On Being a Theologian

Reformation Day is celebrated by Lutherans on the last Sunday in October. We pause to remember what Martin Luther did to bring the Gospel back to the church. Martin Luther was not the first to call for reformation of the church, there were others, but his work began what we call today the Lutheran Reformation.

As a young monk and preacher, Luther began to realize that the church was doing some things that were not in the Bible nor in the best interest of the Christians. He heard of indulgence sellers who would make a business of selling the forgiveness of sins. He knew of relics where, just by viewing, could give time off purgatory. He even traveled to Rome and felt let down by the lack of holiness found in the city. Luther began pushing for reform.

Luther wanted to talk Scripture with bishops, cardinals and even the pope. He did not want to hear about what the church father or church councils had said. He wanted the Bible to be the source and norm of church doctrine and practice. But Rome wouldn't budge. Luther was excommunicated and threatened with death.

Amid that threat Luther found great comfort and peace in the Gospel, that which the church had forgotten for so long. The indulgences, penance, relics, pilgrimages, masses for the dead all obscured what Jesus had done for the sinner. Rome was focusing on what sinners could or should do to earn or help with their salvation. Luther realized that it must be God who does all the work. If sinners are sinners there is nothing that we can do to earn our way into heaven. Our wills are bent to sin. God must step in, like the good Samaritan, pick us up amid our death and do all the work.

Luther advocated that every Christian should know the Bible and be a theologian. He even gave instructions on how to do this! He began by telling us to despair of all reason that is to simply trust in God. Never assume that we know more than God, but to put ourselves under God in humble faith. Luther then set out to show how one becomes a theologian.

First, one had to read Scripture. This is not a one-time reading, but a continual reading. As David so often asked in Psalm 119, so we should implore God to enlighten, guide and give us understanding about His Word. The more we read the more we understand about God. The more we understand the more we should want to know even more. We should not assume that we have mastered Scripture and no longer need it. We may know the basic accounts, but still there is more to learn. God speaks and so we listen.

Second, Luther said that one needed to meditate on the Words of God. So we don't just read them and forget, but we allow those words to stick with us. They inform our lives and our existence. We speak them back to God in prayer as we pray for ourselves and those around us. We remember the goodness that God has toward us and His mercy outpoured throughout generations. Knowing our sinful nature and our sins, we pray back to God for forgiveness.

This might seem obvious for us. After all, we place an emphasis on Scripture. We focus on God's Word in worship, Bible Study and at home. We memorize and take to heart His Word. We confess our sins and draw upon the grace of God, which we know that we need. This is the way that we live as Lutherans.

Third, Luther reminds us that the devil will not approve of us living our lives as Christians. He will not want you to be in the Word of God nor pray. Thus, the devil will bring all manner of suffering into your life. So Luther said that if you wish to be a theologian you must be in the Word, meditate on that word and suffer. Through suffering we experience how sweet the mercy of God is. Consider those who have suffered before us. People like Jeremiah, Job or Paul. As they suffered they clung to the Word of God and prayer. They did not waver for they had been in that Word, trusting the mercy of God. But you know people who have lived this way. Family, friends, neighbors who have been faithful to the very end amid suffering.

So you be a theologian. Be in the Word of God. Pray. Suffer. Not only for your own sake, but that others would see your faithful example and do the same. Amid our sin we always are in need of reform. We can do better loving God and loving our neighbor. As we celebrate Reformation Day, we remember those who have gone before, reforming the church. But we also look ahead to the next generation that they would see the faith we have and be encouraged. That they too would be in the Word of God and amid suffering, stand fast.

In Jesus Christ crucified,
Pastor Boyer

Psalm 28:7

*The LORD is my strength and my shield;
In him my heart trusts, and I am helped;
My heart exults,
And with my song I give thanks to him.*

November. Fall. Harvest. Hunting. Thanksgiving Day---the day the English colonists gave thanks for the harvest, celebrating with the native Wampanoag people in the year 1621. The English settlers arrived at Plymouth, Massachusetts in 1620, and this was their first harvest according to Encyclopedia Britannica. They gave thanks for the fowl they hunted, maybe turkeys, but more likely easier game like geese and ducks. Today we celebrate with turkeys, mashed potatoes and gravy, sweet potatoes, vegetables, cranberry sauce and of course, pumpkin pie, my favorite.

And who do we give thanks to for our great feast? God, of course! We give Him thanks for our feast and for His Son, Jesus Christ, who gave His life for us by dying on the Cross to forgive our sins so that we can be with Him in heaven eternally. As we celebrate we give thanks for those with whom we gather for this wonderful meal.

While November is the month for giving thanks, we give thanks daily throughout the year for our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, without whom we would perish and have nothing for which to be thankful.

“Thank you God, for sending us your Holy Son! In His name, Amen.”

When Jesus comes again the final harvest will show us that “God Loves Us Eternally!”

Happy Thanksgiving and God’s blessings to all!
Jim Bratton

School News

Greetings from CTK!

We have one quarter of the school year in the books already!

Our 6th & 7th graders had a great time at Camp Howell from October 21-23! They learned a great deal about survival in the outdoors, as well as working as a team. A lot of fun memories were made too!

Trunk or Treat was October 25 and we had a great turn out once again! Thank you to all who help make this event a success each year!

Our B boys and girls have started their basketball season with practices this week! Go Knights!

We still have about 20 used Chromebooks that we are selling. They are $40 each. Contact Mr. Deneen if you would like to purchase one at deneenm@ctkl.org.

The school recycling program has been going well. Mrs. Brink is still in need of about $980 to cover the costs to make it successful. If you would like to donate to the project, please reach out to her at brinky@ctkl.org or leave a message in the school or church office for her.

Blessings,
Jen Yoder - Interim Principal

Greetings from CTK Preschool/Latchkey Director

Well the beginning of the year is flying by and Christmas will be here before we know it. Busy is an understatement in our preschool rooms and our latchkey program is at capacity everyday with the exception of Fridays.....which is absolutely amazing. We are blessed by amazing staff whose flexibility is amazing as we currently look to add to our team.

We also just kicked off our classroom virtual Adopt-A-Cow Program through Discover Dairy. Our adopted cow is named Marly Moo and we of course celebrated the start of our Marly Moo with some cow goodies for the children and some fun cow props that will make their appearance once a month as we get our monthly updates on Marly Moo's growth etc.

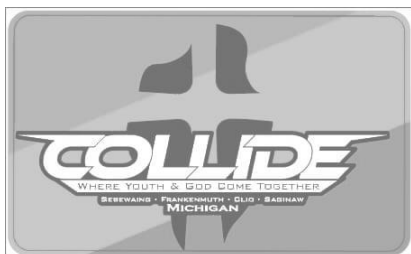

We have had some amazing people come to us for staycation field trips. We have been blessed by Thistle Gate Farms as they taught us about bees, Battel's Sugar Bush Maple Syrup as they taught us all about the process of getting maple syrup, our amazing Sergeant Drew Gokey from Sebawaing Township Police Department, and the Sebawaing and Columbia Township Fire Departments. We can't wait for the children to see who else we have lined up to visit this year.

We are also starting to practice some very fun songs for the Christmas Program which preschool will be participating in on December 15th at 2pm, there will be a small reception in the CTK Unionville school gym following the program and we hope to see you all there.

As always, we thank you all for your continued support of our preschool and latchkey programs and for the many children and families that we have the privilege to be a part of. We are truly blessed beyond measure.

Sincerely,
Laura Nimitz
