

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great enthusiasm that I write this letter of recommendation for Carly Villanueva. I had the pleasure of supervising her during the prestigious Masters Golf Tournament, where I served as the area chef overseeing four major sponsor cabins. Out of a talented team of 42 cooks, Carly stood out as the strongest and most reliable among them.

Carly's culinary skills are exceptional. She brings both finesse and consistency to every dish she prepares. But what truly sets her apart is her ability to adapt quickly in high pressure environments and her natural leadership presence. At the Masters, she was assigned to work directly with the executive team of Mercedes-Benz, one of our most high-profile clients. Not only did she handle this responsibility with grace and professionalism, but she also elevated the experience through her attention to detail, poise, and intuitive hospitality.

Whether managing last-minute changes, supporting her peers, or stepping up to lead when needed, Carly consistently displayed initiative, composure, and a commitment to excellence. She doesn't just cook, she creates an experience that leaves a lasting impression, both in the kitchen and with guests.

Carly is a true asset to any team and has my full recommendation for any position or opportunity she pursues.

Sincerely,

Jared Bobkin
