Continue to support “term limits” as a reform tool and fight the corruption that Voter Primaries 50% rule which elects politicians without full voter participation. It may be very confusing at times trying to understand the motives behind new tax proposals and what some politicians want us to adopt. Meanwhile, political interests that have run city, county, state and local boards of education have a traditionally used a "pro-tax narrative" and hired special consultants to help promote new taxes for us homeowners and renters to absorb year after year with very few of these new taxes ever sun setting or been removed from our tax burden. “Taxes are forever!”

We should be more aware of the history of all taxes impacting us as our “annual tax burden” grows more and more each year. The impact of new taxes on our standard of living is noticed more by poor and middle income households! Our cost of living becomes of greater concern by the rising costs of gas, utilities, food, clothing, basic services and common household supplies. We are paying more and getting less!

The “politics as usual” group dynamics continue to run our political machines City Hall and in the State Capitol in Lansing. City Councils and School Boards of Education look for “common-minded” go-along-to-get- along types of individuals to either appoint or elect so it continues to be “business as usual” affair in politics.

As our local and state politicians are now forced to leave office after a two term limit, as the result a political reform adopted by voters, many politicians are quick to try to “handpick their successors to continue their influence in politics after their departure. They act as if they were living in medieval times in a monarchy where kings and queens pick the next of kin to be “anointed and appointed” based on royal lineage. Oftentimes, the City Council networks with school leaders who have developed a “political crew” that get out the vote in favor of new taxes and voter suppression to increase our taxes making it more difficult for the very people they serve to pay the rent or keep up with their house payments due to a higher tax burden. Renters are often “hoodwinked” into believing that new taxes won’t affect them. They are surprised when the rent gets raised by the landlords who must adjust rent to pay for new taxes. Renters wake up! Rents are high because you keep approving new taxes!

We must demand more efficiency from government, not necessarily more government and more regulation! We cannot become the victims as local governments find new ways to increase our taxes to cover new developments in government districts generally located downtown/uptown and designed as a move to create "gentrified and racially segregated, upper class 'white havens' at taxpayer expense!

The other common denominator in new tax proposals, tax abatements, tax re-captures, etc. are generally the politicians personal investments or the investments and land/property holdings of their friends “ad cronies”. We have to ask ourselves, “Who is going to benefit from the proposed taxes?” Follow the money, investigate the land ownership of developments being proposed, investigated the contractors being proposed to use and at implementation of the project, review the contracts awarded to help you see who benefits from new taxes! We are often “fleeced as taxpayers” and we don’t understand how these traditional powerbrokers downtown buy their influence with the “traditionally sold out politicians’ coveted by system politics. Democrats, Republicans, and Independents are in this game together. We have become the victims of “power politics”.

Support changing wards systems. In Grand Rapids the 8 Wards Proposal is worth supporting. Support moving elections to Even Years and changing the Voter Primary 50% rule which elects politicians without full voter participation. Continue to support “term limits” as a reform tool and fight the corruption that exists in the awarding of contracts to politicians that have vested financial interests in proposed development projects and government purchases. Also, reject the endorsements and practice of “anointing and appointing” successors to the “thrown”! We are a democracy not a monarchy!

Lastly, elect reform-minded leaders willing to stand up to the corruption in local politics. There is truth to the adage that “Corruption breeds corruption!”

Deberíamos estar más conscientes de la historia de todos los impuestos que nos impactan a medida que nuestra “carga fiscal anual” crece más y más cada año. ¡El impacto de los nuevos impuestos en nuestro nivel de vida es más notorio en los hogares pobres y de ingresos medios! Nuestro costo de vida se vuelve más preocupante por el aumento de los costos de gas, servicios públicos, alimentos, ropa, servicios básicos y suministros comunes para el hogar. ¡Estamos pagando más y obteniendo menos!

La dinámica de grupo de "política como de costumbre" continúa dirigiendo nuestras máquinas políticas City Hall y en el Capitolio del Estado en Lansing. Los ayuntamientos y las juntas de educación de las escuelas buscan tipos de personas “de mente común” que vayan y vengan bien para que las designen o las elijan, por lo que continúa siendo un asunto de “negocios como siempre” en la política.

Como nuestros políticos locales y estatales ahora se ven obligados a dejar el cargo después de un límite de dos mandatos, como resultado de una reforma política adoptada por los votantes, muchos políticos intentan rápidamente “seleccionar a sus sucesores para continuar su influencia en la política después de su partida. Actúan como si vivieran en tiempos medievales en una monarquía donde los reyes y las reinas eligen a los familiares para ser "ungidos y nombrados" basándose en el linaje real. A menudo, el Concejo Municipal se relaciona con líderes escolares que han desarrollado un "equipo político" que obtiene el voto a favor de nuevos impuestos y supresión de votantes para aumentar nuestros impuestos, lo que dificulta que las personas a las que sirven paguen el alquiler o se quejen con él. Con sus pagos de la casa debido a una mayor carga fiscal. Los inquilinos a menudo están "engañados" al creer que los nuevos impuestos no los afectarán. Se sorprenden cuando la renta es aumentada por los propietarios que deben ajustar la renta para pagar los nuevos impuestos. ¡Despiertan inquilinos! ¡Los alquileres son altos porque sigues aprobando nuevos impuestos!

