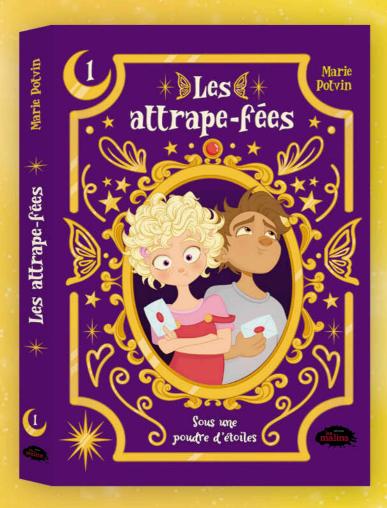

Even worse, it means that we'll have to help each other out. Bleugh. I mean, seriously bleugh.

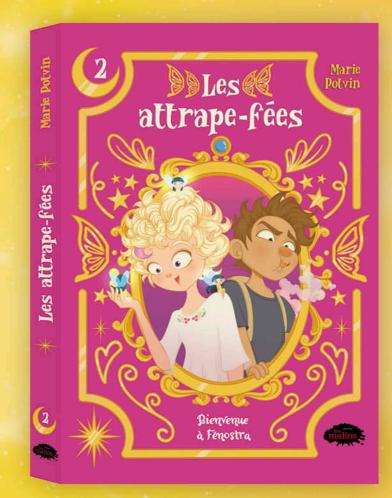

About the author:

Matthieu Simard is a well-known author and scriptwriter. He is the author of Ça sent la coupe, the book later adapted into a film by Patrice Sauvé. He has also written several novels, including a series for young readers, Pavel, for which he was a finalist for the Governor General's Literary Award in 2009. His recent publications include Les écrivements and Une fille pas trop poussiéreuse. With The Pranks, he makes a long-awaited return to children's fiction

EARLY READING SERIES

All rights available

Word count: 11,000

Les attrape-fées

The life of Jade and Nathaniel is turned upside down when a mysterious correspondence reveals they have powers! They are summoned to a meeting in the fairy world to determine whether or not they are worthy of keeping their abilities. They'll try, by all possible means, to use their alleged powers, in vain. Was it a bad joke or do our two friends truly have powers?

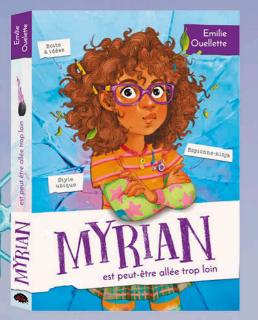

About the author:

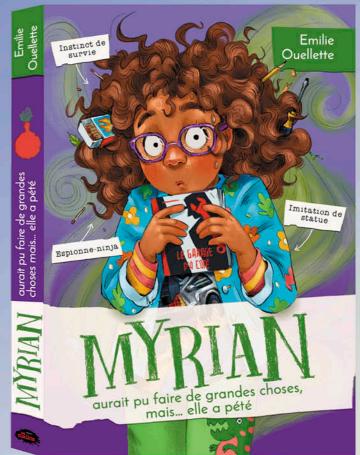

Marie Potvin is well known in Quebec for her bestselling series Les filles modèles and Zoélie l'allumette. She likes to write stories with a lot of love, drama and strong female characters.

MYRIAN

All rights available

Word count: 20,000

Myrian might have pushed it too far...

What the...?» These are the first words that pop into Myrian's head. A chance, because every time she says them aloud without doing it on purpose, she risks punishment for life! But there, after a whole life (8 years) living in a family that forgets her half the time (she is the middle child) and with parents who act as if nothing had happened (while she's convinced she was adopted), she didn't think she could sink any lower. She finds herself having to play hockey in the schoolyard in front of everyone looking at her while she is ultra-rotten. Could her life be worse? Impossible!

Partie Company Company

About the author:

Emilie Ouellette loves shaming the people she loves, eating candy and dancing in the middle of a store if she likes the tune. You never know what adventure awaits you when she is there. Graduate of the National School of Humor, she manages to be serious only if she has to. She writes everything that comes to mind and she does nonsense on TikTok.

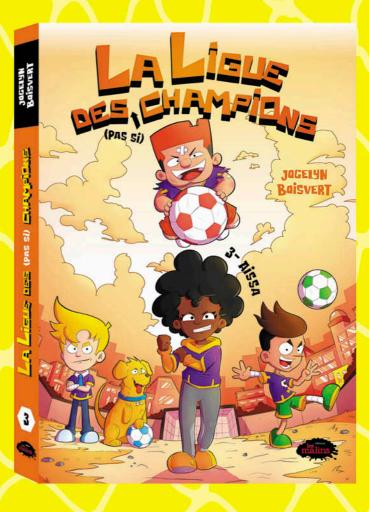

Word count: 18,000

The (not so good) league of champions, book 1: Basile

Basile's family moved to the big city so that he could study the piano in a prestigious music school. But the plans (and life!) of the virtuoso are annihilated by a terrible accident in which he loses his right arm.

Devastated, Basile doesn't know how he can fill the huge void created by the absence of the piano in his life... Until he finds himself in the middle of a soccer game in the park near his new home. No need to have both arms to kick a ball!

