THE FOUNDING PHILOSOPHY

Education is one of the most powerful weapons that can be used to change the world we live in. To educate is to empower. Particularly for a nation as dynamic as ours, education becomes the driving force to unleash the possibilities it holds. Thus, it comes as no surprise that education, as an industry, has intrigued the interest of many visionaries.

EduQue Consultants strongly believes that any dignified vision in education and the space of learning must be supported by experts from the domain so that the entire fraternity can be elevated as a whole. EduQue does its bit in offering this support by bringing to our partners content solutions which are high on quality, based on progressive learning principles, and are delivered well within timelines.

BENEFICIARIES AND ENGAGEMENT

EduQue joins forces with ed-techs, publishing houses, corporates, and educational institutions to work as their extended content partners.

EQ offers services that are flexible for both short-term and long-term engagements and can be driven either based on time or deliverables.

The services include an array of expertise in the areas of:

- Curriculum Creation and Review
- Editing and Proofreading
- Learning and Development Content

These services are taken up with a promise of collaborating to create an 'up a notch' edge in education.

CURRICULUM CREATION AND REVIEW

EduQue aims to positively impact the way teaching-learning process is approached in the K-12 and higher education space through innovative and research-driven curriculum offerings. Our vision is to proactively contribute towards a world where students experience learning as a joyful process and use their education as an opportunity to explore, engage, discover, connect, express, inquire, reflect, and innovate. Our curriculum solutions include:

- Creation and review of content for textbooks, workbooks, teacher lesson plans, and digital materials weaving the best educational practices and theoretical perspectives
- Designing of formative and summative assessments to not only evaluate learning but also guide it.

EDITING AND PROOFREADING

EduQue understands that even the best content needs a round of editing and proofreading to ensure that it is cohesive, easy to understand, and error-free.

Our expert team of editors work with individuals and organisations both in and outside the education space to edit as well as proofread just about any piece of content that they may have created.

- For the K-12 space, EduQue is able to extend its scope to also include subject-level edits along with language edits and spotting of inaccuracies.
- For content outside the K-12 space, the scope is focused on language edits and spotting inaccuracies.

Allow us to edit the content of 1000 words as a sample for you to evaluate the quality of our editors.

LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT CONTENT

Success is often synonymous with the concept of growth, learning, and change. It is a process that involves continuous reflection and readjustment. This explains why most organisations and institutions are always on the lookout to reinvent themselves; to add a touch of innovation to everything tried and tested; to invest in the learning and development of their people.

EduQue partners with organisations in planning ideological as well as operational transformation by creating learning and development content which is aligned to the vision, goals, and values of the organisation, and takes their team towards a culture of excellence, productivity, and commitment towards creating a competitive advantage through their work.

EXPERTISE

The core team working at EduQue has worked in leadership positions in the education and coaching fraternity for almost two decades now, helping create better institutions and empowered individuals.

EQ is driven by the motto of 'quality with velocity' and is committed to assign to any project a curated team of experts who are prodigies in the required area of work and are hence, able to deliver outcomes with excellence in a much faster turnaround time.

We have successfully worked for clients such as LEAD School (content creation and review), Educational Initiatives (assessments), SpeedLabs (editing and proofreading), NIIT (school solutions), Pearson (digital content), and Eduquity (competitive exams); to name a few.
