She decided to use a Tree Diagram to find a basic set of factors to measure that, taken together, would cover all areas. Together with the assistant manager, she defined the method of breaking down the root phrase of 'satisfied customers' as: Question to identify children: 'What key factors will directly contribute towards in the parent happening?'. the pale lady alexandre dumas Check on children: They should together make up the parent (no key factors missing). Break down problem a complete level at a time. Stop breaking down when there are about ten leaves on the tree. The tree generated is shown below. dudao9ixezuxakadawudijol.pdf To test the result, a selection of customers were asked to review the diagram, and it was revised accordingly. Measures were then derived from the leaves and a simple process of measurement was set in place. At the end of each month, a project was set up to improve the poorest score of the previous month. Over time, the average score gradually went up, and the restaurant became more popular. Fig. 1.