Basile discovers a new passion and swaps his scores for soccer cleats. And he makes friends too: Aïssa, Enzo and Miguel. Together, they go through highs and lows, victories and failures. Will Basile and his mates succeed in joining their local soccer league?

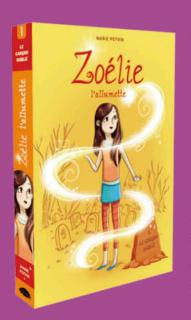

About the author:

Zoélie 1'allumette

- French France, Belgium, Switzerland and the Netherland
- Dutch Belgium and the Netherlands

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

All other rights available

Word count: 11,000

OVER 215,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC AND EUROPE!

Zoélie is a fantasy series for young readers. Written in large letters, this series gives novice readers the opportunity to read their first "grown-up" novels!

Zoélie is nicknamed "The Match" by Baptiste and his group of friends. They continually tease her until one day, after taking refuge in the village cemetery, she meets Cleopold, who will turn out to be a ghost! With her new friend, she will learn the power of friendship and will have to fight the evil witch Malvina.

A captivating series which draws on themes of friendship, family, resilience, believing in magic,

NEW

Zoélie

The adaptation in comic books is now available!

About the author:

Marie Potvin is well known in Quebec for her bestselling series Les filles modèles and Zoélie l'allumette. She likes to write stories with a lot of love, drama and strong female characters.

CHARLOTTE OUI ZOZOTE

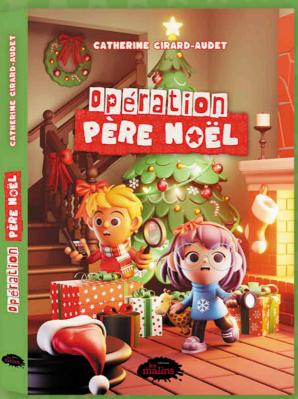

Word count: 18,000

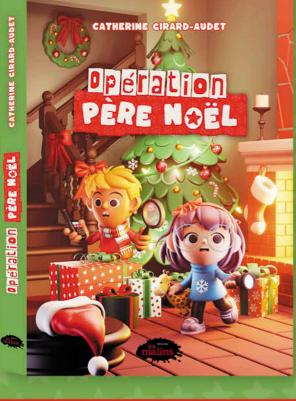

Charlotte is a curious and creative little girl. With her overflowing imagination, Charlotte tries so save her village, St-Merlin, from of all manners of threats. Whether it's a vampire who roams the local cemetery or a dragon living in madame l'Écuyer's barn, Charlotte tries to solve each exciting investigation she comes across, accompanied by Watson, her trusty detective hat and Alexandre, her secret best friend.

Mélodie Heuser seems calm and collected, but she's a real firecracker! A warrior of modern times and fighter of injustices, she loves comparing herself to Mulan and Hermione, whom she admires for their passion and courage. When she was younger, Mélodie dreamed of becoming a vampire hunter, the first woman Musketeer or a great witch. Or all three at the same time. Mélodie is now a Pokémon trainer, a crazy cat lady and the co-founder of three companies.

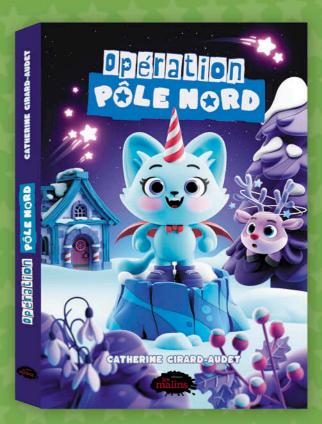

Operation North Pole

When Margaux realizes that the Christmas elf hasn't come to play tricks either at her house or at her friends', she figures that something isn't quite right. The surprising objects she finds in the woods behind her house confirm her doubts: the Christmas Eve festivities are in danger! These clues are surely the key to the mystery, and Margaux will have to follow them to save her favourite party of the year. Her mission is to convince Maël, her cousin and neighbour, that Santa Claus exists and that he needs their help!

All rights available

Word count: 12,000

Operation North Pole

As cousins Margaux and Maël are impatiently awaiting their family's Christmas Eve celebration, including an array of delicious baked goods and gifts under the tree, Farfouille the elf informs them that a terrible curse has befallen the North Pole: the snow is melting as far as the eye can see, the other elves have lost their sense of fun and are grumbling non-stop, the reindeer are refusing to budge—and Santa Claus has changed beyond recognition!

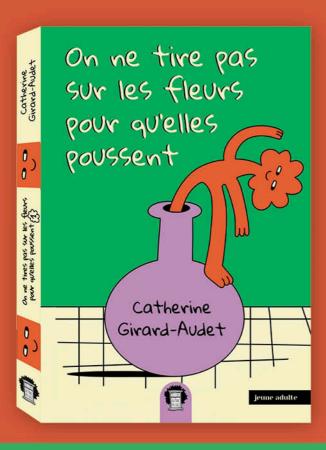

The two cousins have no choice: they must travel to the North Pole, investigate what's going on and try to save Christmas—before it's too late!

About the author:

Catherine Girard-Audet is a very popular writer, known for her bestselling series, The Complicated Life of Lea Olivier, and ABC des filles, an annual guide for young girls published since 2008. She has 12.8k followers on Instagram and over 57k followers on Facebook.

