MURDER WINDS Yvonne Champagne's 2022 album gets heavy with a song cycle dedicated to that most diabolic of desert weather: The Murder Winds. Now an art rock trio, Yvonne Champagne takes you on a de-tuned, double-bass-and-drums trip through what it's like to live with the wicked cyclones of the high desert. With Cat Celebrezze and Suze Kearns on bass and Denise Tanguay on drums, Murder Winds features gang vocals and the heavy sound of Mojave Fuzz. Inspired by the dudes with delay that pioneered the sound of Desert Rock, Yvonne Champagne's Murder Winds expands the Desert Rock landscape with detuned female fuzz. Starting off with the ominous "Dirt 'n Dust" and followed by the weather morality tale of "Sight Unseen," the mix gets heavier and heavier from there. After listening to the fuzz-and-wah of "Murder Winds Comin' Your Way," the Sabbath-inspired "Murder Winds Blues," the Punk Rock energy of "Murder Winds Again" And "Murder Winds Central," and the final uncategorizable dance anthem, "Make Like the Murder Winds," you'll never look at the weather the same way again.
