Matthew Rensi is an Associate Professional Clinical Counselor working as a Therapist in the Aftercare program at Community Solutions. Matthew has experience providing therapy to psychotic, homeless, and juvenile justice populations. He has experience providing CBT and MI trainings, and has utilized his military service to develop and facilitate a community mental health safety training.

Course Description: In this course, participants will learn about the importance of safety when working in community-based behavioral health settings. It will teach learners how to use safety precautions while working in the field delivering services and conducting meetings in client's homes.

By the conclusion of this workshop, participants will be able to identify and practice:

- To understand the principals of preparation and be able to apply them in the four main areas: car, phone, dress and location.
- To be able to assess the environment and the client safety throughout the four stages of contact: pre-arrival, approach, first contact and ongoing.
- To know 3 ways to respond should staff safety become a concern at any point in the four stages.