¡Debemos exigir más eficiencia del gobierno, no necesariamente más gobierno y más regulación! No podemos convertirnos en víctimas, ya que los gobiernos locales encuentran nuevas formas de aumentar nuestros impuestos para cubrir los nuevos desarrollos en los distritos gubernamentales ubicados generalmente en el centro de la ciudad y en la parte alta de la ciudad y diseñados para crear "paraisos blancos" gentrificados y racialmente segregados, ¡ja expensas de los contribuyentes! ...Versión en español continúa en la pag. 12

Anoche pudimos ver como el gobernador consternado dio su último mensaje al pueblo en el que nuncio su renuncia efectiva el 2 de agosto de 2019. La carta oficial del gobernador a la Cámara de Representantes llegó hoy a las 12:30pm. Con el fin de que no le sometan a un escrutinio de su expulsión como gobernador. Aun así, no le creen todavía debido a que dejó a todos esperando ayer todo el día.

La gente ya no está tan ignorante porque gracias a las redes sociales se están enterando de todos los chanchullos y trampas que siguen. Finalmente, el pueblo se siente cansado de ser abusado y robado por sus gobernantes corruptos que se ponen de cuento con sus amigos para tomar ventaja y servirse del dinero público.

Aun la persona que se supone que tome las riendas del gobierno, la actual Secretaria de Justicia, la Licenciada Wanda Vázquez, esta siendo investigada por la oficina de ética por su participación en un chat. O sea, esto no termina todavía y hay que esperar por los resultados de las investigaciones en curso por las autoridades locales y federales.

¿Cuales son los delitos por su participación en el chat de Telegram todavía puede ser sometido y acusado el gobernador?

Entre estos se encuentra: Aprovechamiento ilícito de trabajos o servicios públicos (Art. 252) del código penal de Puerto Rico, Malversación de fondos públicos (Art. 264 (b), Negligencia en el cumplimiento del deber:(Art 263)

También hay violaciones a la ley de ética gubernamental Art 4.2(b) Utilizar cargos públicos para beneficiar a otros. Y Art 4.2(k) dirigir y fomentar actividades político-partidistas en horas de trabajo.

El compartir información con el Licenciado Elías Sánchez el cual es un cabildero y contratista de decenas compañías que tienen contratos con el gobierno, una persona privada y civil que no pertenece al gobierno también es un delito.

El conspirar y ser parte de un plan donde se sugiere entrarle a tiros a la alcalde de San Juan también constituye un delito.

Todo esto es parte de la investigación la cual es local y bajo el Departamento de Justicia de Puerto Rico. Siguen arrastrando los pies en esta investigación y todavía no se sabe que van a hacer los federales debido a que los delitos se hicieron en un medio electrónico bajo la jurisdicción federal de comunicaciones.

Lo gracioso es que ahora los miembros del partido del gobernador lo rechazan como si fuera leproso y nadie dice que estaba con el. El ambiente que existe al momento es que los están velando a todos los políticos y sus relaciones con los miembros del gabinete que arrestaron o que renunciaron por miedo a lo que viene.

Todavía faltan muchas preguntas por contestar. Todavía el departamento de Educación sigue dando contratos, arrastrando lo pies con los estudiantes de Educación Especial, y con la ex secretaria Julia Kelleher y sus ayudantes que fueron arrestados por el FBI.

Las personas del pueblo ya despertaron y no es movida política porque nadie cree en nadie. La gente se dio cuenta que el fanatismo no deja nada y los políticos actuales llegan para darle trabajos a sus familiares, chillas y parejas.

Ya se han dado cuenta que la deuda de Puerto Rico se llevo a cabo de forma ilegal, con prestamos cuestionables ilegales de billones de dólares con un interés altísimo, por personas que todavía están conectadas con el gobierno.

Finalmente, ponemos sobre aviso a las autoridades federales que vean los contratos de la Junta de Gobierno de la Universidad de Puerto Rico con la compañía BDO. El retiro de profesores de la UPR esta con esa entidad la cual su presidente esta en la cárcel por sus trampas.

Adelante todos los que puedan compartir información y publicarla en la redes con evidencia, fotos, contratos y copias de los chats. Eso es lo que hace falta para limpiar a Puerto Rico de la corrupción.
President Donald Trump was criticized Sunday for playing into old racist tropes after he posted tweets calling on an unspecified group of Democratic congresswomen to “go back” to where they came from.