YOUNG ADULT

All rights available

Word count: 30,000

OVER 6,000 COPIES OF THE BOOK HAVE BEEN SOLD IN 5 MONTHS!

Juliette has always done what was expected of her. She finished high school with honours, quickly completed her CEGEP in two years and was admitted to university in a program of choice. But, at the dawn of her second year of college, Juliette doubts herself for the first time in her life. Surrounded by her friends, she embarks on a quest for identity marked with pitfalls, surprises, crazy nights out, really weird dates and unexpected projects...

After 10 years of writing about the many adventures of Léa Olivier, Catherine Girard-Audet wanted to meet a more mature audience. It's with great pleasure that she presents the first book of her new young adult series! Let's bet that her early fans, who are now in their twenties, will have great pleasure in reconnecting with their childhood favourite author's witty and perky style!

About the author:

Born in Quebec City, Catherine Girard-Audet is a McGill University (Literature) and Concordia University (Translation) alumna. She made her mark in the world publishing industry by creating the popular ABC des filles in 2008, a guide for teenage girls who quickly became a must-read. In 2012, she published the first volume of the series La vie compliquée de Léa Olivier, which has been a worldwide success. She can also add one more string to her bow now that her Léa Olivier novels have been adapted for TV.

All rights available

Word count: 40,000

I would like to know how long it takes to die if we stop breathing. And if we can really die that way. I also wonder how many people are currently watching the picture of my butt on the Internet right now.

As she enters adulthood, Lara realizes that she has no hobbies and has no passion to channel her energy. Between her long-time friends who are more and more distant, rumors circulating about her, overly confident boys, parties that end up going south, her difficulty to stand up for herself and the impossibility to get used to all the changes going on in her life right now, Lara cannot help but think back to what her mother said to her: "You're a woman Lara, and that's something." Lara is beginning to understand that it's not always fun and games.

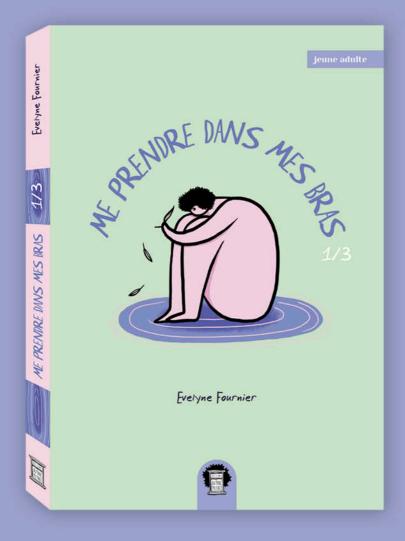

About the author:

Florence Darveau is not an activist, she still wears bras and loves pink. On the other hand, she rigorously uses her right to vote, forces her boyfriend to do as much housework as she does, and keeps an eye out for the demands of women around her. Through all this, she always wondered how she could be a feminist while remaining herself. What could be better for an author than to write in order to find answers to her questions? That's how this new series was horn.

Word count: 22,000

Gangly and solitary, Alex tends to hide behind his electric guitar or pour out his emotions into his diary. He spends much of his time down in the basement with... a bunch of puppets! He owes this original lifestyle choice (to say the least) to his mother Camille, a passionate puppeteer. Despite their differences, Alex will have to step up and care for Camille when cancer comes knocking at her door.

In the run-up to high school graduation, Alex also has to grapple with his (almost non-existent) social life, his last (and highly infuriating) courses and the return of his absent (and extremely difficult) father. Will he crumble under the weight of it all?

About the author:

Evelyne Fournier has always worked in various spheres of creation. Initially an actress and puppeteer for several shows, she discovered her writing style in her mid-thirties. In her spare time, Evelyne likes gardening, rides her bike and spies on her three children.

parcenface.ca

All rights available

Word count: 65,000

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

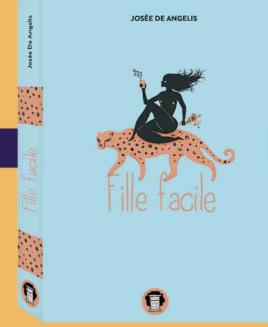

All rights available

Word count: 50,000

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

Max just wants to finish high school while keeping a low profile and his nose clean. But when a new student comes along, as handsome as he is friendly, the butterflies in his stomach shoot that plan to smithereens.

Nic thought he'd come to Montreal for his last year of high school to get away from the drama of his break-up with Jennifer. He hadn't anticipated falling head over heels for someone else, and that person being a guy.

But you can't fight the chemistry between two people or whatever explosion it might create!

A story about two young people falling in love in high school who just happen to both be guys, with everything that sitting on the cusp of adulthood entails: dealing with others' opinions and judgments and forming their own, the importance of friendship and communication and, above all, love in its purest form.

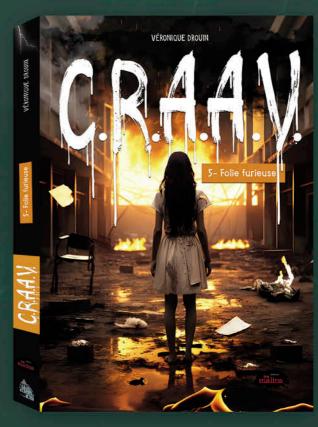

Jeanne loves sex and she doesn't hide it. It's not that she minds being called an easy girl, but let's just say it doesn't attract friendships. When she's paired up with Félix to work on a history project as homework, he remains distant and cold. Jeanne then surprises him with a proposal that's a little risky. They then step into slippery grounds. Sometimes, when certain actions have serious consequences, there is no turning back.

