

Big Bubba's Rules

STUFF YOU'LL NEED TO PLAY

The board, Question & Answer(Q&A) Book, 50 Go Fish cards, 6 Game peeces, and 6 Bubba Bucks.

WHAT YOU'RE TRYIN TO DO

Me and my buddies went up to Montana to go elk huntin. On our way home we decided to see some of the country we ain't never seen before but like everthin else we do, it always turns into a race, so the first person to get home wins. Us Rednecks ain't much on rules so I'll keep it short.

HERE'S HOW TO START

1. If you catch someone cheatin, (like usin your smart phone!) shoot first and ask questions later, so pay attention.
2. Everybody picks out a game peece and puts it at the start line. Everybody gets a Bubba Buck. If you got more than 6 people playin or you got some in the crowd that ain't very Redneck, you will want to break into teams, but otherwise you play the same.
3. You put the Go Fish cards in their place on the board with the fish facin up.
4. The person with the least amount of hair (the reader) opens the Q&A Book and announces the category on the first page to everyone else without readin the question(s).

Keep your Bubba Bucks
close!

Remember...
Cheatin ain't
Redneck!

HERE'S HOW YOU BET

5. Everybody but the bald guy (the reader) decides if they think he will get it right or wrong. They place their Bubba Buck in front of them on the table. If you think he will get it right, put your Bubba Buck heads up. If you think he will get it wrong, put your Bubba Buck tails up. (You ain't gotta bet if you don't wanna.)
6. The bald guy then reads the question(s) and gives his anser(s).
7. If you want a time limit to anser, ya'll kinda decide what it is.
8. After the bald guy ansers, the page is turned and he gets to move the number of spots listed on the bottom of the page. (Ain't no penalty to the bald guy for anserin wrong.)
9. If the bald guy got the anser(s) completely right: those who bet for him get to move ahead one space, those who bet against him got to move back one space.
10. If the bald guy did not get the anser(s) completely right, the players bettin for him move back one space and the players betting against him more forward one space.

← Heads =
Right!

Tails =
Wrong!

HERE'S HOW YOU GO FISHIN

11. Some pages in the Q&A Book have a fish around the category. That means everybody makin a good bet and the bald guy, if he got the anser(s) completely right, picks up and reads the top Go Fish card. (Everybody plays the same card.) If they have done what's on the card, they get to move forward. You have to remember doin it. Just sayin "I'm sure I done that" won't get it.

HERE'S HOW YOU KEEP PLAYIN

12. The bald guy flips the page in the Q&A Book and gives it to the feller on his left...NO, make that the right since nothing good happens on the left. And you keep playin as I already done told ya.
13. If you miss a bunch of bets, and keep movin backwards, you could end up in Bad Beter's Jail. If you land in the slammer the only way to get out is to anser a question right when it's your turn.
14. That's all there is, but I just didn't want to end at 13, not that I'm superstitious or nuttin.

First one home wins!
