County Executive-Elect Pittman Announces Transition Leaders

Annapolis, MD – Today, Anne Arundel County Executive-Elect Steuart Pittman announced two county leaders who will chair the transition team for his upcoming Administration. Pittman tapped former County Executive Janet Owens and current County Councilmember Chris Trumbauer to oversee this critical process. Pittman will take the oath of office on Monday, December 3.

“My campaign was built on putting communities first and building an open, transparent county government that our residents can be proud of,” said Pittman. “Janet and Chris both embody that sentiment perfectly, and their records of service in the County will be invaluable. I look forward to working with them to help my Administration hit the ground running when I take office on December 3.”

Janet Owens was Anne Arundel County’s first female County Executive. She served two terms from 1998 until 2007. Chris Trumbauer has represented the greater Annapolis area on the County Council for two terms, starting in 2010. His second and final term ends on November 30.

Executive-Elect Pittman spoke with current County Executive Steve Schuh on Wednesday by phone. Schuh pledged full cooperation to the transition team and offered temporary office space for the transition team.

“I want to thank County Executive Schuh for his gracious offer of support for the transition team and for his helpful insight during our conversation,” said Pittman. “The election is over and I look forward to working with him to ensure a seamless transition.”

More members of the transition will be announced in the coming days. The transition team established an email for individuals who wish to become involved with the transition team effort. Anyone who would like to be considered for the team is asked to contact pittmantransition@gmail.com.
