

CHRIS CONTROLS

Bringing Clarity to Controls

Consulting, Commissioning & Integration of Controls Systems

Our Mission

The mission of Chris Controls is to bridge the gap between the lighting controls design and the final deployment by providing support at every level to ensure the installed product can evolve and adapt to the needs of the end-user.

Who We Are

We are a small business which believes in a personalized approach. It is our passion to build lasting relationships which benefit every client from the manufacturer to the end user. Our vision is to future-proof a design so as new products are developed, they can easily be added to an existing controls system with minimal effort.

Why Choose Us

With more than 25 years of experience in the controls industry, we have worked with every manufacturer, big and small. From the standard one-size-fits-all controls to the open standard protocols, we know how to design the system, commission the system and troubleshoot the system.
