

WHO WE ARE

We are a group of pioneers and experts of global drug development who believe in cross-border drug development and are determined to solve any issues related to cross-border collaborations and partnerships

The global collaboration landscape on drug development has significantly changed since China joined ICH in 2017.

The success of biopharma companies can be improved through knowledge, guidance and resources across regions. Bioaroundworld is here to help.

There has been limited guidance on how to leverage regulatory, clinical, CMC, or capital resources to facilitate such collaborations in the past.

Each biopharma company had to figure it out on its own. Some of them are thriving by capturing this cross-border opportunity, however many struggle to take advantage of the opportunity.
