III. RELIGIOUS AFFILIATION & COMMUNITY/ PROGRAM SERVICE

All students are expected to exhibit ideals of service to their community and their religious institutions. One purpose of the Galilee Center Study Abroad program is to teach the principles of charity and virtuous living.

Regardless of religious affiliation, all students are expected to participate in accepting opportunities to serve on the program and in the community, including acceptance of their church or religious organization's assignments. Latter-day Saints on the program are expected to participate actively in church meetings and accept branch assignments and callings.
