

Vintage Spirit User Guide and Readme: A short tipsheet for achieving terrific results

Vintage Spirit is a vintage style cheerleader uniform for Daz Studio Genesis 8 and 8.1 Female. Dforce is a requirement for using this asset. All items load with product default dForce physics presets, so you will be able to get a great render right out of the box with Vintage Spirit. Additionally there are style dForce presets which help you get a slightly different result.

In addition to the clothing set, Vintage Spirit includes a set of pom poms, an old fashioned megaphone and a full set of cheerleader poses as well as hand poses for the megaphone and poms. The poms are a strand based hair asset which fit to the hands. The megaphone can be loaded at world center, or in either the left or right hand of your character. There are six color presets for the sweater trim, megaphone and pom poms.

The skirt is adjustable for knee length or shorter, all the way up to a modern style short skirt. The socks are true mesh objects, not simply geometry shells. The shorts can double as short shorts (hotpants) and the tube top has morphs to adjust for various breast sizes. In fact, you can leave off the skirt and sweater and have a perfectly suitable sexy outfit for a college dance team! For a “sock hop” look from the fifties, leave off the sweater and saddle shoes to have your character in a vintage pleated skirt, bobby sox, and a tube top for dancing on the gym floor. The possibilities are many!

Getting Started

We recommend that you watch a short, silent demonstration video on our YouTube channel. In fact, watch it now, and then again after reading the next couple of paragraphs so that you have a firm idea of what is being said.

It's important to remember that as stated above, dForce is required for this asset. It is a set of objects which are designed to interact with each other during a simulation. After the simulation is complete, there are a number of corrective morphs for adjusting everything.

dForce presets

Important: hide the socks and shoes before running any simulation. Then simulate the socks separately with “Start Bones From Memorized Pose” turned OFF, and the other objects either hidden or frozen (including the shoes). Then unhide/unfreeze everything.

Every item in the clothing set (meaning NOT the props) with the exception of the saddle shoes has a dForce dynamic surface with a suitable default set of values baked in. This means that you won't have to make any adjustments for the outfit to work right out of the box. However, there are some presets to help you with getting a different look or for dealing with special needs like larger breasts, or for getting a different look to the skirt or the underpants. We recommend you experiment with these presets and morphs, however dealing with larger breasts with the cardigan sweater has some extra “secret sauce” which is explained below:

SUGGESTIONS FOR LARGE BREASTED CHARACTERS AND THE SWEATER

- 1) Once your character has been posed, you will want to go to the subfolder named “BREAST SIZE PRESETS”. Select the cardigan, then load the “POSE - Larger Breast Size - PRESIMULATION ONLY”. This preset shrinks the pectorals for the cardigan, so that when the simulation is run, you will not have a “baggy” look to those bones.
- 2) In the Parameters tab, adjust the top two morphs for the left and right breast sizes until the sweater is no longer inside the character's breasts. This seems like it is canceling out the first step, but remember that we are about to run a dForce simulation.
- 3) OPTIONAL – For poses in which the character has arms raised, you may want to use the “Open Left Full” and “Open Right Full” morphs dialed up around 25-30%. This serves to help the sweater during the simulation to get a natural hang and avoid any undue poke-through.
- 4) Now run your simulation.

POST SIMULATION CLEANUP FOR ANY CHARACTER

After running the simulation, you can fix any poke-through with specifically labeled morphs for each object. In reality it is only the skirt and the sweater which may require post-simulation attention. We recommend you deal with the skirt first if the underpants have poked through, and then deal with the sweater after that.

In some poses, and it is rare, the shoes may require to have a small amount of their “Poke Through Fix” morph dialed in if the socks have poked through them.

Once again, please watch this demonstration video on our YouTube channel.

Simply unzip into your Daz3D directory, either the program folder or your "My Library" folder.

To Use:

Select your Genesis 8 or Genesis 8.1 female character, then load the assets you want to use.

IRAY MATERIALS

This set is developed for Iray renders. UVs have been included.

RIGGING

No rigging, everything is accomplished via morphs and dForce.

TIPS

Always hide the shoes before a simulation. When simulating the socks, it's best to turn memorized bones OFF. Simulate the socks separately, in other words, and either hide or freeze everything else. The sock physics were included in order to make sure that they don't poke through the saddle shoes. They're good looking socks however. The dForce settings snug them up extremely well around the tips of the toes, so if you have a render in mind with just sock feet, these will work well.

When simulating the rest of the outfit, it should have NO problem simulating all together if you follow this easy process:

First find your pose. Then use the morphs for either the cardigan or the pullover which prevent interference with the skirt. Mainly these will be the 'flair' morphs. Once you have the waist clear of the skirt, run your simulation. You can include the tube top under the sweater, it won't interfere with your simulation. There is a morph called "Cleavage Poke Through Fix" which you can use to eliminate any clipping with the top edge of the tube top. Also, you can use any of the other morphs included to finalize the look and eliminate clipping.

To summarize:

Sim the socks every time, and do it separately from the rest of the outfit. Hide the shoes before hand.

Morph the rest of the outfit together (hide the shoes and socks or "freeze" them first) using the proper morphs to eliminate interference between the sweater and the skirt. Always sim the skirt, sweater and tube top TOGETHER.

Ownership Statement:
 Created and owned by Causam3D

 Terms of Use:

The Artist (Causam3D) retains copyright to the enclosed materials. The Buyer is not purchasing the contents, only the right to use the contents. The Buyer may not redistribute this archive file, in whole or in part. The Buyer may not store it any place on a network or on the Internet where it may be referenced by a third party. Buyer acquires the copyright to any derivative works created using this work, provided none of the original materials can be extracted from the derivative work by any means.

Buyer is hereby granted a non-exclusive, non-transferable license to use all of the contents of the encapsulating archive file. Buyer may use the materials in any personal projects or commercial projects, as long as the Artist's work is protected from extraction and none of the items above have been violated. Buyer may make a single backup copy of this archive file, for personal archival purposes only. Buyer retains this license, even if the Artist stops selling this work at a later date, or decides to charge a different price. The Artist may only revoke this license, if it is shown that a Buyer has previously violated the terms and conditions above.

Basically, you can't resell this. But you can, in general, sell artwork that you create with it
