

SOUTHERN THANKSGIVING ETIQUETTE

Pass the WHAT? 'STUFFIN'? ... "Well Bless Your Heart!"

We have all been to the homes of family or friends, for a meal....but NEVER confuse that to the Superbowl of the South: The Annual Thanksgiving three-day meal prep and table setting event. This often includes random tailgating in the back yard by the men folk.

As a southern girl, I know all the recipes passed down from the matrons of our family and are still cherished with a heap of Southern Pride today. This leads to the Golden Rule, NEVER alter any of those recipes or ingredients. We don't Air Fry or Crock Pot, we Cook.

Thanksgiving is NOT the time to experiment with new ideas on a solid side dish. Just make what you said you were making and bring it, we don't care about the calories, or sodium! Bring it as it was meant to be made.

When you arrive - not too early, but NEVER late, you bring in your dish and set it down, don't expect a rose for making a dish, the hostess is the only star today!

Now, discreetly grab a wash rag and start cleaning the dust from those plates that have been sitting on the table for a few days now. Tell anyone who thinks the football game is more important than gathering chairs for the table, that they are wrong!

The hierarchy, of any Southern family is the seating chart..the head of household sits at the head of the table, and gets the best chairs. The adult children get the remaining chairs and kids can sit on chairs from Academy, or the ice chest from the back porch.

Grace is always said, and in our family we read from the Holy Book itself, so remove your damn hat and bow your head and give God the credit for all you have, and the food you are about to inhale.

After the host and hostess have gotten their food, the others may follow suit, from oldest down to the wee ones last. Manners matter, keep your political opinions to yourself, don't keep leaving the table to see the score. If you dare to pull a phone out, expect to be denied the Pecan Pie with that plop of cool whip on top for desert, just know there will be some savage head shaking as well, and maybe a few side-eyes.

Always compliment the cook for all the hard work and know the highlight of the event is always the Cornbread Dressing A proper dressing has to be prepped the night before, normally enough to fit in a truck bed. Make sure your guest from up north know it is "Cornbread Dressing" and not "Stuffing," or you may have to explain what "Bless your heart" means.

Remember when you are finished eating, you clean the table, and get those young ones helping too, it is never too early to bring over a spoon. Many hands make light work. Lastly, tell the cook how much you enjoyed it and then go take a nap.

Most of all, we hope you have a blessed Thanksgiving with family and friends!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

An actual phone conversation

Dear Editor,

So I have been dating a woman for a month and Thanksgiving is almost here, Should I bring my new woman to meet the family?

The Seabreeze News: What do you know about her?

Man: Well, she works in a bar.

The Seabreeze News: What kind of bar?

Man: Heck I don't know...

The Seabreeze News: Does she drink?

Man: Yes, she orders a crown and water with a tequila shot. Heck I guess working in a bar she has built up a tolerance for them because she will have 2 of those crowns and tequila shots to one of my beers.

The Seabreeze News: Does she do drugs?

Man: I don't think so.. I mean she calls Peter, her friend from Jamaica and she wants him to drop off her friend Erin, he shows up but I have never met Erin.

The Seabreeze News: Does she like to dance with you?

Man:She loves to dance! We just don't dance together. When a good song comes on the jukebox she will yell out "This is my Jam!" and man, there she goes, straight to the dance floor! Everyone in the bar will watch her dance! Shoot the women start cacklin amongst themselves. I am pretty sure they are watching to learn some new moves. The men all turn their barstools and start trying to pool their money together to buy her a crown with a tequila. There is no need for that, I work a few jobs and I make good money! I just like to watch her have fun and the guys do too.

The Seabreeze News: Does she ask you for money?

Man: Well about once a week she has a slow night at the bar, but the other days she is fine.

The Seabreeze News: One last question, are y'all having sex?

Man: That's kinda personal but no, she is saving that for marriage!

The Seabreeze News: Huggy, I believe you are dating a stripper that is using heroin and drinks like a fish!

Huggy do not take her to the family's Thanksgiving dinner! Your sister will beat her ass!

Honey, you should have just sent me the fish pic that I asked for.

True Words, from the Mind/Life of a Wildlife Rehabber

"One of the things rehabbers hear often is, "I don't know how you do it! I wouldn't be able to let them go."

The public (you amazing humans) only see a snippet of what we endure as rehabbers. There is blood, sweat, tears, ugly sobbing, laughing while sobbing, stomach churning events, we see things we can't un-see and we feel things we can't un-feel.

