Time spent at The Motorway began as a mechanic specializing in British cars. Work included everything from general repair to frame-off restorations. In 2012, I took over ownership of the shop. The focus continued to be mostly on British cars, but we began to work on other marques of classics and doing more custom and one-off projects. In 2017, The Motorway was purchased by the owner of High Mountain Classics. I stayed on as a British car restoration specialist, but also expanded into doing multiple types of doing multiple types of jobs on pre-war and exotic vehicles that were part of the HMC specialties. This included the Pebble Beach award winning restoration work.
