ABOUT COMMUNITY RESTORATIVE PARTICIPATION ALLIANCE

- The Community Restorative Participation Alliance (“The Alliance”) (a 501-c3 non-profit) strives to transform, uplift, and restore communities through long term collaborations with the key stakeholders of communities that focus on key sustainable areas that drive the health of a community.
- These key stakeholders include community organizations, corporations, government entities, influencers, media and more importantly the people capital.
- The key areas of focus are community initiatives around education, workforce/ career training, housing, financial literacy, business development, and the arts.

Target Communities

We engage in urban and rural communities where we can make impact with community partners. Cities are challenged with the complexities of markets and industries while coexisting with under-served communities and their place in it. We believe we can be a bridge between the grass-root organization to the multinational corporation.