We get animals that are injured, sick, orphaned, broken, wounded, abused, scarred, fighting for their lives, clinging to life, losing their lives. We work with blood, urine, feces, vomit, eye infections, abscesses, lacerations, and other gore.

But in the midst of it all, something beautiful happens...

The dependent orphans learn to eat on their own. The broken leg heals and allows for bearing weight. The eye infection clears up and vision is restored. The wound scabs over. The wing heals. The pain fades.

Then one day, the very animals that we poured our heart, soul, time, money, and energy into are loaded up. The kennels are opened...in that moment, everything we've worked for, everything YOU have supported, comes to fruition.

The bird walks then flies off. The skunk feels fresh grass under his paws and waddles away. The owl spreads his beautiful wings and takes flight. The mama opossum cautiously takes that first step into her second chance. The raccoon climbs the tallest tree.

And... We walk away. We let go.

Yes, we cry. We worry.

None of it matters because they were never ours to begin with."

Original Author Rebecca Hamlin
of the North Texas Wildlife Center
Truer words are seldom heard.

Thank you for supporting local rehabilitators everywhere.

{REHABBER}

"...A rehabber can also refer to a professional wildlife rehabilitator, who provides medical care to injured, sick, or orphaned wildlife. Wildlife rehabilitators work to treat animals so they can return to their natural habitats. They provide medical care, nutritional support, and behavioral rehabilitation. Wildlife rehabilitators also educate the public about wildlife conservation and the importance of preserving natural habitats."

NOTE: If you have found a wild animal in need of help, you can refer to the Texas Parks and Wildlife website to find the rehabilitator closest to you:

San Leon MUD Update

Galveston County Mosquito Control

Galveston County has a fleet of vehicles that are deployed throughout the county to spray for mosquitos. If you have any questions regarding spraying schedule or want to request spraying in your area, you can call them at 800.842.5622 or visit their website to see maps of the locations they've recently sprayed as well as where they intend to spray next.

What is a sewer cleanout?

A sewer cleanout is a PVC pipe and cap, typically 4" in diameter, that intersects with the sewer line that runs from your home to the District's main lines. It provides an access point for plumbers to diagnose and repair backups in the line that connects to the District's main line. It should be kept closed to function properly, as being left open will result in rain water getting into the District's collection system and inundating the wastewater treatment plant with unnecessary flow. If you have any questions about the location of your cleanout or how to replace a damaged cap, just call the office!

Don is on a first name basis with most of the local fish...

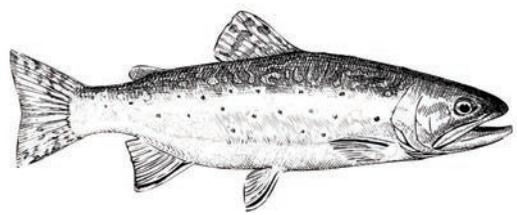

Not much to report about fishing except for the Harvest Moon, which allows fish to eat at night.

In other news: We have our own Mr. Rogers right here in Sunny San Leon. As a good friend for many years he gave lessons to my Great grandchildren. He has now stocked a lake in his backyard and asked if anyone would be interested in bringing their children [Boys and Girls] to fish in his pond.

It thrills Mr. Rogers to teach youngsters to learn about fishing. This is offered by appointment only, so be patient. Call Mr. Rogers at: 281-616-1408 | Children must be accompanied by an adult...also, it's free!

Consolidating and Informing the Galveston County Construction Industry.

Sponsored by ZERO/SIX and Galveston Economic Development Partnership

New this year, the Galveston Construction Consortium is a local effort to consolidate the construction industries to better bond and help each other.

The brainchild of Bill Coltzer of Zero/Six Consulting, and sponsored by the Galveston Economic Development Partnership and Zero/Six, this idea is meant to create a sense of comradery within our local industries and to strengthen and help us as a whole.

Most of us can still remember the immediate influx of "Contractors" who flooded the Galveston County area after Hurricane Ike and left a wake of shoddy work and people taken to the bank, now untrusting of future contractors.

If we bond and get to know each other in a business setting, we can grow as a community and learn from each other, keeping our industry well informed, educated and in touch with others and hopefully keeping the "Hurricane Chasers" at bay.

The Construction Consortium meets once monthly at a location chosen by a host. During this informal meeting, there are refreshments, drinks and opportunities to meet those in the same industry, not as a competitor, but as fellow workers trying to make a better road for all of us.

During this meeting, Bill Coltzer will give a very brief discussion on a topic important to the industry. The rest of the time is meant for meeting and networking.

