How to get to Cortina:

By car, coming from the South:

Cortina d'Ampezzo can be reached through the A27 motorway, from Venice to Pian di Vedoja (Belluno), with the connection to Strada Statale (A-road) 51 d'Alemagna and follow the directions to Cortina d'Ampezzo.

By car, coming from the North:

From Brennero, Cortina can be reached through A22 motorway, Bressanone exit. Follow Strada Statale (A-road) in the direction of Dobbiaco and take a right to Cortina d'Ampezzo SS51.

By bus:

There are also regular bus services to and from Venice with stop at Mestre and Treviso. The journey takes about 3 hours and 15 min. During the high season there is a daily service, whereas, in other periods of the year, the service is provided on Saturdays and Sundays only. Booking is required.

By plane: suggested

The nearest airports are in Treviso (136 km), in Venice (148 km), in Innsbruck (Austria) (163 km), in Verona (272 km), in Bergamo (369 km) and in Munich (Germany) (319 km). All these airports offer a regular bus service to and from Cortina with Cortina Express. > Info at www.cortinaexpress.it

The prices to are not that expensive and the service provides transfers from Milan and Bologna too. Online booking is compulsory!

By train:

The nearest railway station is in Calalzo di Cadore, 35 kilometres from Cortina. The main railway line is the Venezia S. Lucia - Calalzo di Cadore. From the railway station there is a regular bus service connection to Cortina. From Mestre it takes 3,5 hours. See Train time table at www.trenitalia.com

The nearest railway north is Fortezza - Dobbiaco. From the railway station there is a regular bus service connection to Cortina. For more info, see website Sistema Trasporto Integrato of the Province of Bolzano.

From Innsbruck there is a train leaving every hour from 11 am to 8 pm. The journey takes 4 hours (from Innsbruck to Fortezza and then to Dobbiaco by train then bus service connection to Cortina).

There is a new service called "The mountain railways": in the daytime, Eurostar Italia services run from Rome and Milan to Mestre/Cortina.

You can travel by Eurostar Italia from Rome (Roma Termini station) and from Milan to Mestre (mainland Venice). From Mestre, special shuttle buses wait to take you to Cortina, with connections coinciding with the arrival/departure times of your train. Info at www.cortinaexpress.it
