You are reminded that August 31 is the deadline for submitting entries in the contest for the Douglas Southall Freeman Award for public service through radio journalism. The chairman of the judges is Ted Koop, Washington News Director for the Columbia Broadcasting System. You will be hearing from your awards chairman Howard Hamrick, in a few days about the details for submitting your entries.

It is now planned to hold our fall meeting in Roanoke in October, dates to be announced later.

Sincerely,

Frank H. Fuller
