Once upon a time, there was a girl named Red. Red is a Neophyte: “Always learning. Fresh and positive responses to all new subjects, skills and beliefs.” Her belief in fun, adventure, and justice led her on an incredible odyssey.

Red’s real name was Payton, but when Red was in kindergarten, there was a boy who was also named Payton and it got really confusing. Payton’s grandmother called her Red because of her red hair. Ever since then, everyone had called her Red.

Red lived with her grandmother most of the time since her dad worked for the military and was gone a lot. Red’s grandmother had a boyfriend that Red didn’t really like, mainly because he was a WOLF! Red had a bad experience with a wolf once and has disliked them ever since. To get away from the wolf, Red and Dr. Huckleberry, her talking hoodie, loved to visit the public library to read all kinds of books and to visit her friend, Librarian Todd.

One day, Red wandered into the library and checked the perimeter as usual. Red was excited to tell Librarian Todd all about her new idea of going on an odyssey. She had read a book called The Odyssey, which was about going on an adventure. This is what inspired her to start a new adventure. She held a bow and arrow to him, waiting for his reaction. Librarian Todd did not react. “Greetings fellow Neophyte!” exclaimed Red trying to get his attention. Something was wrong, Librarian Todd seemed worried and upset. He wasn’t responding to Red as he usually would by helping her secure the perimeter and giving her the Neophyte salute.

Librarian Todd was focused on something on his computer. His eyes wouldn’t budge from the screen as Red heard beeping sounds. “What are you doing, Librarian Todd?” she asked. Librarian Todd just continued staring at the computer.

Red jumped up next to Librarian Todd and realized what