“So interesting to see ‘Progressive’ Democrat Congresswomen, who originally came from countries whose governments are a complete and total catastrophe, the worst, most corrupt and inept anywhere in the world (if they even have a functioning government at all), now loudly and viciously telling the people of the United States, the greatest and most powerful Nation on earth, how our government is to be run.

“Why don’t they go back and help fix the totally broken and crime infested places from which they came. Then come back and show us how it is done. These places need your help badly. You can’t leave fast enough. I’m sure that Nancy Pelosi would be very happy to quickly work out free travel arrangements!” the president said in three connected tweets.

The tweets come on the day a series of immigration raids are expected to begin across the country. It’s part of the Trump administration’s crackdown on illegal immigration. The cities targeted are Atlanta, Baltimore, Chicago, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, Miami, New York and San Francisco.

Many presumed Trump’s tweets were directed at the four liberal freshman congresswomen known as “the Squad”: Reps. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Ilhan Omar, Ayanna Pressley and Rashida Tlaib. Three of those four lawmakers were born in the U.S. Omar came to the United States as a refugee from Somalia more than 20 years ago.

The four House members have recently had some public squabbles with Speaker Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., for her support for a bill funding border security measures and comments Pelosi made about their disagreements in a New York Times interview.

Pelosi said that she rejects Trump’s “xenophobic comments meant to divide our nation” and said they reaffirm that “his plan to ‘Make America Great Again’ has always been about making America white again.”

“Our diversity is our strength and our unity is our power,” she said.

The Trump administration is proposing a rule that would limit Americans’ access to food stamps, reportedly removing more than 3 million people from the federal program. The plan would eliminate automatic enrollment in food stamps for poor families who receive welfare benefits.

The rule would erase what U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue called a “loophole” in welfare benefits. Currently, 43 states allow families who qualify for the federal Temporary Assistance to Needy Families program, or TANF, to automatically receive food-stamp benefits, a link that the USDA wants to sever. Ending that practice would cut food-stamp spending by $2.5 billion per year, the Reuters news agency reported.

While income limits for TANF programs vary by state, the welfare program typically is restricted to low-income families. For instance, Georgia requires a family of three to earn less than $784 per month, or $9,408 per year, and have less than $1,000 in assets.

Many policy experts say the food-stamp program is one of the nation’s most successful anti-poverty programs. Yet the Trump administration and Republican lawmakers want to scale it back, claiming that many of its beneficiaries don’t need such assistance given the strong economy.

Some policy experts decried the proposal, arguing that it will increase food insecurity among poor families and add to states’ administrative costs.

Agriculture Department Acting Deputy Undersecretary Brandon Lipps said in a conference call that some recipients are getting food stamps if they receive small welfare benefits, even only brochures, Bloomberg reported. The proposal would allow automatic enrollment only if families receive at least $50 per month in welfare benefits for at least six months, the news outlet noted.

The proposed rule comes at a time when overall enrollment is dropping in food stamps, formally known as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. About 36 million people received food stamp benefits in April (the most recent data available), down from 44 million the previous year. Enrollment in the program rose sharply following the recession, but more families are moving off the benefit as the economy improves.

The proposed rule would require people who receive welfare payments through TANF to apply separately for the food-stamp program. Typically, a family of three must earn less than $2,252 per month, or about $27,000 per year, to qualify for food stamps, according to the USDA.

At the same time, enrollment in the welfare program is also dropping, according to the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. Caseloads fell 20% between 2006 and 2017 in 34 states, mostly because some of those states tightened their eligibility requirements such as reducing the amount of time families can receive the benefit, the liberal-leaning think tank noted in a 2018 report.

La administración de Trump propone una regla que limitaría el acceso de los estadounidenses a los cupones de alimentos, y al parecer eliminará a más de 3 millones de personas del programa federal. El plan eliminaría la inscripción automática en cupones de alimentos para las familias pobres que reciben beneficios de asistencia social.

La regla borraría lo que el secretario del Departamento de Agricultura de los Estados Unidos, Sonny Perdue, llamó una “brecha” en los beneficios de asistencia social. Actualmente, 43 estados permiten que las familias califican para el programa federal de Asistencia Temporal para Familias Necesitadas, o TANF, reciban automáticamente los beneficios de cupones de alimentos, un enlace que el USDA desea cortar. Poner fin a esa práctica reduciría el gasto en cupones para alimentos en 2.500 millones de dólares por año, informó la agencia de noticias Reuters.

Si bien los límites de ingresos para los programas TANF varían según el estado, el programa de asistencia social generalmente se restringe a las familias de bajos ingresos. Por ejemplo, Georgia requiere que una familia de tres personas gane menos de $784 por mes, o $9,408 por año, y tenga menos de $1,000 en activos.
These days you can’t turn on your television or logon to your social media account without seeing John Leguizamo. He is EVERYWHERE.....he is trending. Now touring with his Tony Award winning Broadway show, and with his recent Emmy nomination, the comedian/actor/playwright is in high demand. He’s been hitting the talk show circuit appearing on shows like MSNBC’s Morning Joe, NBC’s Today Show, CBS’s Late Show with Stephen Colbert and many more.

