People probably wonder why we started this project and why it's so dear to our hearts. My husband was in mortgage for 30 years. I always felt confident that we'd always own a home. Life happened! We had health issues and had to re-evaluate every aspect of our lives! When you are used to having all of life's luxuries, a wake up call can be scary! I wish I could say we have all the answers or even which direction to take but we have inner guidance and with my husband's experience, background and passion we are excited to begin this labor of love!

The "AMERICAN DREAM" is to own a home! With crazy home prices and interest rates, it's making it impossible for people in certain income groups to own a home. Love One Another Foundation aims to change this! Our mission is to assist families and individuals realize the American Dream.

I've been a Mom to 3 beautiful children and a hairstylist for the past 26 years. I can honestly say that I love what I do for a living. I love building relationships and being able to connect with people and hearing their life stories. It's fascinating to listen to people speak of their life's ups and downs. I love making people feel their best, "This all happens behind the chair"! When people trust you with their hair, they tell you the most exciting, frightening and exhilarating aspects of their life story. It's like I have a front row seat and get to be their biggest cheerleader and supporter!

This past year, I've had the opportunity to teach as an instructor at Paul Mitchell "the school". At first, I didn't think I was a very good instructor but with time I won over all the students' confidence and trust. Teaching has become fun and the learning is limitless! I have discovered, I love being a teacher! I love helping students reach their full potential. As I watch them progress, I get to see all the a-ha moments as they happen! My students nickname for me is "MOM" They love to shout out "MOM" when they need help with a client, they know I'll come to their rescue. What started as a joke is now a multiple daily incident!

Teaching has given me the insight of how valuable career guidance and education is to the rising generation. The students are eager to get a career but rising education costs are making it prohibitive from certain socioeconomic groups. Education is the foundation of every successful individual. We strive, through our programs, to make the necessities, food, clothing, shelter available to all.

We HOPE this foundation will change the way people think about OneAnother! We Hope these programs will bring dreams alive, change people's lives for the better while bringing families & communities together!