About the author:

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

Word count: 55,000

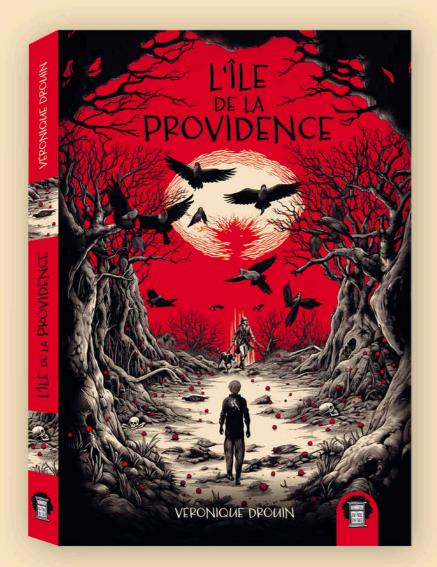

When her parents decide to send her to the CRAAV (Rehabilitation Center for Anxious and Vulnerable Adolescents) for the summer to treat her chronic anxiety, Marion finds herself in intensive therapy on an island, along with other troubled young people.

One evening, a sudden thunderstorm caused a general blackout. The next day, while Marion is walking on the beach littered with trash carried by the violent tide, she finds an alive shipwrecked girl. She brings her back to the institute and this is where unexplained phenomena start to multiply.

About the author:

Comic books and horror movie fanatic, Véronique Drouin was a toy designer for a few years before she decided to immerse herself in writing novels. In 2017, her book The Importance of Mathilde Poisson won the Governor General's Award. She now devotes herself to her writing and drawing. She also likes to pick wild mushrooms and sometimes even read the future of her friends in tarot cards...

Word count: 11,000

Providence Island

Vincent lives in the Centre, a home of last resort for juvenile delinquents. In the eyes of many, his destiny seems bleak, even though he only longs to stand on his own two feet. Amid long and painful therapy and tutoring sessions, Vincent is eagerly awaiting an excursion with his Boy Scout troop—his only fleeting chance to escape his day-to-day life. The day finally comes! But when his troop is asked to assist with a pheasant hunt on a private island, Vincent is torn between enthusiasm and scepticism. Something is not quite right... Who are these fabulously wealthy people and why are they asking a group of disadvantaged kids to help them? His questions will be answered soon enough, once the pheasants have been released... May the hunt begin!

About the author:

Comic books and horror movie fanatic, Véronique Drouin was a toy designer for a few years before she decided to immerse herself in writing novels. In 2017, her book The Importance of Mathilde Poisson won the Governor General's Award. She now devotes herself to her writing and drawing. She also likes to pick wild mushrooms and sometimes even read the future of her friends in tarot cards...

109

MÉTAMORPHOSE

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

Word count: 65,000

Senna is sixteen and has lived with her father in Ian, a mysterious and attractive guy and her life Texas since her mother died. She seems to have a normal teen life, going to school, spending time with friends, going to parties. But Senna is different, she can feel it. And a painful mark is growing on her back. Her relationship with her father is deteriorating and her disruptive behavior finally forces him to send her to a boarding school in Alaska. There she will meet will change forever.

- A high concept fantasy plot
- A world full of mythological creatures
- Based on Greek mythology
- 5 volumes

About the author:

Ericka Duflo is a writer from Guadeloupe. Metamorphosis is her first series.

COMIC BOOKS

THE COMPLICATED LIFE OF Lea Olivier

Rights sold in

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

The adaptation of the popular series as comic books has been made possible by a collaboration between our Belgian partner Kennes editions and two talented comic book artists Alcante and Ludo Borecki. Since the launch of the first volume in 2015, more than 200 000 copies have been sold in Canada and in Belgium.

About the author:

Alcante, pen name of Didier Swysen, is a Belgian comics writer, best known for his series Pandora Box and Jason Brice. Alcante was studying economic sciences and doing academic research when he won a comics writing contest sponsored by the publisher Dupuis in 1995. The winning story was published in Spirou magazine. It took another seven years before he started publishing short stories there. He never stopped to write since then. He's also the author of a spin-off album from the popular series XIII Mystery featuring Colonel Amos, with artwork by François Boucq.

About the illustrator:

At the age of 15, Ludo Borecki enrolled at the Hainaut School of the Arts in Belgium. Upon finishing his studies, he entered the studio Peyo in 1994. There, he completed an internship under the watchful eye of Alain Maury, whom he helped with the drawing of the seventeenth album of Johan & Pirlouit, The Rose of the Sands. After having worked on the Smurf albums and having drawn about fifty short stories for the magazine Smurf, he worked with Pascal Garray to complete the drawing for album no. 21 Can't smurf Progress, and signed the drawing of The Reporter Smurf, published in 2003.

• French - France, Belgium and Switzerland

All other rights available

This comic book series resulted from a collaboration between the author Daniel Brouillette and two renowned Belgian comic artists Alcante and Steven Dupré.

