Collaborative & Intersectional Approach to Gender-Based Violence

Kim Gutierrez

Kim Gutierrez is the Program Manager for Human Trafficking services at Community Solutions. She joined CS in 2009 as relief staff at La Isla Pacifica, the confidential shelter for survivors of intimate partner abuse. Since 2009, Kim has worked as an advocate for survivors of intimate partner abuse, sexual assault, and human trafficking, as well as providing community education, outreach and prevention on these topics. Currently, Kim serves as the Chair for the Victim Services Sub-Committee of the South Bay Coalition to End Human Trafficking, and led the workgroup of victim service providers who created the Victim Needs Screening Tool which assesses to see if an individual may have experienced or might be experiencing intimate partner abuse, sexual assault, and/or human trafficking.

Course Description: The purpose of this training is to provide an overview of gender-based violence, specifically intimate partner abuse, sexual assault, and human trafficking, and how those forms of violence commonly intersect. Participants will learn about the dynamics of each form of violence as well as how service providers can collaborate to connect survivors to advates and other resources.

By the conclusion of this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Understand the dynamics of intimate partner abuse, sexual assault, and human trafficking and how they intersect
- Utilize new safety planning and engagement strategies.
- Explain the role of an advocate and how to connect a client to advocacy services
- Identify additional community resources
