Technical Information

Core Style	Description
SRC	Solvent Resistant Core - SRC is a two-ply, heavy-duty polypropylene core. It is resistant to cracking, water and most solvents.
PH	Phenolic Core - Fabric is pressed on cores treated with a phenolic substance that adds strength and prevents water penetration. Cores are designed to resist fiberglass, solvent absorption and normal exposure to MEK, acetone and more.

Tech Note: Although denser non-woven abrasives are suitable for applications requiring light stock removal such as removing large, well-attached burs and blending minor tool marks and imperfections, the strength of these products is producing decorative finishes ranging from satin to near-mirror polish.

The various grades of the non-woven products produce scratch patterns which can be compared to those produced by coated abrasive products. However, their pliable nature results in a softer, less pronounced scratch-line pattern.
