-Tholo Bush Stay-

After years of travelling through Africa, they fell in love with the bushveld and its rhythm of life. Drawn by the nature, wildlife, and deep sense of connection the region offers, they chose to make Africa their home.

What began as a personal dream soon grew into a passion for creating a space where others could experience the same beauty and tranquillity they found here. Today, Kimmo and Malin warmly welcome guests from around the world, sharing their profound love for South Africa, the Waterberg, and its wild, unspoilt character.

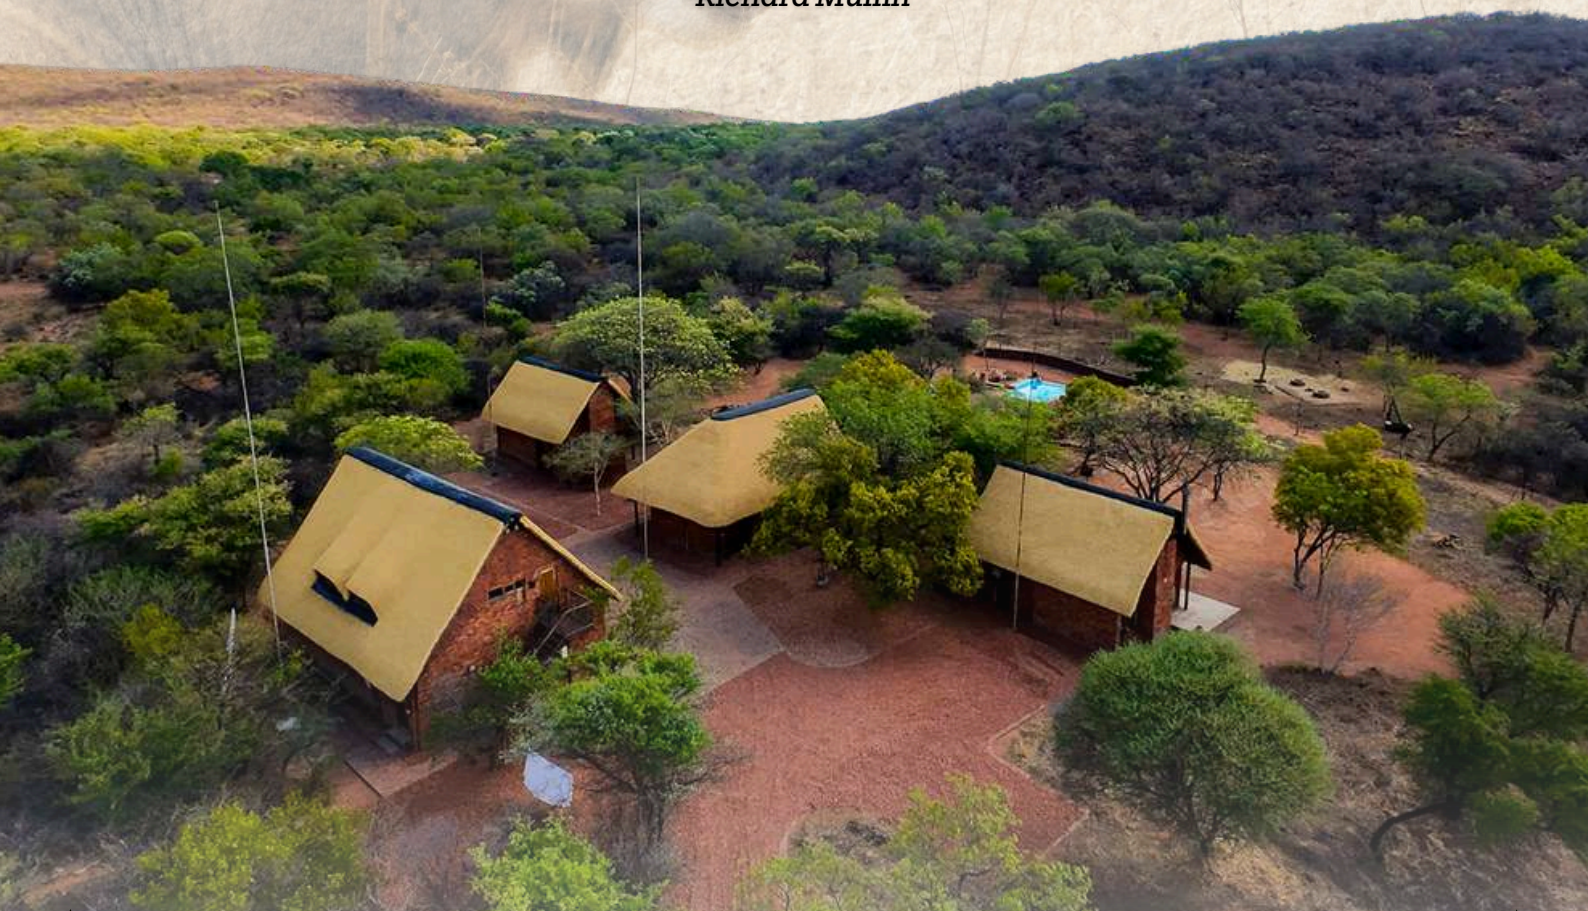

We look forward to your arrival.

-and so much more!-

-The Waterberg-

The Waterberg is known for its striking variety of landscapes, shaped over millions of years. Rolling bushveld plains, lush and wet landscapes, rugged cliffs, and river valleys create a region rich in texture, contrast, and natural beauty.

The Waterberg Biosphere is rich in wildlife. Home to the Big Five, a variety of plains game, and abundant birdlife. Its protected reserves support healthy ecosystems, allowing wildlife to thrive in open natural spaces. Here, wildlife moves freely through a serene landscape, offering calm and authentic moments in nature.

The Waterberg is a UNESCO Biosphere due to its rich biodiversity, ancient landscapes, and sustainable land use. The region balances conservation, wildlife, and human activity, while protecting its ecosystems and supporting local communities through responsible land management and long-term environmental practices.

"Some people long for adventure; others long for silence. Africa offers both."
