GALVESTON COUNTY CITIZEN SHERIFF'S ACADEMY

The Galveston County Citizen Sheriff's Academy is a 37-hour block of instruction designed to give its graduates a working knowledge of the Sheriff's Office structure, function, and role within the community. The academy is a 12-week course with classes to be held on a weekday night from 7:00PM to 10:00PM. The training is conducted at a location that is convenient for the participants.

Any interested citizen who resides or works in Galveston County is encouraged to participate in this EXCITING! and educational program. All participants must be at least 16 years of age and each attendee is allowed to miss 10% of the training. However, if a participant is forced to miss more than 10% of the course then arrangements can be made for them to make up the needed class at the next academy so they may receive their diploma. Deputies, supervisors and personnel with specialized expertise as well as the Criminal District Attorney will provide the instruction.

The course endeavors to increase awareness by forging meaningful partnerships between Members of the Community and Members of Law Enforcement through education. It is their hope that members of this agency will become aware of the current feelings and concerns of our community through the input and interactions of the participants.

HAVE YOU CHECKED YOUR ZIP CODE?

Jimmy JJ Walker did and got $1200.00 a year added to his Medicare and, let's face it, he probably needed it. I haven't seen him on TV since I was a teenager. You can call the Medicare helpline and it will be DYN-O-MITE!! Are you going to call to eliminate Co-Pays, add money to your Social Security check or to save money and get everything you deserve? The public has been bombarded lately with a slew of celebrity skills peddling supplemental healthcare coverage. They include ancient football star, Joe Namath with his unnaturally large and white teeth flailing his arms weirdly hollering about all the benefits you should be receiving, a cranky and obstinate old woman named Margaret, and panini press salesman George Foreman.

What is a senior citizen to do? The staff at The Seabreeze News have our worries about aging (stress, wrinkles) but this puts a whole new level of stress about when we get there and what decisions we should make. The Medicare Annual Election Period (also called Open Enrollment) starts on October 15 each year and ends on December 7. That means that typically, the Medicare commercials and mail start right after Labor Day, with phone calls beginning October 1. Under the Medicare guidelines, marketers cannot call or set appointments prior to October 1, but they can definitely get you "thinking" about the election period. With more than 100,000 brokers and agents certified to sell Medicare supplements, Medicare Advantage, and Part D plans, that's a lot of people trying to get your business in less than two months. (And that doesn't include the insurance companies who also want your business.) Medicare Advantage plans are extremely profitable for the insurance carriers – and agents/brokers only have the Annual Election Period to get as many fish in their net as possible for the upcoming year (not including people who age in when they turn 65).

While these commercials of record-breaking length and frequency seem to spew a lot of information, there is much left unsaid and that's the important information you need to make a smart decision. First and foremost to remember, these are commercials by private insurance companies that are trying to sell additional insurance on top of Medicare and some of the "extras" they claim are already built in to a Medicare plan. For instance, they said you can get free preventative screenings. Medicare covers a long list of preventative and screening services. You don't need to enroll in one of these plans to receive these services. They also say, "All these benefits may be available at no additional cost to you." However, at the moment the narrator says this, a line of small type appears on the bottom of the screen. It's only there for a few seconds while the list of benefits continues. The small type reads, "Plan premiums, copayments, and coinsurance can apply." Say it ain't so, Joe!

The Seabreeze News cares about our senior community and we encourage everyone to check out and research any one of these help lines through the Better Business Bureau or look them up online, read their reviews, and double check the fine print.

There was a joker in the area a few years ago saying he could help get seniors an extra $300.00 to $400.00 a month. That guy turned out to be a total joke. If you want to make the call, just remember it's Freeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeee or you could be like Margret and just say NO!

If any of you seniors have made these calls, please let us know what decisions you made.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,
 Four years ago, my mother-in-law had a stroke and lost the use of her right arm. She felt that she couldn't use much of her jewelry anymore so she gave me a few of her pieces. Although the gesture was sweet, the jewelry was not my taste. I had kept it put away for many years, but finally this past winter, money was a little tight and I decided to sell some of my least favorite. I ended up using the money for groceries so we could have a little extra money for Christmas and a birthday for our youngest child. Just a month or so ago my mother-in-law called me up to asked if she could borrow for the very hoop earrings I sold and my heart sank! I told her the clasp was broken from a one-time use and were unusable, and she left it at that. Then a couple of weeks ago she asked my husband if he remembered the heart necklace she gave me, he told her he did, she also asked for that back so she could wear it again. Well, I sold that one too! My husband has no idea I sold these items and I don't think he would say anything about it if I told him. Now I'm hoping she doesn't ask for it again, but I know she will. Do I fess up?

