

Which type of voter are you?

From Another State

I want to vote for US President and don't care about any other race.

<http://www.nd.gov/eforms/doc/sfn54449.pdf>

I want to vote in my home state.

Don't wait!
Do a google search and find out how to get a ballot mailed to you. Time-in-the-mail limitations require you to act promptly.

It is important to point out "resident for voting purposes" and "resident for tuition purposes" are somewhat intermingled and – simultaneously – have nothing to do with each other.

Voting in North Dakota can be one way you demonstrate that North Dakota "is your home" when you apply for resident (for tuition) status. However, if you rely on a state-to-state reciprocity program for your tuition rate, you could both lose that favorable tuition program and still not gain resident for tuition status. Voting in ND is a choice you can make, but it may bring challenges later on.

If you want to vote here, first step:
Get an ND Drivers License or State ID.

From North Dakota (but not from Grand Forks)

If you want to vote in Grand Forks City/County:
Change your address. Best to do it by September 15.

"Change Address" at the Drivers License link

Drivers license offices and on-line services:
<https://www.dot.nd.gov/divisions/driverslicense/driver.htm>

If you want to vote in your hometown

(also see the Presidential ballot only note way to the left)

From Grand Forks

You can vote:
• by mail
• f2f, early, or
• f2f, election day.

by mail

<http://vip.sos.nd.gov/absentee/>

Ballot comes to you; you fill it out and return it. It takes one stamp to mail it back in.

Mailed-in ballots in North Dakota must be postmarked on or before Monday, November 2. Even though "election day" is November 3, an ND ballot mailed on November 3 is invalid.

If you want to vote f2f, voting will be at the Alerus Center the last week of October and on November 3. Take an ID. See info at nd42.org/voting