

bUneke Magazine, (be unique) is a tool of the 501c3 organization, PEACECORE, Inc. Our name is an acronym that provides some insight into our ethos. We are philanthropists, educators, activists. We are compassionate, evolving, charitable, optimistic, responsible and enthusiastic. We publish a free monthly interactive, digital magazine and print-on-demand, for a small fee, a magazine to provide the high-quality, literary-style tactile experience some readers desire.

We highlight stories about world-changers and difference-makers and share news about people caught in the act of doing good for others. Our writers and photographers are professionals who volunteer their time and they come to us from 12 different countries.

Organized in March 2018, we launched our inaugural issue in June. We still need of funds to update the technology required to bring our publications to life. We believe we are far ahead of many publications, so imagine what we can do with augmented reality and true interactivity!

When you become one of our corporate sponsors, you'll help us reach a global community of emerging philanthropists and charitable humans.