Signed,
 Sold it in Seabrook

Dear Sold it,
 I understand that such a gift could be considered handing down an heirloom, but unless the point is made explicitly that this is something that should be kept in the family, a gift is a gift and people are free to do with a gift as they like. There is also an informal statute of limitation on such things. If your mother-in-law had realized a few months after she had given you the jewelry that she had acted too abruptly and wearing her beloved pieces made her feel better, then surely you would have understood and handed them back. But this is now four years later. So if your mother-in-law is enjoying wearing jewelry again, that's great, but it's not fair at this point to ask for things back. Especially since you don't have them. What you do depends on the kind of relationship you have with her. If it is warm and friendly, you just need to tell her the truth. If it's not so warm and friendly, have your husband be the go-between. It might be easier to hear from him that things are a little tight financially, and you both thought it was fair to turn the jewelry, lovely as it was, into something more immediately useful for the grandchildren—emphasize the grandchildren.

Dear Editor,
 I just saw on the news that 50 million barrels of oil is going to be released from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. It's my understanding the SPR is intended to give the United States protection from interruption of oil supplies such as disruption of refinery operations, natural disasters, wars or some other extreme event. I don't understand how this going to help the skyrocketing gas prices we pay, do you?

Signed,
 Confused in Kemah

Dear Confused,
 The short answer is it won't help at all. Considering the American people use roughly 18 million barrels per day, this ridiculous release should last us less than three days. On top of that, what they're giving us isn't even refined, it's called "sour crude" and our refineries don't want anything to do with it. There will most likely be a significant lag time before we get our nickel decrease per gallon. As the news guy on TV said, "It's like your mom asking you to bring something to Christmas dinner and you show up with two Triscuits."

Dear Editor,
 It's that time of year and I dress my dogs in Christmas gear and I post it on Facebook. I love my dog and he is all I have now that the kids are grown and in their 40's, The problem is my grown kids make fun of me for doing this. They say that I love the dog more than them, that I never dressed them up in Christmas gear and posted pics of them.

Signed,
 Frustrated in Bolivar

Dear Frustrated,
 Tell your grown-up BRATS that there was no Facebook back then. If there was, you would of posted pics of them like the time they peed their pants.

Dear Editor,
 I wrote you a letter that you published in your August 2021 issue. I signed it Retired In Kemah. I was the man that retired, turned to day drinking and got a job to realize that I needed to just stop day drinking, and I'm too cheap to pay for cable. Well, I lied... I don't live in Kemah. I live in Bacliff and my real name is Roy. I have done very well with the 5 o'clock rule, but the TV is driving me to the edge of day drinking. December 7th will be the happiest day of my life! I cannot take one more commercial of the darned OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD!!

San Leon Don's FISHING TIPS

Don is on a first name basis with most of the local fish...

Now is the time to catch a big Bull red, usually around structures or big rocks like the jetties. Try using cut mullet for bait. I don't like to blow my own horn but I've been thinking about having an instructional seminar for the young children in our area. I did this several years ago and it was a big success. We gave away rods and reels to those attending the class. Thanks to the sponsors that we had or it wouldn't have happened, Steve Hoyland Sr. and Steve Jr. and Chuck Jardino. Just putting the idea out there if anyone would be interested in stepping up to the task and be in charge. I will be glad to help. It is a very worthy project as we need to help our kids and interest them in fishing and out of trouble. Let me know if you are interested, it will take time to get it together.

DEAR STEVE'S WIFE TRAINING SCHOOL TIPS FROM A GRADUATE

'Twas the Night Before Christmas

'Twas the night before Christmas and graduation night in our town. All the new grads were to receive their gold crowns. They had worked all year to get a good grade in Dear Steve's Wife Training School where good housewives are made. One by one he called them by name: Now Sister! Now Terri! Now Rhonda and Rindy! Now, Nanner and Gena! And for her knowledge of cars, come on up Thena! On up Michelle for serving the coldest... but before he could finish you could hear her yell, hell yes, I finally passed the &%# bar. Her crown was the goldest! Their husbands were all nestled away at the Sunset Lounge drinking cold beer bragging. Their wives had made them so proud; it was going to be a long night without any nagging! They gathered their crowns and all rushed home for there was no time to waste. There was a turkey in the oven that was ready to baste. The children were fed, bathed and in bed dreaming that Santa would pull up in his sled. Into the kitchen they went with no delay. So much to do to be ready for Christmas Day! As the tunes of Christmas music played, flour was flying and the pumpkin pies were made. Dishes to wash and laundry to do, they hurried along like they had learned in school. They bustled about stopping only for wine for the clock was ticking and there wasn't much time. When suddenly in the window lights did appear, who could it be? Why it's not even midnight, oh dear! Then through the door he came, his belly full of beer and his heart full of cheer. He had gift in his hand wrapped in a brown bag with one red bow and some mistletoe. As she opened the gift, he exclaimed in voice so loud, your very own Dear Steve's Wife Training Shirt! Honey, you've made me so proud! Merry Christmas to you all and a Blessed New Year!

