

Mekimi Commitment to Read in Commemorations

At this time of sorrow and loss, anguish and hope, we joint together with Jews and allies around the world and commit ourselves to raising up:

- The memories of those we've lost, ensuring their stories are never forgotten
- The spirits of the survivors and bereaved families, offering support and compassion
- The hope for the safe return of the hostages, keeping their plight in the forefront of global consciousness
- The resilience of our communities, fostering unity and strength in the face of adversity
- The voices of those affected, amplifying their experiences and needs
- The pursuit of justice and accountability for the atrocities committed
- The education of future generations about the events of October 7th and their impact
- The dialogue for peace and understanding, to prevent such tragedies from recurring
- The mental health and well-being of all those touched by this tragedy
- The global awareness of the ongoing effects of terrorism and violence
- The support for first responders and security personnel who risked their lives
- The rebuilding of shattered communities, both physically and emotionally

Through these commitments, we strive to transform grief into action and despair into hope.