Resource Guide

2026 Edition

It Takes a Village

The Wirt County Family Resources Office represents a unique partnership built to strengthen families, connect neighbors to support, and ensure our community has access to the information it needs to thrive. Our office brings together three essential programs under one roof: the Wirt County Family Resource Network (FRN), the Wirt County Family Support Center (FSC), and the Family Crisis Intervention Center’s Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Advocate. Each program serves a distinct role, yet all share a common mission—supporting the wellbeing, safety, and stability of Wirt County families.

The Family Resource Network is responsible for maintaining and publishing this annual Resource Guide. As a community-based organization, the FRN works to identify local needs, strengthen partnerships, and make sure families know where to turn when they need help. The Family Support Center provides a welcoming space for learning, connection, and family engagement. Together, these programs form the Wirt County Family Resources Office, a collaborative hub dedicated to prevention, empowerment, and community resilience.

Both the FRN and the FSC are funded through the West Virginia Department of Human Services, Division of Family Support, whose investment makes this work possible.

This Resource Guide is designed to be comprehensive but not all-inclusive. Wirt County is home to many organizations, helpers, and community efforts that evolve throughout the year. While every attempt has been made to include accurate and up-to-date information, programs and services may change. We encourage readers to use this guide as a starting point—a tool to help you navigate resources, discover support, and stay connected to the people and programs working every day to strengthen our county.
