Informed Consent for Electronic Communication

It is strongly encouraged that matters of concern be discussed during therapy sessions. However, there are times in which a client may elect to utilize email/electronic communication. Please be advised that use of email communication has risks regarding protection of your private health care information. Risks of using email/text include, but are not limited to:

- Communication can be intercepted by someone who is not the intended recipient and can be stored and/or printed
- Your identity can be determined from knowing your email/electronic communication address.
- Receipt of email/electronic communication sometimes are not noticed and are not responded to in a timely manner.
- Can be circulated, forwarded and stored in numerous paper and electronic files.
- Senders can easily type in the wrong email address or phone number.
- Is easier to falsify than handwritten or signed documents.
- Backup copies may exist even after the sender or the recipient has deleted his or her copy.
- Employers and online services have a right to archive and inspect e-mails transmitted through their systems.
- Can be used as evidence in court.

If you choose to use emails/electronic communication as a way of communicating with your therapist, please read and sign below.

- I understand that I am not required to participate in email/electronic communication. I understand that I may withdraw this consent at any time or limit what information I do not want sent via electronic communication by notifying my therapist in writing.
- I understand that emails/electronic communication should never be used to communicate emergency, urgent, or other time-sensitive information. We do not provide electronic counseling. If you need a timely response, please contact your clinician via phone. If an urgent matter arises, please call: Edwin Fair Crisis hotline at 405.372.1250 or go to the emergency room at your nearest hospital.
- I understand that all text messaging and e-mail to or from a client can be printed out and become a part of the file in the same way that therapy notes become part of the file.
- I understand that electronic communication should be limited to business material only. Examples of these include: scheduling, receipt of Superbill, and other non-detailed forms. I understand that any other matters of concern need to be discussed during scheduled sessions.

If you choose to engage in electronic communication, your provider will:

- Utilize a HIPAA compliant platform for emailing diagnostic and billing information. However, please be advised that some emails such as those containing attachments such as the "Release of Information Form" may not be compatible with this platform. In these cases, standard email servers will be utilized.
- Send text appointment reminders via a HIPAA compliant platform.
- Utilize a HIPAA compliant text messaging application (Such as "OhMD") for any other type of scheduling related messages. If you would like the option of text messaging for scheduling related purposes, please provide your phone number below and your therapist will send you an "invitation" to connect via a HIPAA compliant messaging application. Please be advised that it is your responsibility to read their privacy policy in order to ensure your understanding of their adherence to HIPAA.

If you choose to use Telemedicine:

- Understand that telemedicine includes the practice health care delivery, diagnosis, consultation, treatment for medical data, and education using interactive audio, video or data communications.
- Telemedicine also involves the communication of my medical behavioral health information, both orally and visually, to health care providers within our agency.

I give my informed consent to participate in email and electronic communication. I understand the risks and benefits of utilizing email/electronic communication and do so at my own risk.