Funny Bones

Three men and a young woman are traveling on a train. The four passengers get talking and the chat soon takes a spicy turn. The young woman proposes: "If each of you gives me $1, I will show you my legs." The men, charmed by the woman, all pull a dollar out of their wallet and she proceeds to pull up her dress a bit to show her legs.

The woman then says: "If each of you gentlemen gives me $10, I will show you my thighs." Again, the men pull out their wallets, hand over the money and the woman pulls up her dress to show her legs. The woman continues: "If you give me $100m I will show you where I was operated on for appendicitis," All three hand over the money. The woman then turns to the window and points outside at a building they're passing. "See there in the distance, that's the hospital where I had it done!"

Frank the farmer had a nagging wife. She made his life miserable. The only real peace he got was when he was out in the field plowing. One day while he was in the field, Frank's wife brought him his lunch. While he quietly ate, she berated him with a constant stream of nagging and complaining. Suddenly, Frank's old donkey kicked up his back legs, struck her in the head killing her instantly. At the funeral, the priest noticed that when the women offered their sympathy, Frank would nod his head up and down and when the men came up and spoke to him, he would shake his head from side to side. After the mourners left, the priest asked Frank, "Why did you nod your head up and down to all the women and shook your head side to side to all the men?" Frank replied, "Well, the women all said how nice she looked and how pretty her dress was so I agreed by nodding my head up and down. All of the men asked if the donkey was for sale."

A guy walks into a bar looking frustrated. The bartender asks, "What's the matter?" The guy replies, "Well, I've got these two horses and I can't tell them apart. I don't know if I'm mixing up riding times or even feeding them the right foods." The bartender suggests, "Why don't you try shaving the tail of one of the horses?" The guy says, "That sounds like a good idea, I think I'll try it." A few months later, he returns to the bar in worse condition. "I shaved the tail of one of the horses, but it grew back and I can't tell them apart again!" The bartender says, "Why don't you try shaving the mane?" A few months later the guy is back. "I shaved the mane of one of the horses, but it grew back!" The bartender yells, "Just measure the damn horses. Perhaps one is slightly taller than the other one!" The guy storms out of the bar. The next day, the guy runs into the bar. "It worked, it worked!" he exclaims. "I measured the horses, and the black one is two inches taller than the white one!"

A woman came home, screeching her car into the driveway, and ran into the house. She slammed the door and shouted excitedly, "Honey, pack your bags. I won the lottery!" The husband said, "Oh my God! What should I pack, beach stuff or mountain stuff?" "It doesn't matter," she said. "Just get out."

Miss Beatrice, the church organist, was in her eighties and had never been married. She was admired for her sweetness and kindness to all. One afternoon the pastor came to call on her and she showed him into her quaint sitting room. She invited him to have a seat while she prepared tea. As he sat facing her old Hammond organ, the young minister noticed a cut glass bowl sitting on top of it. The bowl was filled with water, and in the water floated, of all things, a condom! When she returned with tea and scones, they began to chat. The pastor tried to stifle his curiosity about the bowl of water and its strange floater, but soon it got the better of him and he could no longer resist. "Miss Beatrice," he said, "I wonder if you would tell me about this?" pointing to the bowl.

"Oh, yes," she replied, "Isn't it wonderful? I was walking through the park a few months ago and I found this little package on the ground. The directions said to place it on the organ, keep it wet and that it would prevent the spread of disease. Do you know I haven't had the flu all winter!"

Teacher: Who is the President of the United States?

Johnny: I don't know, Miss.

Teacher: You need to focus more on your studies.

Johnny: Please, Miss, can I ask a question?

Teacher: Yes.

Johnny: Do you know Angela?

Teacher: Nope. Why?

Johnny: You need to focus more on your husband!

In Loving Memory

Charles Marshall Jones (Charlie), 87, of San Leon, Texas was called home to our Lord on October 15, 2021.

