

MY POLITICAL STATUS

My name is Shirley Jean Hoshaw Oyer, a woman born on the land of the independent country of Missouri (see Title 28 Sec. 297).

My political status is established by the preamble of the Constitution for the United States of America:

The following text is a transcription of the Constitution as it was inscribed by Jacob Shallus on parchment (the document on display in the Rotunda at the National Archives Museum.) Note: *The spelling and punctuation reflect the original.

"We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Prosperity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United states of America."

I am a member of We the People...sovereign body politic of the United States of America. I am the Posterity written in the Preamble of the Constitution for the United States of America.

Posterity: Future generations of People.

Sovereignty in this country rests with the People. We are sovereigns without subjects.

The United States of America as a Nation has sovereignty among the other Nations of the world.

The sovereignty of the states (independent countries united under the Union of the United States of America) has sovereignty among each other.

The United States of America does not have sovereignty over the People.

The independent states (independent countries) of the Union of the United States of America do not have sovereignty over the People. See the Supreme Court Case of Chisholm v Georgia.

1970: Brady v U.S. 397 U.S. 742 a 748. Supreme Court ruled that: "Waivers of Constitutional Rights not only must be voluntary, they must be knowingly intelligent acts, done with sufficient awareness of the relevant circumstances and consequences."

The Constitution for the United States of America gives the right to contract so long as there is no contract to do harm. Anything you sign is like a contract with the government and in their mind, they can act on what benefits their purpose.

At no time does the Congress of the United States have jurisdiction over a person born in one of the 50 union states. These men and women are American Nationals and are never a United States citizen unless they knowingly put themselves under the jurisdiction of Congress.

In the United States District Court, D. Delaware in the case of United States v Slater, 545 F. Supp. 179 (D. Del. 1982) it is stated that “unless the defendant can establish that he is not a citizen of the United States, the IRS possesses authority to attempt to determine his federal tax liability.

Because government is not honest, they have been putting things in front of Americans to trap them into the income tax system. Everything you apply for or sign for, you are asked “are you a United States citizen”? Most Americans think, I belong to this country, so they just mark that they are a United States citizen, without questioning what this means. Most people that I have talked to think they are being asked to distinguish themselves as belonging to this country versus others who do not belong to this country and may be here illegally. However, What the public is thinking and what the government is thinking are often two different things, especially when a document requires your signature.

It is not easy to establish this fact because almost anything you say, the IRS agents ignore, and the Judge turns a blind eye. A passport issued by the U.S. State Department showing which state you were born in but stating that you are not a United States citizen will establish that the United States Congress has no jurisdiction over you. The application that you fill out for a passport is your proof. If the government checks out this passport, they will also know

I am not a 14th Amendment Citizen

A citizen is always a subject to a sovereign entity.

It has been established that the 16th Amendment gave the government no new taxing ability. Therefore, the 16th Amendment is merely establishing what Congress can do to those that are 14th Amendment citizens.

The 16th Amendment does not apply to Americans born in one of the 50 Union States.

I am a Sovereign without subjects.
