The January meeting began at 5:45 with the usual sharing of art and connecting with each other or making new friends.

Jack and Rosalyn did an icebreaker around New Year's Art Resolutions. Members shared their resolve to work consistently, have fun, clean their studios, and learn, learn, learn.

At 6:15, Kris and Kathy presented a fantastic lesson on perspective in drawing. They even shared a perspective clock which will be very helpful when working en plein air.

Meldra called the business meeting to order at 6:45, asking Ana Li to review the wrapping procedure for the Moses Lake Show. All pieces need to be wrapped protectively but not in a bulky way as space is limited in the truck. Please use bubble wrap on all glass pieces.

Voting for themes for virtual shows was next. Kate kept track of the voting and the following themes were adopted:

1. Outside Your Boundaries
2. Altered Perceptions
3. All Things Fishy
4. A Piece of Work

Ana Li spoke about the fact that Altered Perceptions is also a live show in May and June at Oak Hollow. We can show about 30 pieces. The hope is that since the show spans two months, we will change out the pieces to reflect a perception that was altered. Meldra asked her to explain the difference between a Facebook Page and a Facebook Group.

New Business

The group was informally polled and expressed interest in a spring show. We will get back with more details in February.