Charles Jones was born June 25, 1934, in Borger, Texas to Obie Tyman Jones and Elizabeth Mary Jones.

He is survived by sons, Michael Jones, Gary Jones, and Danny Jones, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

He was a long-time member of the American Legion Post 291 in San Leon, Texas. He had a passion for fishing, football, singing and playing country music. He loved his children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held December 5th, 2021, at 1:00 p.m. at the San Leon Cemetery.

Harold D. Caldwell, Retired Chief of Police, Houston Police Department, passed away peacefully on Thursday, the 4th of November 2021, at the age of 90.

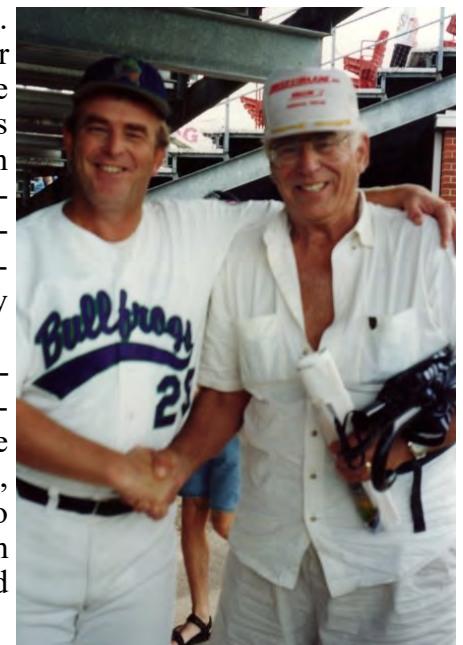

Chief Caldwell, known to most who had the pleasure to meet him as Harry, is survived by his wife, the love of his life, Joan; his step-children Garland Pinson, Catherine Pinson, and Elizabeth Pinson Vardaman and her husband, Stuart. "Pawpaw" is also survived by his grandchildren, Sloane Romano, Leah Caldwell, Kendall Pinson, and Wrenne, Knox, and Macaslin Vardaman, and his great-granddaughter, Kayla Romano. Harry is predeceased by his beloved son, Harold Dwane Caldwell, Jr. (2009) and his brothers, James and Dale.

Known as a strict disciplinarian, Harry always held himself and his officers to a strict code of accountability for the use of the authority granted them by the citizens of Houston. Harry was known for his innovative approach to police work, including the "Houstonians On Watch" program; this field training officer program, which he adopted from California law enforcement prototypes, emphasized his focus on professional responsibility balanced with empathy. While pursuing his law enforcement career, he taught police administration and behavioral sciences to thousands of Texas law enforcement officers over the years at the University of Houston, South Texas College, and Sam Houston State University in Huntsville - some of the same institutions where Harry had earned his BS and MA degrees. Harry had completed all his academic work for his doctorate degree when he was appointed by Mayor Jim McConn to the office of Chief of Police. Chief Caldwell held one of the first instructor certifications by the Texas Commission on

Law Enforcement Standards and Education.

Chief Caldwell was a published author. His book, Basic Law Enforcement, is used in many Criminal Justice programs. He designed the Houston Police Academy and lobbied for its construction until it became a reality.

Harry was born in Robertson County, near Franklin, Texas. He and three other members of his Franklin High School graduation class joined the United States Marine Corps in August of 1948. Rising to the rank of Staff Sergeant, he was at one time one of the youngest Staff Sergeants in the Corps. He was a part of the close air support group that supported the 1st Marine Division at the battle of Inchon, Korea. Harry became a member of ComPhibGru 1 under Admiral James H. Doyle; this group evacuated the Marines from Hungnam Harbor in North Korea. For a short period, he was assigned, along with 5 other Marines as security detail for General Douglas MacArthur. Sgt. Caldwell had the distinction of being personally chewed out by General MacArthur for entering his cabin aboard the USS Mt. McKinley without the general's permission. The General's "attention" did not impact Harry's award of a Letter of Commendation medal with Combat V nor his award of the Korean War Campaign ribbon with three battle stars for his work in helping direct close air support during various battles with the Chinese Communist Peoples Army. After the Korean War campaign, Staff Sergeant Caldwell was detailed to MCRD Parris Island, South Carolina. As a drill Instructor, training Marine recruits, Harry provided some "attention" of his own to a multitude of some of our nation's finest soldiers and patriots. After completing his four-year enlistment in August, 1952, he was honorably discharged; Harry made application to, and was accepted for, police training in Cadet Class #10, the following year. He served the citizens of Houston as a police officer for 27 years in every rank from patrolman on the City's waterfront to Chief of Police.

