FEATURED ARTIST SUE REEVES

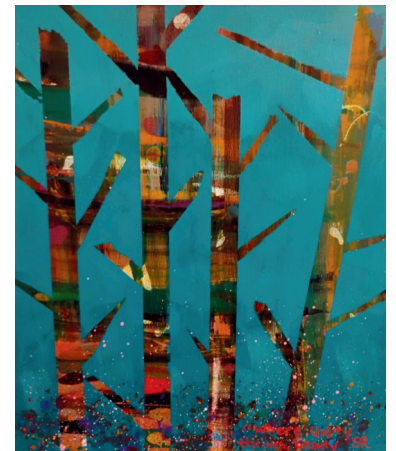

Sue currently has five pieces of art displayed at Shames JCC on the Hudson. Sue has been busy working with a new medium of art, acrylic on canvas! Sue has also been sharing her passion for art by introducing different forms of art to others. As a caretaker for Carson, a disabled young adult diagnosed with Smith-Lemli-Opitz syndrome (SLO), they have collaborated on projects which were featured in two Holiday pop-up markets in their community.

Next year, Sue will be attending the SLO Foundations Annual Conference and fundraiser while she proudly represents Strokes of Genius as an artist!

In the coming days, Sue and Carson will be creating an acrylic on canvas piece that will be auctioned off at that event.

Linking Creativity and Autism

Join us for a fascinating presentation by Dr. Rosa Martinez, president and founder of Strokes of Genius, Inc, to learn more about the amazing skills of artists with autism and savants. Along with a brief history and introduction to the extraordinary art of these individuals, she will show you selections of their paintings, music, and other works—including those currently on display.