Benoit-Olivier is the oldest, tallest and silliest boy in his school. He also has the most original nickname. Life is hard with his 6th grade teacher, a specialist in bad moods, boring dictations and detentions. But the holidays are finally here. If his parents could give him the gift he most desires and if beautiful Maxim could finally decide to go out with him, he would be the happiest teenager in the world!

About the author:

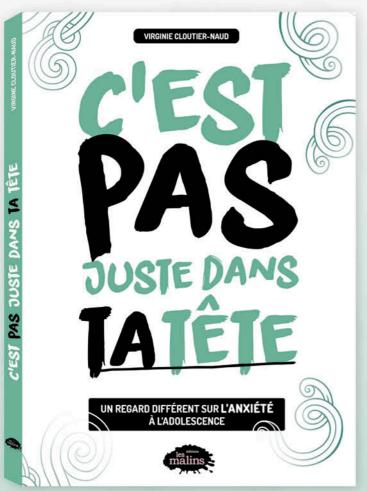

Alcante, pen name of Didier Swysen, is a Belgian comics writer, best known for his series Pandora Box and Jason Brice. Alcante was studying economic sciences and doing academic research when he won a comics writing contest sponsored by the publisher Dupuis in 1995. The winning story was published in Spirou magazine. It took another seven years before he published further short stories in Spirou. Since then, he has never stopped writing. He's also the author of a spin-off album from the popular series XIII Mystery featuring Colonel Amos.

About the illustrator:

Steven Dupré is a Belgian comic book illustrator. After studying visual art, he became a professional cartoonist at the age of 19. He's the illustrator of many series such as Coma (Glénat), Pandora Box (Dupuis), and Kaamelott (Casterman). He started to work with Daniel and Alcante on the Bine series in 2015.

NONFICTION

It's Not Just in Your Head: A Different Perspective on Anxiety in Adolescence

Does the term "anxiety" ring a bell? If you've never heard of it, it's because you live in a cave! Everyone experiences anxiety on a regular basis, to a greater or lesser extent. It's just a part of life. So why do we keep hearing about the anxiety epidemic in young people if this is a normal state? How can this anxiety be managed? When should you worry about your mental health? What are the positive sides of anxiety (because yes, there are positive aspects)? That's what this book explores in simple terms, with just the right dose of humour. Performance anxiety, social anxiety, eco-anxiety, anxiety disorders, introversion and extroversion, fear of missing out on life, emotions, artistic creativity, physical activity... Designed to teach you how to better manage your anxiety in our fast-paced world, this guide addresses all the topics that affect you on a daily basis along with the solutions that are within your reach.

Word count: 65,000

About the author:

Virginie Naud-Cloutier is an author and professional musician with degrees in communication and in classical music performance from the Université de Montréal, as well as a degree in comedy writing from the École nationale de l'humour. For nearly 15 years, she has worked as a journalist and writer for a wide range of magazines and has also written children's books. Virginie divides her time between writing, musical composition, and teaching piano.

Her gift for making the toughest of subjects both accessible and approachable makes her the perfect author for this book, designed to guide teenage girls through the maze of puberty and on their way to adulthood.

MASTURBATION WON'T MAKE YOU GO BLIND!

CUTORIS IS NOT THE NAME OF A PLANET!

Why should puberty and sexuality be such sensitive, serious subjects?

Finally, a book written with a sense of humour, for guys... by a guy!

Based on his experience, research, and advice from parents and teachers, Daniel tries to answer all the questions that guys ask themselves on a daily basis. Whether they're just heading into puberty or already wading through its midst, readers will find a goldmine of useful and entertaining information, all validated by a doctor and clinical nurse working in schools.

Through the author's light-hearted approach and his ability to dive deep into the many aspects of adolescence, this book will be sure to help parents start (and continue) important conversations with their teenagers.

The author has big dreams for this book: that it will become THE essential title that all parents buy and all teenagers want to read.

Around what age do girls start their periods? Why do we get spots? What are the most common complexes? Is it normal to have mood swings all the time? Does it hurt the first time you have sex? Do girls masturbate? Should you shave everywhere? What's sexting? What different sexual orientations are there? What if you've never even heard of an STI? Is Shawn Mendes

These are just some of the questions that this guide attempts to answer, with a light touch. Because with all the off-limits subjects that are explored in this book, a little laughter goes a long way!

After the huge success of Masturbation Won't Make You Go Deaf, Daniel Brouillette goes all-in with this version for girls. Joined by his long-time friend author Virginie C. Naud, along with a doctor and a gynaecologist (because we weren't going to let him do this one alone!), he dives head-first into the project... and comes out a little wiser!

With tact and humour, Virginie and Daniel try to answer all the questions that girls might have on puberty and sexuality. This book is a goldmine of useful information, all validated by health professionals.

Through the authors' light-hearted approach and their ability to dive deep into the many aspects of adolescence, this book will be sure to help parents start a healthy conversation.

All rights available

Word count: 65,000

About the author:

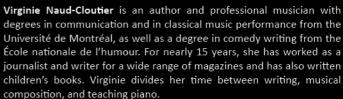

Daniel Brouillette spent many years teaching primary-school students. Now a full-time author, he splits his time between writing and school visits, where he gives talks and workshops. Young readers will know him for his humorous series Bine, as well as for Mon gros livre épais and La masturbation ne rend pas sourd (Masturbation Won't Make You Go Deaf). Who better to turn a serious subject into a fun read?