After his retirement, Chief Caldwell became a security consultant, working with both defense and plaintiff's attorneys as an expert witness involving premise liability litigation. Life began again for him during these years when he married his beloved Joan in 1988 and raised a young family, Garland, Catherine and Elizabeth. The family would like to express their deep appreciation for Letrese Yarbrough with Caring Hands and Houston Hospice for their compassion and support in Harry's final days.

A funeral service was conducted the 10th of November, in the Jasek Chapel of Geo. H. Lewis & Sons, where Houston Police Chaplain Monty Montgomery officiated, and military honors were rendered by the United States Marine Corps Honor Guard. Interment followed, via escorted cortege, to San Leon Cemetery in San Leon, Texas, where he was laid to rest beside his beloved son, Dwane Caldwell.

San Leon MUD Update

Weather and Travel

As we head into the cooler months and travel picks up for the holidays, it's important to have a plan for your water service if you're headed out of town. If there's a hard freeze like we experienced earlier this year, your pipes may burst and leave quite a mess for you to deal with when you come back! While the District can always shut the water off at the meter if you call us, most homes also have a shut off valve that you can operate yourself, typically in between the meter box and the home or up near where the water line comes into the home. If you're going to be away for more than three months, you can even arrange with our office to put your account on vacation and you won't be charged the minimum bill, but only be responsible for fire department fees and streetlight fees. If you have any questions about weatherproofing your home or the District's vacation policy, contact our office and we'd be happy to meet with you!

The District is pleased to return to in-person attendance for our monthly meetings, which are held at the main office at 443 24th Street. In the interest of public safety, we will not be holding townhalls until the COVID crisis has subsided.

The MUD meetings are open to the public & are typically held on the third Tuesday of every month at 6:30 PM. The District will not be meeting December due to the meeting date falling so close to Christmas. Future meeting agendas can be found three days before the meeting at the MUD office or online at www.slmud.org

Dates to Remember

- December 7 – Pearl Harbor Remembrance Day

Tell us who the people are in the picture, where they caught the fish, how much it weighed, when it was caught, what kind of fish it was, what kind of beer and bait the angler was using, and any other pertinent information you want to see printed in the paper. Ever since our crystal ball got lost in Hurricane Ike, we have no way of knowing these vital facts

Hospice + Care

Serving the San Leon and Surrounding Communities!

What is Home Health?

- If your physician sees a need for ongoing treatment after your visit, then an order may be written for home health.
- Your doctor may suggest an agency but remember, it's your choice! Choose CHARTER HEALTH!
- Services may include skilled nursing, therapy such as physical, occupational, and/or speech.
- The patient must be homebound. However, you may go to the barber, family event, church, etc.
- Most, if not all service is covered by Medicare or your insurance agency.

What is Hospice Care?

- It begins when a physician certifies that the patient qualifies and is appropriate.
- It is comfort care without curative intent; patient is no longer responding to curative treatment or has elected not to further pursue such treatments.
- All expenses related to the terminal diagnosis are covered by Medicare, Medicaid and most private insurance. This includes medication.
- Care is given wherever the patient calls home.
- Can a patient get better on hospice? YES!

- CHAP Accredited
- Trusted Local Nursing Staff
- 5 Star Rated on Social Media

DWANE CALDWELL MILITARY SCHOLARSHIP & CHARITY FOUNDATION: USMC/VET DAY CELEBRATION

A WORTHY CAUSE

My name is Martin Rivera with G.I.'s Friend Inc and I travel all across Texas hunting down each Veteran or Soldier I can find in VFWs, American Le- gions, and etc to show them my appreciation with gift bags that I make to tell them that I love them, support them, and appreciate them for their service to this great country. For just a quick background to where it all started, my friend and brother in Christ, Mike Saunders, founded this organization back in 2016 having a burden for veterans after his son, Joshua Saunders came back from Kuwait with PTSD. I began working with Mike for the past five years making gift bags for veterans and holding chili-dog/burger events at veteran homes till his recent passing due to Covid-19 in June 2021. Ever since his passing, the Lord led me to continue the mission to work with Veterans all across America. I now live and travel in a bus when I'm on the road going through every small town and major city across Texas hunting for veterans to hand a gift bag to and show my appreciation for them. We are a Non-Profit Veteran Organization and Ministry out of our church the Shady Acres Baptist Church in Houston, Tx. If you have any questions, you can reach me on my cell: (832)455-1321. If you would like to donate through our website, you can go to www.gisfriend.com.