These meetings are attended not only by Contractors, but anyone in the industry from architects, engineers, general contractors, home builders, subs, suppliers and anyone who participates in the construction industry, including insurance, banking, bookkeeping, etc.

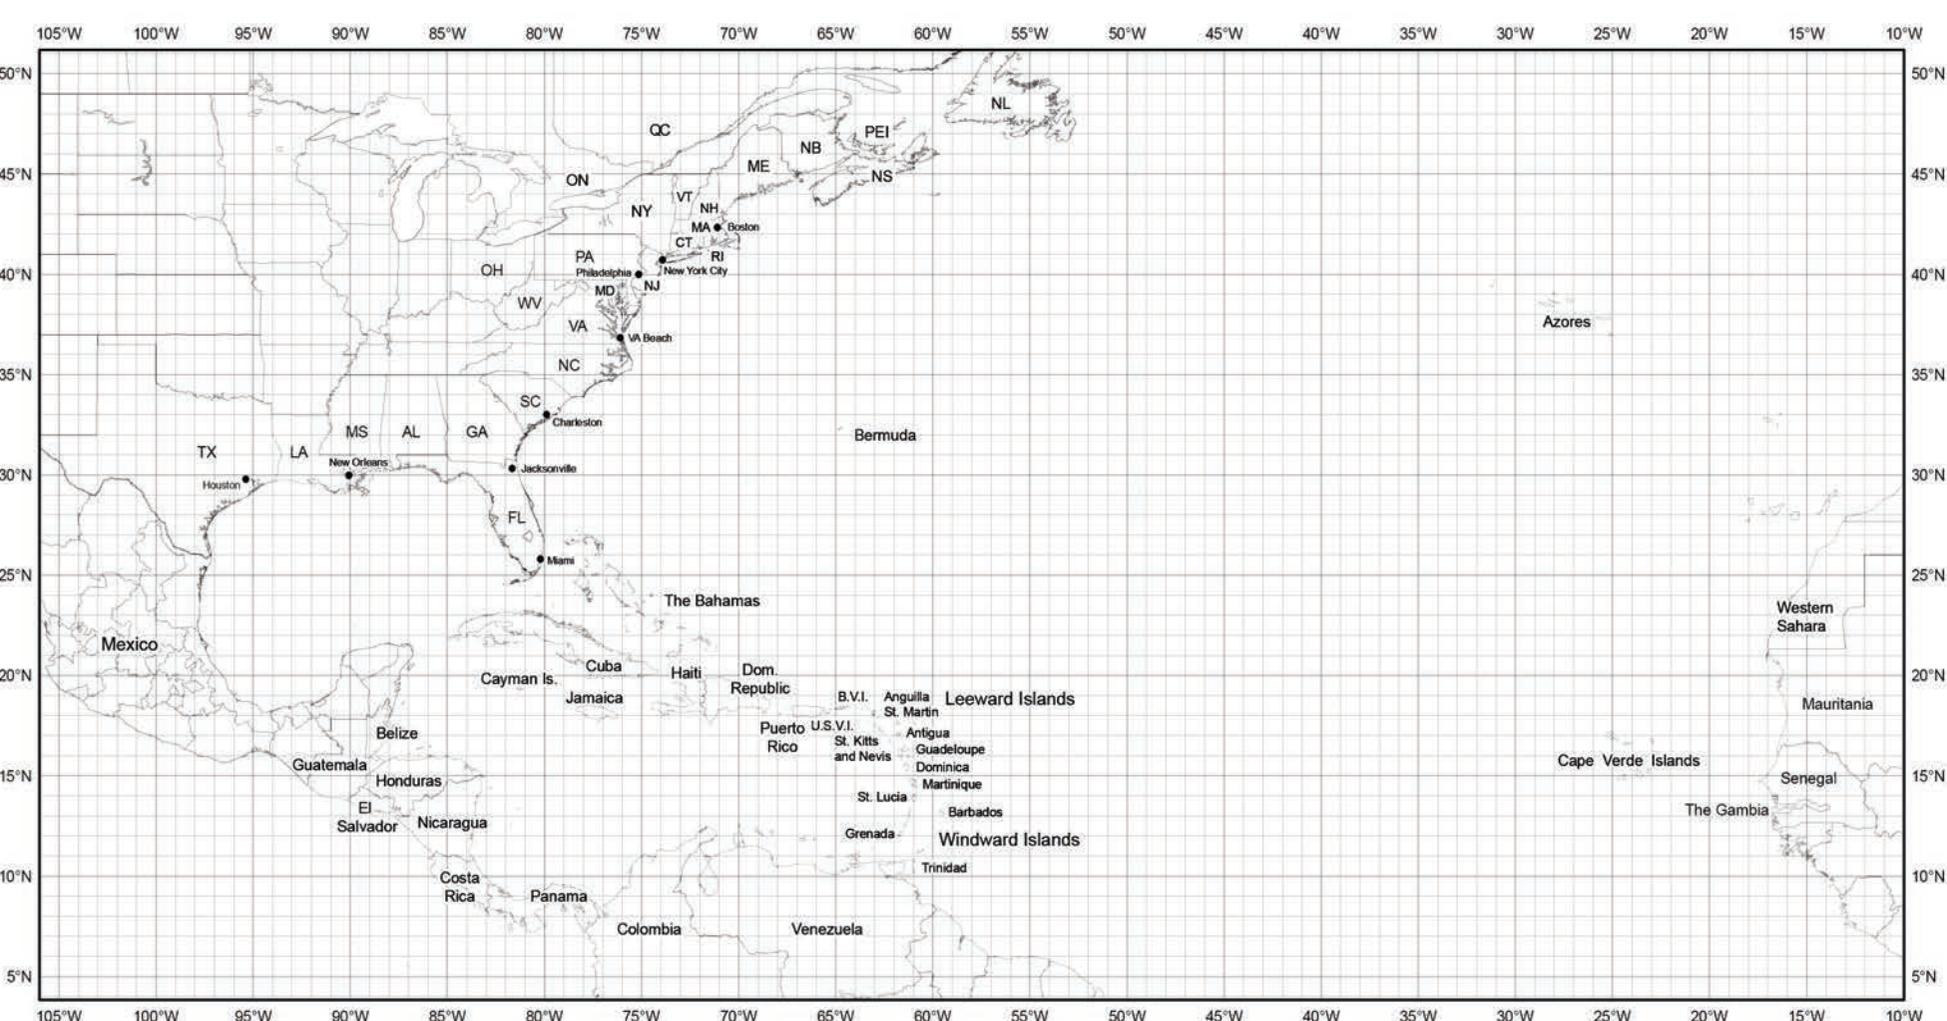

If you would like to attend, you can sign up to receive emails of the next meeting, there is no charge and the sponsor choses the location. Sponsorships are also available.

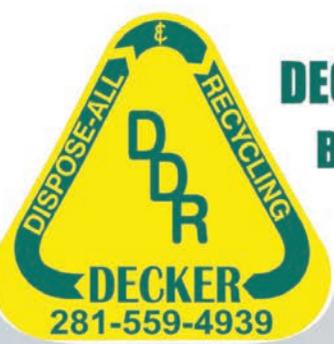

Email: info@gedp.org and ask for information on the Construction Consortium. You will be put on a list for invites to our monthly gatherings, then, just show up.

With Hurricane Season on us, lets pool our resources and get to know each other and protect our own coast from scammers. There are no charges or fees.

FUNNY BONES

A little boy asked his teacher if he could go to the bathroom, so she said yes. When he went to wipe his bum there was no toilet paper so he used his hands.

When he got back to class his teacher asked, 'What do you have in your hand.' The boy said, 'A little leprechaun and if I open my hand he'll get scared away.'

He was then sent to the principal's office and the principal asked him, 'What do you have in your hand.' So the little boy said, 'A little leprechaun and if I open my hands he'll get scared away.'

He was sent home and his mom asked him 'What do you have in your hand.' So the little boy said, 'A little leprechaun and if I open my hands he'll get scared away.'

He was sent to his room and his dad came in and asked, 'What do you have in your hand.' So again the little boy said, 'A little leprechaun and if I open my hands he get scared away.'

Then his Dad got really mad and yelled, 'Open your hands!' The little boy opened his hands and with tears in his eyes said, 'Look Dad you scared the crap out of him.'

(Warning: Risqué)

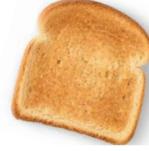

A very nervous young interviewee was asked to meet her interviewer at a local restaurant for breakfast, while they discussed her abilities to perform a particular job.

Upon ordering some eggs and toast, the anxious young woman requested that her toast be well done.

The waitress asks, "You want it burnt?" The interviewee replies, "Well, I like my toast like I like my men."

The waitress replies, "A little dark?" Embarrassed, the nervous applicant blurted out, "Well, I don't care about that. I just don't like it to go limp when I put it in my mouth."

She was hired on the spot!

My neighbor.... She's single. Shapely & beautiful and she lives right across the street.