Leguizamo is now taking his successful one-man show, Latin History for Morons, on tour to 15 different cities nationwide. He recently brought the show to Midland, Michigan last month at the Midland Center for the Arts, where he performed and signed books and met with the audience who was not only entertained, but educated as well.

Latin History for Morons came about when his son was being bullied at school and John wanted to arm him with education about his Latin ancestors and their important contributions. “The more research I did, I realized, I was the one that was de-stupefied and un-moronized. I was learning all this information that was making ME feel empowered. I became so addicted to the history. I was passing it on to my son, but I was the one being affected by it.” If you are not able to see it on tour, Latin History for Morons can be found on Netflix.

John Leguizamo was also recently nominated, along with 2 of his co-stars for an Emmy for Outstanding Supporting Actor in a Limited Series/Movie for his role as Raymond Santana, Sr. in the dramatic mini-series “When They See Us”. In fact, the series is tied for the 2nd most Emmy acting nominations EVER (16 total) for a limited series. “When They See Us” is the powerful true story based on the events of the 1989 Central Park jogger case and explores the lives of the five suspects who were prosecuted on charges related to the sexual assault of a female victim, and of their families. The five juvenile males of color were divided by the prosecutor into two groups for trial. Four were convicted of rape. They were sentenced to maximum terms for juveniles except for one, who was 16 at the time and was tried as an adult by the legal system. He had been held in adult facility and served his time in adult prison. After the true assailant was identified in 2002 by confession, DNA evidence, and other evidence in an investigation by the DA’s office, he requested that the court vacate the convictions of the five men. By that time, all the men had served their sentences. The state withdrew all charges against them from the 1989 case and removed them from the sex offender registry. They filed a suit against the city in 2003 for wrongful conviction and were awarded a settlement in 2014. “When They See Us” can also be found on Netflix.

At a time when race relations are focused primarily on the Latin community with border walls and ICE detention centers, John Leguizamo is trying to educate people about Latin history and their contributions to society as far back as the ancient Mayans and Aztecs and up to the present, and is telling it with humor in a way that only he can.

As he says, “People want to be united, they don’t want to be divided, and that’s just a fact. The majority of Americans want to be a united, inclusive country, that’s what I get when I travel. You’re always going to have the racists and the hate mongerers, but we are all the same people, we want to work together, we want to be stronger, together. That’s the feeling I get from more people, than not.”
How to Find the Best Back-to-School Deals

(StatePoint) With households nationwide spending $27.6 billion on items like clothes, accessories and supplies, back-to-school is now the second biggest shopping season of the year, according to Deloitte research.

Americans may be parting with a lot of their money, but not necessarily happily. A recent survey from online retailer Zulily finds that 71 percent of Americans think that shoppers spend too much on back-to-school shopping. It’s no surprise then that over half of respondents marked budget as the most important factor in making purchases for that first day of school, over convenience and being on-trend.

But experts say you don’t have to sacrifice convenience or style to stay on-budget. To help keep your wallet intact while you seek out all the coolest back-to-school gear, merchandising director at Zulily, Carmela Matthews, a retail veteran, offers these shopping tips:

• Plan in advance: Avoid stressful, pricey last-minute shopping. Get started early in the summer so you can be finished before all the good seasonal deals are gone.

• Get organized: Put together a checklist so you don’t forget any of the necessities. “Take stock of what you have and what you need by cleaning out closets prior to shopping,” says Matthews. “Stay organized by sorting items into piles for donations, consignment and hand-me-downs.”

• Create a budget: While summer sales can help you save, it’s still important to set a realistic spending limit, as well as to look for the best deals available to stay within budget.

• Shop mobile: Apps like Zulily offer parents a wide variety of back-to-school essentials for kids, whether they’re pre-k or college age, at amazing prices. Essentials include apparel, shoes, accessories, school supplies, toys and dorm décor. Savings multiply when shoppers buy two items or more, but the great deals typically only last 72 hours.

With 77 percent of Americans saying that they think school supplies are more expensive today than during the 1990s (according to the Zulily survey) this year, the online retailer is taking a different spin on its time-limited sales and will be launching a special retro collection by debuting a six-week blast-from-the-past sale featuring iconic school season essentials from the 90s -- at 90s prices. Each #ThrowbackThursday from July 18 to Aug. 22, 2019, shoppers will have the opportunity to shop new, curated and charmingly retro-inspired goods for the whole family with prices to match the era of Tetris and Lisa Frank.