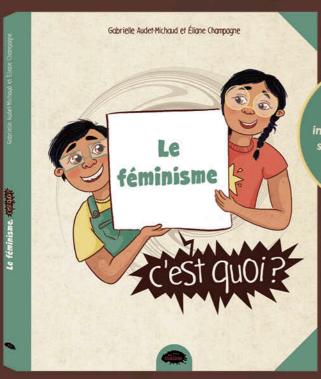

All rights available

Word count: 65,000

About the author:

Her gift for making the toughest of subjects both accessible and approachable makes her the perfect author for this book, designed to guide teenage girls through the maze of puberty and on their way to

A new illustrated series that delves into serious topics in simple and playful ways!

All rights available

Word count: 1,400

Discover the different gender equality issues through the simple words of Anaïs and Sam. Learn to deconstruct sexist prejudice and understand the importance of feminist activism.

About the author:

Gabrielle Audet-Michaud is very passionate (too passionate?) about things: trips, the outdoors, school, her green houseplants, and many more. Sensitive to injustice, she completed her training in journalism with a specialization in feminist studies. She is now trying to complete her master's degree in creative writing, but often pauses to play guitar, water her plants and . . . write books!

Word count: 1,400

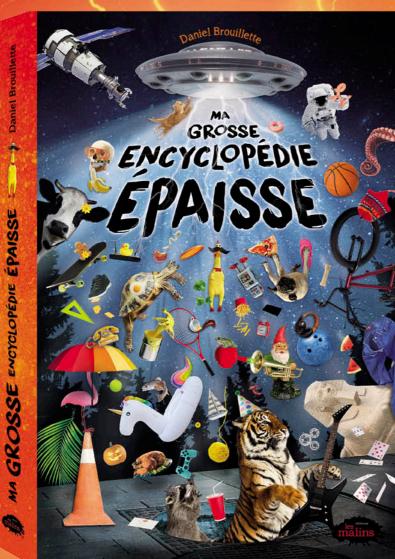

All rights available

Discover significant events in the history of racism through the simple words of Rose and Nico. Learn to identify different forms of racism that still exist today and learn how to become better allies!

About the illustrator:

Éliane Champagne works at Éditions les Malins as a junior graphic designer. Half-woman, half-rainbow, this artist with overflowing creativity can't help but lend her colors and her talent to picture books and text-led books for children with a few magic tricks on InDesign.

DES HOMMES PAS MAL
S FORTS QUE TON PÈRE

Of the second of the part of the part of the second of the part of the second of the part of th est l'homme fort québlécois le plus mans ty le devines crec aphoto en cu. il a véez l'y a rès longiangs. Il est 912, il y a plus de 100 consocré en 912, il y a plus de 100 consocré en hique qu'un film hi a étà consocré en in Cyr. l'homme le plus consocré en consocré en consocré en plus de 100 consocré de pour l'accept de l'accept. Assoine est man de doute l'accept. Assoine est ma d'oute l'accept. Assoine anchoit de Louis Cyri anchoit de Louis Cyri .

CYR

ARNOLD SCHMisse liphic council de tout les temps.

Arnold sels culturios le plus council de tout les temps.

Arnold sels culturios de l'accident sels l'accident de president de president les contests. 1970 sel desput de president de president les contests. Per les valies, il deroction ches que de condours. Per les valies, il deroction ches que qu'en le condident de la message de l'accident d more la Documento de la Companya del Companya de la Companya del Companya de la Companya del Companya del Companya de la Companya de la Companya del Com

ANTOPIES PARTORIES PARTORI

He's back with a new encyclopedia for youth which is just as hilarious as his other books!

This book explores false beliefs, myths, urban legends, amazing and unusual facts and expressions from our colourful language. It's simple: after reading this book, you'll be five times smarter! You'll be able to drive your whole family crazy with all your new fun facts during your car rides.

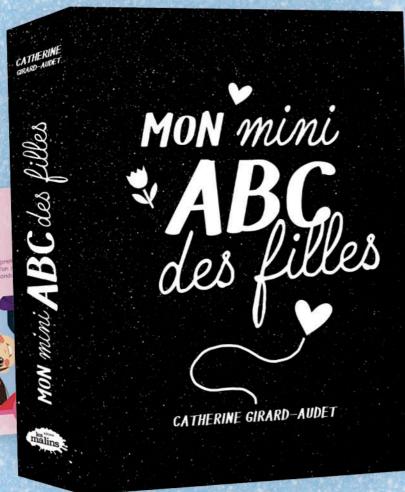

All rights available

About the author:

Daniel Brouillette was once an elementary school teacher but, tired of correcting student tests, he decided to go for a career in humorous writing and studied at the École nationale de l'humour.

Word count: 35,000

OVER 30,000 COPIES OF THE SERIES SOLD IN QUEBEC!

Word count: 85,000

OVER 12,000 COPIES OF THE BOOK SOLD IN 1 MONTH!