I watched her as she got home from work this evening. I was surprised when she walked across the street, up my driveway and knocked on my door. I opened the door, she looked at me and said, "I just got home, and I have this strong urge to have a good time, get drunk, and have fun tonight. Are you doing anything?"

I quickly replied, "Nope, I'm free!"
"Great" she said. "Can you watch my dog?"

A pastor's wife was expecting a baby, so he stood before his congregation and asked for a pay raise.

After much discussion, they passed a rule that whenever the pastor's family expanded, so would his pay.

After 6 children, this started to get expensive and the congregation decided to hold another meeting to discuss the preacher's expanding salary.

A great deal of yelling and inner bickering ensued, as to how much the clergyman's additional children were costing the church, and how much more it could potentially cost.

After listening to them for about an hour, the pastor rose from his chair and spoke...

"Children are a gift from God, and we will take as many gifts as He gives us."

Silence fell on the congregation.

In the back pew, a little old lady struggled to stand, and finally said in her frail voice:

"Rain is also a gift from God, but when we get too much of it, we wear raincoats."

The entire congregation said: 'Amen.'

SAN LEON CEMETERY & COMMITTEE

Cheryl Annette Warren – Savoie

Born January 22nd, 1970 in Ector County, Odessa, Texas. Passed away October 4th, 2024 a Resident of San Leon, Texas space. Cheryl accepted a position and was employed by the Internal Revenue Service as an Agent-Auditor. She was also hugely significant and pivotal in the day-to-day management and success of the San Leon Beach Pub.

Cheryl was diagnosed and bravely walked the journey of ovarian cancer. During which she encouraged and inspired-all, everyone in her life and on her path along the way, including the medical team providers in her treatment and care.

Cheryl was a major partner and team member in the charitable efforts of The Beach-Keepers for the care and benefit of San Leon's community treasure, Mooner Beach.

Thou cancer cut her life here on earth, short, she left an impact and influence on everyone she encountered, whether it was for only just-a-moment in time, or a whole-life-long...

Cheryl-Annette's most important and cherished duties and positions in life were being a devoted and dutiful daughter, amazing wife, awesome Mom and Grammie, wonderful friend, kind neighbor, and all-around good citizen.

Preceded in death, by her dad, Carl Pool.

She is survived by her husband Michael Dean Savoie, mother and father, Carol and Don Peters, brother Curtis Pool, and niece Veronica Pool, her children: son Tyler Moss, daughter Eden and son-n-law Herbert Groessel, daughter Chloe Moss and son-n-law Andrew Clark, daughter Zana Moss, and grandchildren: Jayden Moss, Zackery Semple, Ezri Groessel, Riley Moss, Emma Clark, Zoe Clark, Zeva Moss and Zyah Moss.

Cheryl was always above board, conscientious, considerate, and thoughtful, regardless of the circumstance, situation, and / or person(s). She always lead with compassion, empathy, character, and integrity. She walked thru life without judgment or resentment. Often drawn, receptive, and truly accepting of differences, especially for the unattended, un-noticed and unseen.

She is also survived by her mother-n-law Rita Bailey, father-n-law Dean and wife Cheryl Savoie, sister-n-law Shari K. Savoie-Bowen and husband Steve Bowen, sister-n-law Michelle Savoie Allen, sister-n-law Christy Klenk and husband Wayne Klenk, and niece Bethany Emmite. And last but not least, her precious- Kittycat, Itty-Bit.

Thru-out her entire, brief, lifetime, she gave, sought, facilitated and provided, every-thing for the Love and betterment of others. Cheryl will be forever remembered and greatly missed. She left her mark on this world, and her heart with all who knew her.

After many years partnering and working as a Child Day Care provider, she set upon a new dream and ventured to attend and graduate college, later, in her adult-life, all the while still caring for and raising a large, young, family – to reach new goals, achieve a degree, and pursue a new, high-level career, in a corporate world

Family and Friends are invited to Honor her in a Celebration of Life, Saturday, November 2nd, 2024, 4-8pm, at the San Leon Beach Pub, as we share memories, photos, music and food.

An intimate ceremony of flowers and ashes will also be shared at Mooner Beach.

Parking is generously provided at Eagle Point Marina, and a golf cart shuttle will be available.

Words of Encouragement

Psalms 100:4-5 AMP

[4] Enter His gates with a song of thanksgiving And His courts with praise. Be thankful to Him, bless and praise His name. [5] For the Lord is good; His mercy and loving kindness are everlasting, His faithfulness [endures] to all generations.
