FULL SERVICE DISINFECTING

MAFS is proud to be able to offer our community an added level of security for any location that is looking for additional protection during the COVID-19 pandemic. We are proud to announce that in addition to our regular disinfectant office cleaning, we have launched our high-touch point, full service disinfecting program. This acts as an added line of defense during this difficult time.

Standard janitorial services usually include a wipe down of certain areas of your building using a disinfectant. With our state of the art technologies, we are able to assure you that all surfaces and touchpoints in your location have been disinfected prior to your employees, guests, and/or clients entering the building.

It is important to understand that a surface or touchpoint can only be deemed disinfected if the cleaning agent was used properly, and up until anyone touches, coughs, or sneezes on the area. Because of this, we recommend our solution as a daily routine, not a one time service. This step can, and should, be used after your regular janitorial provider has completed their service.

MAFS uses a quaternary ammonium disinfectant for this process. This disinfecting agent meets the EPA's qualifications for use against COVID-19. For any questions related to cleaning, disinfecting, or sanitizing, please don't hesitate to reach out to us. We look forward to serving our communities throughout this difficult process.

Sincerely,
Louis J. Costanzo
