About Whakatiri Wiltsires

We are a SIL registered stud that has been developed using some of the best available genetics that we can source. Our focus is on developing a low input, high output animal.

To achieve this we are breeding only from early shedding, short fleeced animals. The outputs require that we produce twins every year and lamb as hoggets. We are selecting for fast growing lambs that wean with good weights and continue to thrive.

Farming in a very eczema prone area, we have chosen to focus heavily on FE tolerance. This has directed our choice of ram selection and been our primary focus. We have found that rams dead from FE do not make great breeders no matter what their other traits.

We have selected hogget ewes based on testing with natural challenge, and this year tested a range of rams with the ramguard program to 0.35. We have been able to start at this level due to our investment in top quality FE tolerant genes from sires purchased.

Our goals are pretty simple. We want an animal that is going to survive and thrive in eczema country and produce a lot of fast growing healthy lambs. We mate our hoggets and cull any animals that do not get in lamb in their first year, or produce a set of twins as a 2th.

Explanation of SIL indexes

DPCR	Dual Purpose Capped Reproduction
DPS	Dual Purpose Survival
DPG	Dual Purpose Growth
DPX	Dual Purpose FE
NZTW	Terminal Worth
NZMW	Maternal Worth
SHED	Shedding score at 8 months (taken before 1 Feb)
BWT	Birth Weight
WWT	Weaning Weight
LW6	Weight at 6 months
LW8	Weight at 8 Months

Although we are entering and recording all data for the flock, we have grown our numbers significantly and screened in a lot of stock. More connectedness within flock and history of pedigree creates more meaningful BVs, and this will take more generational information than we currently have.

Every year we are getting more detailed information in regards to BVs, but at the moment most of my selection criteria comes from raw data, including;

Multiples of multiples for Reproduction.

Number of lambs weaned for dam and dam of dam for survival.

Weights for growth, taking into account exact age and rear rank.

Shed and SHEDMA for dam and sire.

Updated photos can be provided for individual animals. The photos in this catalogue were taken in late September when moult was underway, and at the end of a pretty tough winter for feed.
