Diversity

Why is diversity so important at nursery?

Emphasizing diversity helps children develop stronger social skills, emotional intelligence, and critical thinking, ultimately shaping them into inclusive and open-minded adults

Why is multicultural and an understanding of different cultures important at nursery?

Children who learn about different cultures during their early years feel more comfortable and safe with these differences later in life. This allows them to interact in a wider range of social groups and feel more confident in themselves as well as in their interactions with others. Early exposure to different cultures helps children develop a broader understanding of the world, build stronger social skills, and build a sense of identity and belonging.
