Vote Yes for Constitutional Amendment 5 on the ballot for May 16

Judge Van H. Kyzar

Please vote Yes for Constitutional Amendment 5 on the ballot for May 16. The amendment raises the age of retirement for Judges in Louisiana to 75 years, from the current 70-year retirement mandate. The reasons are simple.

- The voters are best suited to decide if a candidate should continue to serve.
- Experienced, highly qualified Judges are being forced into retirement.
- People are living longer productive lives and working longer.
- No other political office has a mandatory retirement age.
- By Supreme Court oversight, incompetent Judges can already be removed.

While the amendment does not put an end to what can only be called age bias, it does soften its effect. Voting Yes to raise the age is simply the right thing to do. In this election cycle alone, some 60 Judges of the approximately 360 in the State are being forced to retire. While some are doing so voluntarily, many others have an earnest desire to continue to serve the people of this great state. They should have the opportunity to do so, and it should be up to the voters to decide if they can continue, not some arbitrary age limit.

Early voting starts May 2 and ends May 9.

For more information go to <http://www.yeson5for75.com>

Thank you for your consideration.

WHAT WE'RE FIGHTING FOR

NAACP is leading the fight for
EQUALITY and JUSTICE

Form a diverse and fair federal judiciary

We need a fair and balanced judiciary that reflects all aspects of the legal profession, especially those who've promoted equality in the civil and criminal justice systems. The number of former prosecutors and corporate attorneys who sit on the bench outnumber former civil rights lawyers and public defenders, creating a system that's skewed against individuals. This imbalance will last for decades without intervention.

Eliminate racial and economic bias

To reform our justice system, we must address the structural inequities that allow people with lower incomes to be penalized in ways that wealthy people aren't. This systematically affects Black communities who continue to be over-policed, surveilled, harshly sentenced, and sent to prison in lieu of access to quality healthcare.

End mass incarceration

The U.S. has the largest prison population in the world — 1 in 100 citizens is behind bars. When incarceration is used as the primary response to social problems, individuals, families and communities suffer. We need to shift resources from prisons to education and community development, eliminate mandatory minimum sentences for non-violent offenses, establish treatment for health issues, and end the death penalty.

Natchitoches Boys & Girls Club Kids Help Clean Up During Love the Boot Week

During Love the Boot Week (April 18–26, 2026), enthusiastic kids from Natchitoches' local Boys & Girls Club joined thousands of volunteers across Louisiana in the state's largest litter removal and beautification effort. Organized by Keep Louisiana Beautiful, the week-long initiative encouraged communities to pick up trash and spruce up public spaces in honor of America's 250th birthday.

Armed with gloves, grabbers, and trash bags, the young volunteers helped to clean around the club. Their energy turned the cleanup into a fun lesson in teamwork, responsibility, and environmental care. Club leader De'Andrea Sanders noted that hands-on activities like this builds pride and teaches kids they can make a real difference in their communities. "Seeing the impact of their own efforts gives them confidence and a sense of ownership," one coordinator said. Love the Boot Week continues to grow, with volunteers statewide removing hundreds of tons of litter each year.

Biology Students Gain Rare Hands-On Experience with Threatened Louisiana Pinesnake

Students in the biology program with a wildlife management concentration recently participated in a valuable field experience, assisting the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries in tagging a Louisiana pinesnake. The Louisiana pinesnake is a federally threatened and state-imperiled species, making this hands-on opportunity particularly rare and meaningful for the aspiring wildlife professionals. This real-world project allowed the students to apply classroom knowledge while contributing to the conservation of one of Louisiana's most vulnerable snake species.
