Defining Your Practice Culture:

Becoming the Practice Your Patients Can't Wait to Visit

When the energy of the practice is driven by core values and a commitment to see those into fruition, it allows us to connect with each other and with our patients. So many times, we get caught up in filling the schedule, getting patients in and out on time, insurance, and all the other aspects of our business that we lose sight of what matters most.

Learn how defining your practice culture and building trust with your team and patients creates a successful practice.

Systems:

The Three P's of System Creation: Profits, Patients, and Performance

You've defined your practice culture, you have the right people in the right seats on the bus, and everyone is pumped full of positivity and optimism! Not having the proper systems in place to bring this full circle would be like never executing the treatment plan you worked so hard to create. Let's talk about what's working, what's not working, and implement the systems every practice needs to cultivate the fruits of your labor.

Tiffany, is by far the best I've ever had the pleasure of working with. She is very thorough and has such a positive attitude, which spreads to the entire team. - Phyllis Newell

Team Building:

Dental Constellations: Cultivating and Uniting a Team of Stars

It can be challenging at times to motivate a team of very different individuals to work towards a common goal. We are all stars in one way or another. We have to find what makes each one of us shine and then come together as a team to create a constellation that cultivates practice success and a stellar light show.