Jean Leloup: Great moments of lucidity

A unique figure in the musical history of Quebec, it was high time that an opus as great of his greatness be dedicated to him. Des grands instants de lucidité is an incursion into the heart of the discography of Leloup, the most influential and irreverent of our singer-songwriters of the last four decades. By tracing the history of each of his albums – from their genesis to their impact on the Quebec music scene – Olivier Boisvert-Magnen gives voice to some sixty artists and personalities who have worked closely with Leloup or who have greatly been influenced by his music. The result is a portrait that aims to be as faithful as possible to Leloup's work, that is to say with as many flashes of genius as improbable reversals – and as many incomprehensible delusions as great moments of lucidity.

About the author:

Graduate in communication and journalism from Université de Montréal, Olivier Boisvert-Magnen has made his mark as a freelance journalist (Urbania, SOCAN, Quebecor), host at CISM, music columnist at ICI Première and cultural journalist for the magazine Voir, where he was employed from 2013 to 2020. He is currently a researcher and columnist at ICI Musique, and co-host of the podcast D'où je viens: le rap d'ici, broadcast on Radio-Canada OHdio.

NOUVELLES D'HUMANITAIRES

All rights available

Word count: 54,000

Each year, tens of thousands of humanitarian workers are deployed worldwide to help civilians during conflicts or natural disasters. For most of them working as a humanitarian aid worker is more than a job, it's a mission and a passion.

Why would someone choose to become a humanitarian worker? Who are those men and women travelling the world to help other people in the most dangerous place on Earth? What are their stories? What their everyday life looks like?

Nouvelles d'humanitaires will help you discover the world of those men and women as well as the difficulties of a job that is never just a job. In the two volumes, more than twenty humanitarian workers accepted to share some of their stories and to walk us through the issues they're facing, during their mission as well as when they return home.

Nicolas Bergerer Midean psychiatro Président de Mideans du Mendo Canada. 2006-2020

Lemod vers une carrière humanitaire ou une nouveille mission amène irriemédiablement son lot d'émotions intenses: excitation à l'idée dun rendez-vous avec l'histoire, exaltation devant la perspective du me flambée disdérailles, euphosite de la découverte d'une culture incontuse, doute sur sex capacités, angolese vich-sis des dangers et sousié à peopos de la séparation d'avec ses proches. L'expérience - pour les acteurs humanitaires equatriès – ne peut pas être complète sans une fin de mission et danc un retour chez sol. Cest l'expérience de ce recour et des veyles des missions qui est plus spécifiquement évoquée et discutée dans ce record.

Tous les humanitaires vivent pleinement leur choix de l'écil, leur marginalisation, les épreuves rencourrées, puis leur réintégration, curemt pénible, dans leur groupe social d'origine. Toutes ces éxpes de l'expérience humanitaire revêtent les caractéristiques des rituels initiatiques et des rites de passage. Les portes sont grandes ouvertes, mais peu

· Les cicatrices

permanentes

About the author:

François Audet is the director of the Montreal Institute of International Studies and the founder of the Canadian Observatory on Crises and Humanitarian Action (OCCAH). He worked for more than 15 years in the humanitarian field before beginning his academic career. He regularly works with the media to analyze and discuss contemporary humanitarian issues.

LE PHARMACHIEN

The Pharmafist

Rights sold in

• French - France

Word count: 20,000

This book is a declaration of war against bad attitudes and bad habits when it comes to health — like if you think that it's your doctor's role to take care of your health (and not you), or if you think that plants and alternative medicine are the answer to all your ills.

About the author:

Olivier Bernard, a pharmacist by profession, is famous in Quebec for his blog Le Pharmachien, "the impertinent blog that simplifies science and annihilates pseudoscience." He has also 250,000 fans on Facebook : facebook.com/lePharmachien

ADULT

Hormones suck!

Rights sold in

• French - France

All other rights available

Word count: 47,000

Good old female hormones. We love them and we hate them. We wish they'd keep a low profile, but they insist on taking centre stage. How many of us have a complex relationship with our hormones or suffer in silence with our menstrual cycle, severe PMS, fertility (or lack of it), pregnancy (or lack of it), the pre-menopause, etc.? How many of us have asked ourselves if we're just too sensitive or delicate, or if we're going crazy? The subject of female hormones is so rarely talked about, it's practically taboo.

Now's the time to start an open discussion – no judgment, no filter, no need to pretend.

The author of this book, Sarah Rodrigue, was diagnosed very late with extreme premenstrual syndrome (premenstrual dysphoric disorder). Now, she wants to raise awareness and give hope to those who, like her, suffer from a feeling of "why do I feel so crazy-sad-desperate-bloated-anxious-menopausal-useless-done with this-starving-spotty" because of their hormones – not to mention those who just want to feel less alone as women or as mothers.

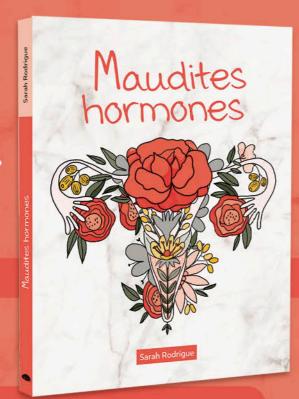

About the author:

Following her training as a political commentator, Sarah Rodrigue switched paths and became an event coordinator. For several years now, she has also been an author, writing for women who need a spark of inspiration.

She lives in Magog with her partner, their wonderful daughter, and a cat called Cloud.

