

Wild Soul Serenity is more than just a campground—it's a sanctuary for tranquility, creativity, and community connection. This is a wilderness, rustic, off-the-grid, renewable energy using style campground which aims to help Veterans and First Responders by giving them holistic services they may need for better health. Nestled in the woods, it offers an oasis for self-healing and mental wellness, free from modern distractions. Here, campers can immerse themselves in the serenity of nature, fish without crowds, and reconnect with the earth in a vehicle-free environment.

Our holistic oasis welcomes local small businesses, non-profits, and community programs to share their services and host meaningful events. Photographers can capture timeless moments, while scouts, schools, and other groups find space for community projects. Whether you're an influencer, tradesperson, self-healer, or artist, Wild Soul Serenity provides an inspiring environment to share your craft and nurture creativity. As the property evolves, plans include a camp store showcasing local artisan goods, camping essentials, and handmade products. Workshops will connect visitors with nature, teaching skills like crafting ceramics from wild clay or creating natural medicines from the land.

Wild Soul Serenity is a place to unplug, rest, and release—a growing haven shaped by free-spirited individuals who share a vision of harmony with nature and each other.
