

Fernando Silva

Contemporary Impressionist Artist

Born in Buenos Aires, Argentina and been living in New York for the last 15 years. Fernando has an extensive career of art shows in the USA, Italy, and Germany.

“As a self-taught artist, I took key elements from the impressionist era into my palette to make them my own. My journey began while living in the City of Hamburg, I had the chance to visit other European museums and was exposed to the masters. I connected my past in colorful Latin America with the brushstrokes of the iconic impressionist artists.”

Most of Fernando’s artwork is sold to private art collectors and showcased in various notable Galleries/shows. Amongst his collector patrons is President Bill Clinton.