• Stockpile favorites: When you find something your child loves and needs each year for school at a great price, be sure to buy a few extra so you can take advantage of the great deal for years to come. Purchasing for kids for several years (with the expectation that they will grow) can provide wallet relief. When you buy multiples of the same item in larger sizes, place them in labeled bins that you can pull out upon closet clean-out the following year to avoid buying duplicates.

With some smart strategizing, you can prepare for a successful, stylish and affordable school year.

Con hogares en todo el país que gastan $ 27.6 mil millones en artículos como ropa, accesorios y suministros, el regreso a la escuela es ahora la segunda temporada de compras más importante del año, según la investigación de Deloitte. Pero los expertos dicen que no tiene que sacrificar la conveniencia para mantenerse dentro del presupuesto. Para ayudar a mantener su billetera intacta mientras busca todo lo mejor para su regreso a clases, la directora de mercadotecnia de Zulily, Carmela Matthews, una veterana minorista, ofrece estos consejos de compras:

• Planifique con anticipación: evite las compras estresantes y costosas de último minuto. Comience temprano en el verano para que pueda terminar antes de que desaparezcan todas las buenas ofertas de temporada.

• Organícese: Prepare una lista de verificación para que no olvide ninguna de las necesidades.

• Cree un presupuesto: si bien las ventas de verano pueden ayudarlo a ahorrar, aún es importante establecer un límite de gasto realista, así como buscar las mejores ofertas disponibles para mantenerse dentro del presupuesto.

• Compradores móviles: las aplicaciones como Zulily ofrecen a los padres una amplia variedad de elementos esenciales para el regreso a la escuela para niños, ya sean preescolares o universitarios, a precios increíbles. Lo esencial incluye ropa, zapatos, accesorios, útiles escolares, juguetes y decoración de dormitorios. Los ahorros se multiplican cuando los compradores compran dos artículos o más, pero las grandes ofertas generalmente duran solo 72 horas.

El otro denominador común en las nuevas propuestas de impuestos, reducciones de impuestos, recapturas de impuestos, etc. son generalmente las inversiones personales de los políticos o las inversiones y las tenencias de tierras / propiedades de sus amigos y “amigos”. Los votantes deben tener cuidado de la política soportada al sistema

Apoyar el cambio de sistemas de salas. En Grand Rapids vale la pena apoyar la propuesta de los 8 barrios. Apoye el traslado de las elecciones a los años pares y el cambio de la regla de las primarias del votante: el 50% elige a los políticos sin la plena participación de los votantes. Continuar apoyando los “límites de término” como herramienta de reforma y luchar contra la corrupción que existe en la adjudicación de contratos a políticos que tienen intereses financieros creados en proyectos de desarrollo propuestos y compras gubernamentales. ¡Además, rechace los endosos y la práctica de “ungir y nombrar” a los sucesores del “lanzamiento”! ¡Somos una democracia no una monarquía!

Por último, elija líderes con mentalidad de reforma que estén dispuestos a hacer frente a la corrupción en la política local. Hay una verdad en el adagio de que “La corrupción engendra corrupción!”

What is impeachment?

The Merriam-Webster dictionary lists two main definitions for impeachment. One of these involves casting doubt on something or someone. The other definition is to remove a person from office because of misconduct. Impeachment means a person is being accused of doing something wrong.

In order for a president to be impeached, the House of Representatives has to vote on whether or not it will go through this process. If a majority of the House votes yes, they are responsible for drafting articles of impeachment and present them as charges.

These are then sent to the Senate, which acts as a jury and decides on a verdict. The Senate has to act as a court and promise, under oath, that they will be impartial to the case. Two-thirds of the Senate must agree on that a president is guilty before he is removed from office.

The Constitution of the United States mentions that a president can be impeached for “treason, bribery or other high crimes or misdemeanors.”

In order for impeachment to be finalized, the Senate must hear all the evidence in accusation and defense of the person being impeached. Then, the Senate has to vote on every article of impeachment.

Has Donald Trump committed impeachable offenses?

Experts consider there is enough evidence to impeach Trump, as reported in The Atlantic. Presidents are normally required to let the public know what they are investing in, and they usually divest from things that could cause conflicts of interest during their time in office.

Trump is accused of using his office to make a profit from his many business interests. This makes Trump vulnerable to people across the United States and the world who may want to use money to influence him.

The president has also been reprimanded for racist comments aimed at four, Congresswomen of color—Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Rashida Tlaib, Ilhan Omar, and Ayanna Pressley.

What is happening now?

Currently, the Democratic Party is divided over the best way to handle impeachment. Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-CA) is at odds with many other members of her party who want to bring about impeachment at the House.

Ninety-four Democrats have made public statements in favor of impeachment. House Representative Al Green wrote the articles of impeachment meant to start this process with president Trump. On July 17, the House voted on impeachment and the motion didn’t pass. NBC reports that 332 representatives voted against the motion, while 95 voted in favor.

Is impeachment effective?

