

Margaret Ryan Kreeger

is pleased to announce her career transition to Neutral Investigation and Mediation.

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

I am thrilled to announce a new chapter in my professional journey. After a rewarding career spanning decades in labor and employment law, I am pivoting to focus exclusively on workplace investigations and mediation services. With this transition, I aim to utilize my extensive expertise to help clients navigate the complexities of workplace dynamics with confidence and integrity.

What I Bring to the Table:

- Proven Expertise: A career enriched by roles such as Managing Attorney for BP America Inc., Senior Attorney at ARCO, and Special Assistant to Chairman Clarence Thomas of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.
- Global Perspective: Decades of experience advising international organizations across 20+ countries on labor and employment matters.
- Neutral Investigations: Conducting and supervising over 300 workplace investigations, including issues related to ethics, harassment, and discrimination.
- Mediation Mastery: Certified from Cornell University (pending) mediator with a nuanced understanding of employee relations and conflict resolution.

Why Choose My Services?

- Credibility: Member of the U.S. Supreme Court Bar, California State Bar, Pennsylvania State Bar, and the Association of Workplace Investigators.
- Results-Driven Approach: Combining legal acumen with practical business insights to identify risks, resolve conflicts, and foster healthier workplace environments.
- Training Excellence: Delivering impactful training on ethics, diversity, inclusion, and corporate governance to audiences ranging from small teams to thousands.

This transition reflects my commitment to leveraging my skills and passion for fostering equitable, compliant, and productive workplaces.
