Quick Word from us!

WE DID IT! The In2EdAfrica Board members worked tirelessly to get our charity registration into the department before the end of 2021. In fact, we submitted our application on the 31st of December. We are so excited to announce we now have full Australian Charity Status. We place governance as a high priority. This is going to open gateways for us to create more impact in the work and advocacy we do.

We did it! Our team has worked very hard to gather and create all the paperwork required for this moment...what it means for us is that we are now fully recognized by the ACNC and are in a greater governance position to create more impact.

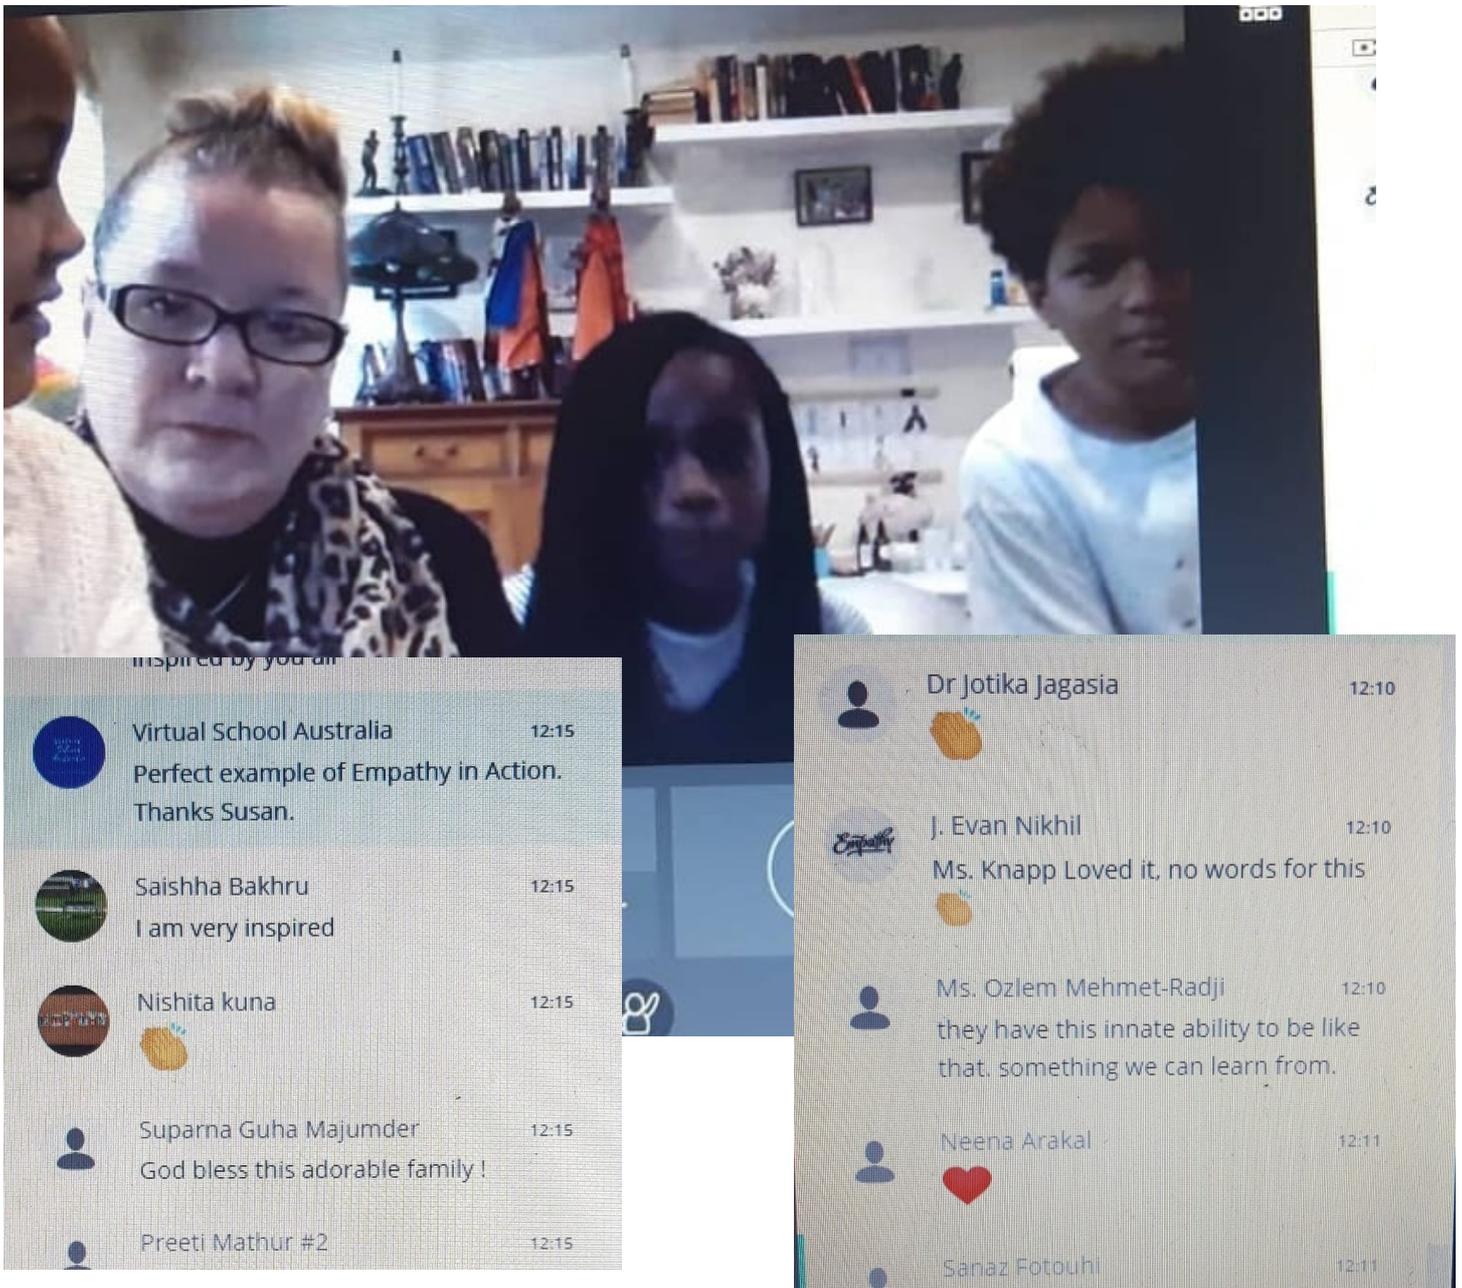

PERIOD POVERTY AWARENESS

Aaliyah created a partnership with The Body Shop to hold an event and raise money to eradicate period poverty. Aaliyah spoke at the event and with so much alignment with the Body Shop Founder Anita Roddick, this is a winning combination.

Global Empathy Conference

The children and I were invited to present a keynote at the Global Empathy Conference. We spoke of the power to change the world when our children are on purpose and the role empathy plays in putting ourselves into the shoes of the others. We received some wonderful feedback full of inspiration towards others.

Our books are on Amazon

Emma has worked extremely hard on creating digitalized illustrations of our children's storybook collection. Based on illustrations created by our Korogocho Dance Troop, these books are now available for sale on Amazon.