Impeachment is not meant to be quick because the Constitution allows each branch of the U.S. government to have checks and balances over the other. This is supposed to prevent one branch from being too powerful.

As of now, no president has ever lost their office because of impeachment. President Bill Clinton was the most recently impeached president, and he was able to stay in office because the Senate decided he was not guilty.

What is the Constitution’s role?

The U.S. Constitution allows for checks and balances over the other. This is supposed to prevent one branch from being too powerful.

The Chief of Justice of the U.S. judicial branch is in charge of impeachment as the Senate becomes the jury. The House of Representatives is in charge of assigning prosecutors who will oversee the impeachment. If the president is accused, he can defend himself as allowed by the Constitution.

In order for impeachment to be finalized, the Senate must hear all the evidence in accusation and defense of the person being impeached. Then, the Senate has to vote on every article of impeachment.

Here’s Why Netflix’s ‘Mr. Iglesias’ Is So Important For Students Of Color Right Now

On Friday, June 21, Netflix debuted its latest comedy series, Mr. Iglesias. The premise of the show is endearing, and seems like a true gem—a nice flick to put on after work—amidst all the junk Netflix puts out now a days. However, Netflix still managed to tint this one with shades of liberal bias and low jabs at conservatives.

The show focuses on a big hearted teacher, Gabe Iglesias (comedian Gabriel Iglesias), who teaches history. In the pilot, Mr. Iglesias is confronted with the possibility of many of his students being expelled due to poor performance. In an effort to help, he offers to give up his summer to work with them.

In Episode 2, “Summer School,” one of the kids, Mikey Gutierrez (Fabrizio Zacharee Guido), is taking his oral exam in order to pass summer school. Skeptical assistant principal, Carlos Hernandez (Oscar Nunez), is set out to see him fail, but Mikey fights back stating he can do anything he puts his mind to—even become president—that’s when one of the teachers makes a snide remark about Donald Trump.

In episode 8, “Teacher’s Strike,” another jab is taken at the Trump Administration when the class is studying Ronald Reagan. One of the students makes an attempt to compare Gorbachev’s wall to Trump’s wall.

The remainder of the series is littered with similar snide remarks, and seemingly clever, but actually ignorant comments. Several comments about white privilege are made and in one episode the teachers even discuss using politically correct and “inclusive” terms.

Should it come as a shock Netflix just had to include unnecessary bias in an otherwise decent series? No. What is shocking is that after continually putting out less and less quality content, Netflix still has so many subscribers.

Latin Artists Celebrate After Gov. Ricardo Rosselló Announces Resignation: ‘Our People Did Not Give Up’

After 12 days of protests, Puerto Rican Governor Ricardo Rosselló has announced that he will be stepping down. His resignation took place during a televised address to Puerto Rico on July 24 and via a Facebook Live on La Fortaleza de PR page at 11:40 p.m. Rosselló, who verbally resigned last night and officially turned in the letter last month, is the first governor to resign.

Demonstrations turned into celebrations and thousands of Puerto Ricans expressed their joy on social media, including artists (many of whom have paused their careers to attend various protests in the island) such as Bad Bunny, Ricky Martin, Residente, Daddy Yankee and Kany Garcia.

“Our people did not give up, and we triumphed,” expressed Luis Fonsi on Twitter. “We are all ready for a new beginning, more united than ever. THIS IS HOW WE DO IT DOWN IN PUERTO RICO!!!”

Rosselló’s resignation comes after a private group chat between Rosselló and several associates in his executive team was published earlier this month, revealing nearly 900 pages of leaked text messages that contained misogynistic and homophobic language when referring to opposition leaders, public figures, and journalists. The document also showcased strategies in efforts to manipulate different situations from late 2018 to January 2019.

Las representaciones se convirtieron en celebraciones y miles y miles de puertorriqueños expresaron su alegría en las redes sociales, incluidos los artistas (muchos de los cuales han detenido sus carreras para asistir a diversas protestas en la isla) como Bad Bunny, Ricky Martin, Residente, Daddy Yankee y Kany García.

La renuncia de Rosselló se produce después de que se publicara a principios de este mes un chat privado en grupo entre Rosselló y varios asociados de su equipo ejecutivo, que reveló casi 900 páginas de mensajes de texto filtrados que contenían lenguaje misógino y homofóbico al referirse a líderes de la oposición, figuras públicas y periodistas. El documento también mostró estrategias en los esfuerzos para manipular diferentes situaciones desde finales de 2018 hasta enero de 2019.
FAST & FURIOUS PRESENTS: HOBBS & SHAW

Ever since hulking lawman Hobbs (Johnson), a loyal agent of America’s Diplomatic Security Service, and lawless outcast Shaw (Statham), a former British military elite operative, first faced off in 2015’s Furious 7, the duo have swapped smack talk and body blows as they’ve tried to take each other down. But when cyber-genetically enhanced anarchist Brixton (Idris Elba) gains control of an insidious bio-threat that could alter humanity forever and bests a brilliant and fearless rogue MI6 agent (The Crown’s Vanessa Kirby), who just happens to be Shaw’s sister these two sworn enemies will have to partner up to bring down the only guy who might be badder than themselves. Hobbs & Shaw blasts open a new door in the Fast universe as it hurtles action across the globe, from Los Angeles to London and from the toxic wasteland of Chernobyl to the lush beauty of Samoa. Rated: PG-13.

