

CHROMOTHERAPY

Chromotherapy, or color therapy, is a healing practice that uses different colors to improve health and well-being. It believes each color has unique effects on the body and mind. It's often used with methods like massage or meditation to balance energy and address health issues.

ONE OF OUR MANY OPTIONS

Green light therapy promotes balance, relaxation, and muscle relief, offering effective solutions for headaches, stress, and digestive issues. It also provides benefits for skin health, wound healing, pain relief, and circadian rhythm regulation. By closing small blood vessels beneath the skin, green light diminishes their appearance and soothes skin conditions like rosacea and erythema. Additionally, green light exposure enhances visual attention and supports overall cognitive function.
