My name is Kirsty, I am a busy working mum and an Independent Tropic Ambassador. I discovered Tropic after going to a pamper experience hosted by one of my friends. Thinking I would just buy a lip balm or shower gel to "be polite", I ended up being treated to a free facial and the difference in my skin before and after was amazing, I instantly fell in love with the products and walked away fully invested in the brand's ethics and purpose. Before Tropic, I shamefully did very little to my skin, a bit of soap and water at best! Now I spare myself a couple of minutes each day to use my lovely products, making sure to take a little bit of me time, and my skin has improved no end.

Tropic is a natural skincare brand which is organic, vegan-friendly and most importantly to me, Tropic do not allow their products to be tested on animals under any circumstances. They also give 10% of their profits back to good causes and charities across the globe.

I hope you enjoy looking through the brochure, you can also scan my QR code below for a digital copy on your phone. Please feel free to text, call, or email me with any questions. If you are interested, I also have some free borrow bags for you to be able to try the products, or even host your own pamper for 15% commission to spend on products from the sales at your event.

Tropic also has a no-quibble 30-day money back guarantee, so if for any reason the products don't suit you, then you can get a full refund. If you see anything you like you can order directly from me, or the QR code to my online shop is above. Thank you.