THE ART OF RACING IN THE RAIN

A heartfelt tale narrated by a witty and philosophical dog named Enzo (voiced by Kevin Costner). Through his bond with his owner, Denny Swift (Milo Ventimiglia), an aspiring Formula One race car driver, Enzo has gained tremendous insight into the human condition and understands that the techniques needed on the racetrack can also be used to successfully navigate the journey of life. The film follows Denny and the loves of his life - his wife, Eve (Amanda Seyfried), their young daughter Zoe (Ryan Kiera Armstrong), and ultimately, his true best friend, Enzo. Rated: PG.
It’s 1968 in America. Change is blowing in the wind…but seemingly far removed from the unrest in the cities is the small town of Mill Valley, where for generations, the shadow of the Bellows family has loomed large. It is in their mansion on the edge of town that Sarah, a young girl with horrible secrets, turned her tortured life into a series of scary stories, written in a book that has transcended time-stories that have a way of becoming all too real for a group of teenagers who discover Sarah’s terrifying home.

Based on Sarfraz Manzoor’s acclaimed memoir Greetings from Bury Park, “Blinded by the Light” is a joyful story of courage, love, hope, family and the unique ability of music to lift the human spirit. Based on writer/director/producer Gurinder Chadha (“Bend It Like Beckham”) and the timeless music of Bruce Springsteen’s songs. The story of Javed (Viveik Kalra), a British teen of Pakistani descent growing up in the town of Luton, England, in 1987. Amidst the racial and economic turmoil of the times, he writes poetry as a means to escape the intolerance of his hometown and the inflexibility of his traditional father. But when a classmate introduces him to the music of “the Boss,” Javed sees parallels to his working-class life in Springsteen’s powerful lyrics. As Javed discovers a cathartic outlet for his own pent-up dreams, he also begins to find the courage to express himself in his own unique voice.

BRIAN BANKS

After verbally committing to the USC football program in 2002, Brian Bank’s life is upended when a classmate falsely accuses him of rape. While he maintains his innocence, Banks is sentenced to five years in prison and five years of probation, and is forced to register as a sex offender. With the help of the California Innocence Project, Banks’ conviction is overturned in 2012. “BROKE AND FAMOUS”?

It's a YOUTH based car club that gets out there in the sun and rain having mega amounts of fun bonding with each other and their modified rides!

If you are not really up on the car hobby, you may not know that about 90% of the guys with nice vintage cars don’t actually drive them much and when they do it's only on pavement. If it looks at all like rain they don’t even go out in them. They stay home and shelter their cars under a weather proof cover in the garage. Sorry, but to me I don’t see the fun in that?

I'm probably the only Corvette owner that ran it in the winter time up north with chains on it during the deep snow days.

Getting back. Yes, it takes a lot of time to keep them shiny, but heck that's suppose to be a fun part of the hobby. If you won't drive your car in anything but perfect weather you're not having enough fun!

Thankfully with our youth movement in the car hobby it’s getting to be cars driven in just about any weather, plus as I have pointed out before the Hispanic car owners are just the only ones that almost always bring the whole family to car events, including the kids (and under control I might add), plus mom and grandma, etc. That's why I am so happy now just writing for LA VOZ.

OK. I have to mention some of the BROKE & FAMOUS members outstanding cars. Beginning with the club’s owner and founder, Chris Amaya with his Fast and Furious, Johnny Tran replica 2000 black Honda AP2. Then you have to check out Ricardo Amaya’s medium blue Jack Roush made, extra fast Mustang. In keeping with our "they are out running the heck out of their rides", we caught Huber Rodriguez's electric blue, Mitsubishi EVO ripping down the road. Then if you happen to need a four door, check out the really lowered black 4 door Chrysler 200-S that's posing by an over pass with a river in the background, owned by Jeremy Brown. And I should give credit for the pictures to the main man Chris. Also out cruising at a bit higher speed, we find Brisli's Alvarado's teal blue, 2004 Nissan 350-Z. These things are already real fast from the assembly line.

Miriana Parada is the owner of this, black Audi TT 2.0 Litre turbocharged and has some real sharp mag rims. Then we have to give credit to David Meza at age 19, who happens to be one of the clubs younger members with his rare red S-15 Nissan S-15 Silvia that's totally super tuned to be mega fast.

Summing up, if you can see, check out the group photo that shows the puddles of rain and some dirt on the side of the electric blue EVO in the fore ground.

