Re: Help Us Build a Modern Academic Resource Center at Calabar High School

Dear Friends and Supporters,

On behalf of the Calabar Alumni Association of New York, I extend warm greetings and heartfelt appreciation for your continued support of education and youth development. Today, I write to you with an exciting and urgent opportunity to make a meaningful difference in the lives of young men at Calabar High School in Kingston, Jamaica.

We are embarking on a critical infrastructure project to transform an underutilized space on campus into a state-of-the-art Academic Resource Center. This center will serve as a hub for learning, innovation, and academic excellence—equipped with WiFi connectivity, desktop computers, digital learning tools, and quiet study areas that support both individual focus and collaborative study for over 1000 students.

As you may know, access to technology and a conducive learning environment is no longer a luxury—it is a necessity. Many of our students face barriers that limit their ability to fully engage in academic and personal growth. This project aims to eliminate those barriers and give every student the tools they need to thrive in today's digital world.

To support this effort, we are launching a 61-day fundraising campaign starting December 1, 2025 and ending January 31, 2026. We invite you to consider a symbolic donation of $61 or more—a meaningful tribute to the school's iconic address at 61 Red Hills Road, Kingston, Jamaica. Every dollar raised will go directly toward construction, equipment, and maintenance of the facility. We are calling on you—our alumni, community partners, and friends of Calabar—to contribute generously and be a part of this transformational effort.

Here's how you can donate: (Put your email or phone number AND "Resource Center" on the memo line so we can say thank you)

Your support will leave a lasting legacy—not only in the physical infrastructure but in the minds and futures of the young scholars who walk through Calabar's gates every day. Join us as we honor the spirit of "The Utmost for the Highest" by investing in the next generation.

With gratitude on behalf of the Board of Directors of the Calabar Alumni Association of New York,