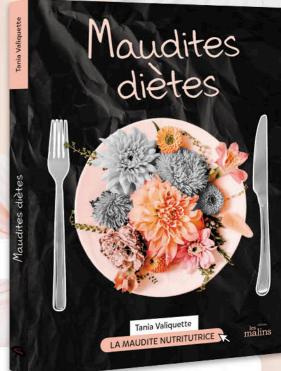

Diets suck!

All rights available

Word count: 42,000

Diets Suck!

Weight. The famous weight! A large part of our lives revolve around, without even being necessarily aware of it.

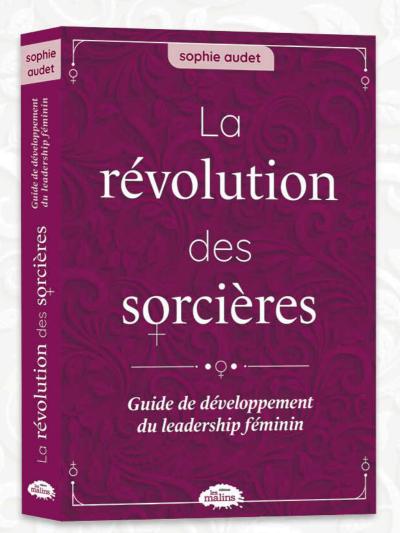

Have you tried to control what you ate to not gain weight today? Have you done physical exercices to burn calories? Most likely yes! After all, a good person must "pay attention", right? This is what hundreds of years of diet culture and ever more demanding ideals of beauty want us to believe: that slimness brings happiness and health.

But does being slim really solve all our problems? Is it enough to eat less and move more to sculpt our body according to our desires? Here you will find answers to these questions in this book where the author makes the concepts of the anti-diet approach and intuitive eating accessible, through her humor, her outspokenness and her not always conventional opinions. Are you ready to question hundreds of years of reign of slimness?

About the author:

Tania Valiquette a.k.a La Maudite Nutritutrice / The Cursed Nutri-Teacher, is a dietician-nutritionist, entrepreneur and a communication enthusiast. But she is first and foremost a woman who wants to help her sisters feel good about themselves. On her blog and social networks, she demystifies serious subjects without taking herself seriously. She also left behind her white lab coat, after ten years of private consultations, to fight on a daily basis, first on radio and on the web, and now with this book, this formidable enemy: the diet culture.

The Witches' Revolution: The Guide to Women's Leadership

What would the world be like if, in recent centuries, the public domain had been shaped by women?

We might be more qualified than our male counterparts, but women still don't occupy the higher decision-making roles. What's more worrying is that, at the current rate of progress, true equality won't be achieved for decades yet... Sophie Audet, a professional coach specialized in developing women's leadership, believes women need to be better equipped to overcome obstacles that continue to stand in their way.

The Witches' Revolution is split into 36 themes, which readers can explore in any order according to their own needs and interests. The book includes practical tools to help readers not only get to know themselves better, but also break down barriers preventing them from being their best selves at work. A range of exercises helps readers transform their learning into action, achieve better career satisfaction, take their leadership to the next level, and inspire others to walk in their footsteps.

All rights available

Sample English translation available for the first 3 chapters.

Word count: 75,000

About the author:

Previously a lawyer and a manager at top levels of corporate firms, Sophie Audet made a major career change in 2013, when she started her own company. For Sophie, it was a small revolution that has allowed her to support over a thousand women from all walks of life to overcome the barriers holding them back. A professional coach certified by the International Coaching Federation and by the Co-Active Training Institute in San Francisco, as well as a facilitator, lecturer, and author, Sophie shares her experience of an atypical career with humility and enthusiasm. Here, she provides essential tools that will allow all women to become the 2.0 version of themselves.

Follow us on Instagram! les_editions_les_malins

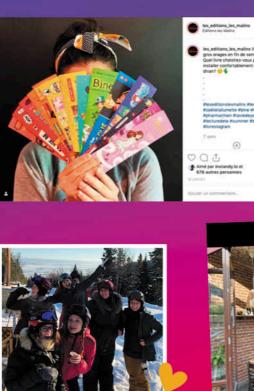

Follow us on Facebook!

facebook.com/Lesmalins

Tall and 45
PINALISTE PRIX JEUNESSE DES UNIVERS PARALLELES 2021: Une
PINALISTE PRIX JEUNESSE DES UNIVERS PARALLELES 2021: Une
PINALISTE PRIX JEUNESSE DES UNIVERS PARALLELES 2021: Blaues, Véroriques paralleles explais
paralleles expl

FINALIST

malins

Éditions les Malins

GAMER - Le livre

Follow us on TikTok! tiktok.com/@editionslesmalins

D 4531

editionslesmalins

editions_les_malins

S'abonner

43 Abonnements 2099 Abonnés 28.5K J'aime

■Notre site web

www.lesmalins.ca

A aimé

Louis tout croche, en li...

L'évolution de Léa

Prépare une commande!

CONCOURS

1. Abonne-toi à notre

compte TikTok

identifiant deux amis qui voudraient gagner

INFOS

514-526-7203

info@lesmalins.ca

www.lesmalins.ca

4223 rue Chapleau, Montréal, (Québec) H2H 2K7

CONTACT

Mathilde Pineau-Valencienne

mathilde@tilly-ink.com