I hope you all can now come to maybe at least partially realize how generally unusual it is for any cars that are modified to ever get out in the rain.

Thank you very much for reading my column!

Mental Health Disparities by Race

Every year, approximately 42.5 million American adults suffer from some form of mental illness. There are many types of mental illnesses that a person may suffer from such as depression, schizophrenia or anxiety. Even though mental illness affects all ages and races, certain racial groups may be disproportionately affected.

Understanding Mental Health

While there isn’t a universally accepted definition for the term mental health, a general definition refers to mental health as a condition that relates to a person’s psychological and emotional well-being. Certain social determinants of health can play a big role in mental health disparities, as outlined here:

- African-Americans: African Americans frequently receive poorer quality of care and lack access to culturally competent care. According to the American Psychiatric Association, only one in three African Americans who need mental health care receive it. In comparison to the Caucasian population, African Americans are less likely to receive evidence-based care and are more likely to visit emergency rooms or primary care doctors instead of receiving help from mental health specialists.

- American Indian/Alaska Natives: American Indians and Alaska Natives experience rates of serious psychological distress 1.5 times greater than the general population. Native Americans also consume and abuse drugs and alcohol at younger ages than other groups.

- Asian American/Pacific Islanders: Unfortunately, mental health problems in the Asian American/Pacific Islander community are disturbingly high. Asian American women age 65 or older have the highest suicide rate in the country compared to other women of different ethnicities. Along with a high suicide rate, Asian Americans/Pacific Islanders have the lowest rates of mental health services among U.S. populations.

- Hispanic and Latino Americans: The most common theme within each race is the lack of mental health service availability. Approximately 1 in 10 Hispanic Americans with a mental health disorder use mental health services from a general health care provider, while only 1 in 20 receive these services from a mental health specialist. Another barrier Hispanic/Latino Americans face is a language barrier. Several studies have found that bilingual patients are evaluated differently when interviewed in English opposed to Spanish.

Mental health is important regardless of race, and there are so many ways to receive help. If you or someone you know is suffering from mental health issues, help is available.

Cada año, aproximadamente 42.5 millones de adultos estadounidenses sufren algún tipo de enfermedad mental. Hay muchos tipos de enfermedades mentales que una persona puede sufrir como depresión, esquizofrenia o ansiedad. Aunque la enfermedad mental afecta a todas las edades y razas, ciertos grupos raciales pueden verse afectados de manera desproporcionada.

Entendiendo la salud mental

Si bien no existe una definición universalmente aceptada para el término salud mental, una definición general se refiere a la salud mental como una condición que se relaciona con el bienestar psicológico y emocional de una persona. Ciertos determinantes sociales de la salud pueden jugar un papel importante en las disparidades de salud mental, como se describe aquí:

- Afroamericanos: los afroamericanos con frecuencia reciben una atención de menor calidad y carecen de acceso a una atención culturalmente competente. Según la Asociación Americana de Psiquiatría, solo uno de cada tres afroamericanos que necesitan atención de salud mental lo recibe. En comparación con la población caucásica, los afroamericanos tienen menos probabilidades de recibir atención basada en evidencia y son más propensos a visitar las salas de emergencia o los médicos de atención primaria en lugar de recibir ayuda de especialistas en salud mental.

- Indios americanos / nativos de Alaska: los indios americanos y los nativos de Alaska experimentan tasas de sufrimiento psicológico grave 1.5 veces mayor que la población general. Los nativos americanos también consumen y abusan de las drogas y el alcohol a edades más tempranas que todos los demás grupos.

- Asiático-americano / isleños del Pacífico: Desafortunadamente, los problemas de salud mental en la comunidad asiático-estadounidense / isleños del Pacífico son alarmantemente altos. Las mujeres asiáticas-estadounidenses de 65 años o más tienen la tasa más alta de suicidios en el país en comparación con otras mujeres de diferentes etnias. Junto con una alta tasa de suicidios, los estadounidenses de origen asiático / isleños del Pacífico tienen las tasas más bajas de servicios de salud mental entre las poblaciones de EE. UU.

- Hispanos y latinoamericanos: el tema más común dentro de cada raza es la falta de disponibilidad de servicios de salud mental. Aproximadamente 1 de cada 10 hispanoamericanos con un trastorno de salud mental utilizan los servicios de salud mental de un proveedor de atención médica general, mientras que solo 1 de cada 20 recibe estos servicios de un especialista en salud mental. Otra barrera que enfrentan los hispanoamericanos / latinos es la barrera del idioma. Varios estudios han encontrado que los pacientes bilingües se evalúan de manera diferente cuando se los entrevista en inglés y no en español.

La salud mental es importante sin importar la raza, y hay muchas maneras de recibir ayuda. Si usted o alguien que conoce padece problemas de salud mental, hay ayuda disponible.
